

Ottawa Hopes China Issue Won't Enter U.S. Campaign

OTTAWA (CP)—Officials here have their fingers crossed hoping that diplomatic recognition of Communist China won't become a major issue in the United States presidential election campaign.

They say they fear if the Democrats and Republicans both hammer away at the theme that there will be no recognition while either is in office there will be little hope of improving the Far East situation for at least the next four years.

As it stands now, Canadian diplomats find that the U.S. state department won't even talk about recognition, even with representatives of Western friendly governments. It is felt here that this attitude will become even more solidified if the U.S. election campaign dwells on the matter to any extent.

Canadian officials foresee a fight in the United Nations General Assembly this fall over admission of Red China to the world body. Canada may be put on the spot.

SHOULD BE REPRESENTED

On the one hand, External Affairs Minister Pearson has said that if Far East problems are to be discussed in the U.N., Communist China should be represented. On the other hand, Canada doesn't want to antagonize the U.S. if it can possibly be avoided. It doesn't want Red China in the U.N.

Canadian recognition of Communist China has been pretty much a dead issue since last spring when the cabinet discussed it and decided to stick to the same policy—non-recognition for the time being.

Officials say that, in world affairs, recognition by Canada is relatively unimportant. What would be important would be recognition by the U.S.

Authorities indicate that what Canada hopes to do, if possible, is to time its recognition so that it would help the U.S. over this hurdle in other words, the U.S. some day might be willing to recognize Red China if some other of her friends took the plunge at the same time.

FAVORED RECOGNITION

Informants say that the majority opinion at the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference at London six weeks ago was in favor of recognition. Of course, Britain and India, for instance, already recognize Red China.

Which side Canada stood on, if either, is not known but Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons on his return:

"I recognize the force of the arguments about the importance to Asia of having its largest country fully participating in councils of the world. To that view, of course, we must give great weight and we shall."

He added: "But there are other considerations as well which must weigh in determining Canada's policy and course of action. I see no reason strong enough to justify changing our policy on this matter at this time."

PHEASANTS ON THEIR INITIAL FLIGHT

A deep interest in the extension of upland game life in the province as an additional attraction for provincial game and late fall tourists was shown yesterday by Premier A. W. Matheson and Hon. Dougald MacKinnon, Minister of Industry and Natural Resources when they took part in the release of 200 Ring Neck pheasants, at York Point. Pictured center Premier Matheson, right Hon. Mr. MacKinnon, left Walter M. Bears, Provincial President, P. E. Island Fish and Game Association.

Others taking part in the release were P. A. Murnaghan, Deputy Minister Industry and Natural Resources, T. M. Gillies, Frank Acorn, and Sidney Green.

are expected to report the tag number and location to the P. E. Island Fish and Game Association for statistical records.

Stresses Value Of Later Exhibition

Asked yesterday for further comment on his remarks at the opening of the Fair regarding the holding of another and later exhibition for Island products Premier Matheson said he was in favor of anything that would promote the welfare of horticultural products.

The Premier said "I have always wanted a later exhibition so that our fruits, flowers and vegetables might be seen at their best. This is not possible so early in the season." He added that all facilities for holding such an exhibition were available and he believed that it would be a good thing for all farmers. He also reiterated that there was certainly no objections on his part to holding harness racing at the same time.

Must Have More Accommodation For 57 Orphans

BOWMANVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Bertha (Mam) Whyte, foster mother to 57 homeless children was warned Tuesday that she will be prosecuted unless she provides more accommodation for her large flock.

Dr. Charlotte Horne, medical officer of health for Northumberland and Durham counties, said she will lay charges under the public health act.

She said Mrs. Whyte would have until Sept. 4 to find more room for the children.

Mrs. Whyte and her husband, Bert, started the home seven years ago. The children are accommodated in a converted farmhouse dormitory near this town, 10 miles east of Oshawa.

The children are orphans or children whose parents cannot afford to keep them.

Alcohol Is Seldom Main Cause Of That "Whisky Nose"

MONTREAL (CP)—Those who say a bulbous nose is the mark of a tippler are just sticking their noses into something they know nothing about.

It is unfair, says Dermatologist, Dr. B. Usher, to assume that anyone suffering from rhinophyma—a large, red, inflamed nose—gets that way from excessive drinking.

Such citizens are frequently complete abstainers, he says. They may suffer from rosacea—a chronic infection of the flush areas of the face which results in redness and pimple-like growths.

In an article in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, Dr. Usher and Dr. G. Young of the Montreal General Hospital dermatology department, says the condition may produce "the gross sebaceous over-activity and bulbous increase in the size of the nose." This is commonly known as the "whisky nose."

"Dietary indiscretions and emotional upsets may cause rosacea, but the original cause is the 'general vascular disturbance associated with gastritis.'"

Treatment includes prohibition of alcohol, coffee, tea, spices, cold drinks and fried foods. The condition is about as common in women as in men, but women get more worried about it, the doctors said.

Alcohol may be a minor factor in the ailment, but it is seldom the main cause, the doctors stressed.

Good Crops Are Expected In West This Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Better than average crop yields are expected on the Prairies this year unless there is an early frost, the bureau of statistics reported Wednesday.

Cool, wet weather in the Maritimes and Quebec meanwhile, was hampering hay operations while the general field crop outlook in Ontario had improved.

The report is based on telegraphic surveys received from bureau correspondents up to Tuesday night.

The bureau said harvesting has started in all three Prairie provinces, but will not be general for another week or 10 days apart from lodging and loss from hail, crop damage to date has been slight.

Frequent showers have interfered with haying but pastures generally are in excellent condition.

Warmer and more settled weather had returned to British Columbia following heavy showers and cooler temperatures.

Ont. Woman Is Bitten By Snake

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Helen Hay of Toronto, victim of a rattlesnake bite, was flown to hospital here Wednesday where she was reported in fair condition.

Nurses said she is not in great pain and her doctor said her life is not in danger.

Mrs. Hay was bitten—apparently by a Massasauga rattler, the only species found in this region—Sunday on a wharf at Honey Harbour, a nearby Georgian Bay resort. Friends said she mistook the rattler for a water snake, picked it up and was bitten on the hand. The snake was later killed, however, and found to bear a rattle on the end of its tail.
