

UPEI SUN

AN INSERT FOR COLONEL GRAY HIGH

The following four pages of the SUN are a new idea conceived by Student Services and approved by the Student Union Executive. The subject material deals with the grads at UPEI from a particular high school. Extra copies of this week's paper are being distributed at the school in question.

CAN'T JUDGE A LIBRARY BY ITS COVER

The Circulation Desk

The Robertson Library is not only an excellent reference and study facility, it is also the social centre of the campus. In order for you, the student to use it to its full advantage, you must be aware of what it has to offer.

The reference materials include books, periodicals, bound periodicals, P.E.I. collection, and government documents. The special resource areas available to the students and public are the media centre (microfilm, microfiche, records, cassettes, filmstrips, films, and the necessary equipment) and the audio visual centre.

Carrels, group and individual study rooms plus classrooms, the computer room, the language lab, and lecture theatre comprise the study facilities available in the library. Students have access to additional equipment such as typewriters and copy machines. There are three lounges within the library that the students may use -- two smoking lounges within the library itself and one centrally located in the building. After a class, people have a chance to meet their friends, eat their lunch, or study. The facilities are for you; take advantage of them!

The Student Lounge

effort to meet other new students. She added that by joining clubs and talking to people in his class, a student can get more out of U.P.E.I. Nora has taken her own advice by getting involved in campus activities. She is Senior Class Vice-President and was Chairperson on the Orientation and Shinerama Committees, Assistant Editor of the Yearbook, Junior Class President and was on the Senate Search for a Dean of Arts Committee.

She feels that U.P.E.I. has a good learning atmosphere and is a good place to meet a wide variety of people. Nora's plans for the future include traveling in Europe for at least three months and entering law in the school year 1981-82.

After interviewing a cross section of the student population in an attempt to find the popular view of U.P.E.I. and pick up some helpful suggestions for students coming to university this year, we have discovered a strong positive opinion of U.P.E.I. held by the majority of students. We have arrived at the conclusion that no one has to leave Prince Edward Island to receive as good an education in undergraduate studies as most other Maritime universities can offer. U.P.E.I. has its negative points, as any other university has but it has many distinctive pluses which can only be found here. A University is only as good as the people who attend it and are proud of it. We hope this supplement to the Sun will be of some help to those of you about to make a decision about which university you should attend and what you can expect coming here.

An Involved Student

NORA MACADAM - SENIOR ARTS PSYCHOLOGY MAJOR

Nora came to U.