

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

NOVEMBER 7, 1890.

Elections in the States.

THE people of the United States have rendered a verdict upon the McKinley Bill and other measures passed by the Republicans. Indefinite and conflicting as the returns are in respect to many States, there seems to be no room for doubt that the Democrats will control the next House of Representatives by a large majority.

Democratic papers claim a decisive victory. The New York Sun says:—

"The redemption of the House of Representatives is the national verdict upon the outrage and fraud which has been the main feature since Harrison came in."

The New York Herald says:—

"Democratic congressmen have been elected in all Republican strongholds by large majorities."

The New York World says:—

"The next House of Representatives will be Democratic by seventy (?) majority. In fact up to noon to-day the rout of the Republicans appears to be complete, although returns come in slowly. Major McKinley is defeated by 334, and in Indiana, Harrison's home, things have been simply revolutionized, the State sending 10 Democratic Congressmen and 2 Republicans, but it is in the eastern States where the surprises have come in. The old Republican state of Massachusetts elects a Democratic governor and victory is conceded all round to that party."

Making reasonable allowance for the enthusiasm of the journals, there seems to be no doubt that the Republicans have suffered a heavy fall. Unfortunately their obnoxious measures cannot be repealed so long as the Harrison Administration remains in office. Therefore it will be impossible to get rid of the McKinley Bill for several years to come. In the meantime it will be the duty and the interest of Canada to pursue the even tenor of her way, quietly developing her own resources and finding out new markets for her surplus products.

Notes and Comments.

A Chicago newspaper says: "We have legislated to extinguish Canada, and yet that cheeky country proposes, as usual, to have a Thanksgiving Day in November."

With much candor the St. Thomas Journal declares: "We are not of those who think that Canada must dance as Uncle Sam plays the tune, nor do we believe that the great body of the Liberal party have any such views." "Possibly not," remarks the Empire, "but the Grit leaders talk as if they do."

The subject of compulsory education is being discussed in New York. Although the situation there is complicated by an enormous immigration, yet many of the arguments used by Mr. Draper, superintendent of public instruction, are applicable here. When, he says, the public taxes itself to support free schools because they are indispensable, the public must do whatever is necessary to secure that result. Generally, he says, the whole subject is left to the mercy and caprice of local communities, and the result is "enormous waste and inefficiency." The statements here referred to were contained in an address delivered by Mr. Draper in Illinois, where a compulsory law exists; and, according to Harper's Weekly, the meeting at which he spoke passed a resolution declaring that the attendance of 1890 was better than that of 1889 by 16,000 pupils, that the attendance at private schools had increased by 6,000, and that the increase in the aggregate number of days of attendance for the year was 4,000,000.

The Concert of Last Evening.

It often happens that entertainments given on the evening of a holiday are not well attended. The cause is easily found in the fact that many persons are out of town and that many of those who remain in town does not care to tear themselves away from their own comfortable and happy firesides. We were, therefore, not surprised to find that the audience in attendance at the concert of last evening was not large. Those who were present evidently enjoyed the beautiful music rendered by Messrs. Lloyd and Hertz. Mr. Hertz labored under the double disadvantage of coming after Waller, and not having a grand piano. But his playing—on one of Messrs. Miller Bros. pianos—was so good that he soon had the ear of the house. Even while he rendered the best of his selections every one listened intently. A musician must be excellent who has power to stop the buzz of conversation usually kept up by unappreciative persons while instrumental music of the classic kind is being rendered in Charlotetown. The beautiful familiar airs of the plantation, as interpreted by Mr. Hertz, were heard with delight. One of the most popular numbers of the programme was the "Españole Mazurka," named after the Esplanade of Charlotetown and composed by Mr. Hertz himself, though the name on the programme was modestly printed "Harts." We congratulate Mr. Hertz upon the success which, from the musical point of view, he scored last evening.

Mr. Lloyd sang eight good songs, and sang all well. He has a fine, pure-toned, musical voice of wide range. But he is somewhat lacking in point of power. To his knowledge of this fact we attribute his selection of so many sentimental songs, with which a large proportion of his audience were not in sympathy. Indeed, a succession of seven love songs, however beautiful, must have more than satisfied even the most sentimental and love-lorn of audiences.

Recent Fires.

The alarm on Wednesday night last was for a fire in a stable belonging to the Treman estate and occupied by Messrs. Geo. Jury and S. Sanderson. The fire, which is supposed to be the work of an incendiary, was well under way when discovered. Mr. Sanderson's two horses and carriages were promptly removed from the burning building; but those belonging to Mr. Jury were not touched until the arrival of that gentleman on the scene, those present evidently being under the impression that all the horses in the stable had been taken out. Mr. Jury's horses certainly had a narrow escape. When that gentleman arrived he found the doors of his stable and coach-house locked, and it did not take him long to effect an entrance; and with the assistance of Chief-Engineer Large he soon succeeded in rescuing the horses. When these two went into the stable they found that the fire was raging all about the stalls in which the horses were, that the rugs covering the animals were burned, and that in one case the halter rope was burned off short and the horse was loose. The mane of one of the horses was also burned off close to the neck, and the ears of the other slightly scorched. Mr. Jury lost some harness, two buffalo robes and a quantity of hay and straw. The top was also burned off one of his buggies. The conduct of the person or persons who gave the firemen and citizens to understand that all the horses had been removed from the burning building when such was not the case, cannot be too severely condemned. The firemen did well to confine the fire to the building in which it originated. The wind was high during the fire, and at one time it was thought that the whole block would be swept away. But thanks to the efforts of the firemen, and a bountiful supply of water, such a dire calamity was averted. The stable destroyed was leased by Mr. Jasper Pickard, and from him it was rented by Messrs. Jury and Sanderson. There was no insurance on either the building or its contents. We trust that every effort will be made to ferret out the incendiary.

The dwelling house, two barns and other outbuildings of Mr. A. R. Beaton, at East Point, were destroyed by fire at noon on Wednesday last. The fire started among the hay in the loft of one of the barns. The wind was high at the time and the flames quickly spread to the other barn, outbuildings and dwelling house, all of which soon succumbed notwithstanding the efforts made to save them. Mr. Beaton had all of this season's crop stored in the barns, and it was all destroyed. The furniture in the dwelling house was saved in a damaged condition. The house and barns were insured in the Glasgow and London Insurance Company to the amount of $3,000.

Supreme Court.

Wednesday, Nov. 5. Taylor vs. Bruce.—The hearing of this case was concluded to-day, when the Court took time to consider.

Annie Hughes vs. James Farrel.—Action for breach of promise of marriage. Tried February Term, 1890. Verdict for plaintiff for $700. Mr. D. A. McKinnon, for plaintiff, shows cause against the rule for new trial. Mr. Hodgson, contra, in support.

Friday, Nov. 7. Annie Hughes vs. James Farrel.—The Court refuses the rule for new trial with costs.

In re application of John Bourke to set aside an award.—This was a reference to arbitrators to settle a dispute between Bourke and Donahoe regarding certain dealings in the egg trade. An award was made in favor of the latter. Mr. Hodgson now shows cause against the rule to set aside the award. Mr. Morson, contra, in support. The Court refuses the rule with costs.

George Bollum vs. Richard Keefe.—Tried October Term last. Plaintiff non-suited. Mr. Stewart now moves for rule nisi to set aside non-suit.

Weather Bulletin.

Toronto, Nov. 5—10 a. m. Easterly winds, partly cloudy, with a little lower temperature.

The American Law Review, in a recent article, pays a generous tribute to the general excellence of Canadian character and institutions, and especially to its "educated and disciplined Bar, which has not lost in the scramble of the tradesman, the dignity and honour of the legal profession."

A Bonanza for Springhill.

REV. W. C. WILSON SECURES GIFTS AGGREGATING $4,500 FOR HIS NEW CHURCH AND PARISH HOUSE.

Last Sunday morning at All Saints Church, Springhill, N. S., the Rector, who had been visiting the United States for the past few weeks, announced that he had returned with gifts amounting to $4,500 towards the building fund of the proposed church buildings in Springhill. Three thousand dollars of this was the gift of an Episcopalian, who although well known to the Rev. W. Chas. Wilson, wished the gift to be an anonymous one. The $3,000 is to be specifically used in the construction of a parish house, which will contain a Sunday school room, temperance hall, reading room, and large room wherein will be held sewing and cooking. The munificent gift will provide a useful and welcome adjunct to the ordinary work of the parish, and is the first of its kind in the diocese. One thousand one hundred dollars was given by American friends towards the fund for the new church; and about four hundred dollars for the proposed cottage hospital. The congregation received the welcome news with much pleasure, and a special meeting of the parishioners was called for to take place the following evening.

A Remarkable Offer.

For several years a Boston business house has made persons on farms, in towns and the suburbs of cities who keep poultry, few or many, remarkable offers of premiums payable in gold, some as high as fifty dollars to the first and not less than five dollars to any winner of a premium. The best thing about these annual offers, is that the firm making them is strictly reliable and the premiums have always been promptly paid as agreed in gold coin. Fifty dollar premiums do not "grow on every bush" as the old saying is, and we have no doubt to many who competed for them, the amount received came in handy to help pay the necessary bills of a hard winter, or if not, buy some luxury that the family absolutely needed, but otherwise could not afford. This same firm, I. S. Johnson & Co., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass., authorize us to state to our readers that they have prepared an offer of similar premiums this year as heretofore, with one very important improvement and that is, so that the first winner stands a fair chance of getting premiums amounting to one hundred and fifty dollars in gold. Why that is as good as fifty dollars per month for the three winter months. Its worth trying for any way.

Another valuable feature of the offers this year is that no one who competes need fail to get something out of the several offers; either in premiums or commissions. Johnson & Co., will send full particulars free to any person who sends them their address on a postal card. These premium offers are made in connection with the use of Sheridan's Condition Powder to make hens lay. That Powder has been manufactured and sold for over thirty years. I. S. Johnson & Co., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass., (the only makers of Sheridan's Condition Powder,) will send for 50 cents, two packs of Powder: for $1.00 five packs; for $1.20 a large 2 1/4 lb. can, post paid; six cans for $5, express prepaid. Six cans will pay a good dividend. I. S. Johnson & Co., will also send to anyone asking for a copy of the best poultry magazine published, free; The paper one year and a large can of Powder for $1.50.
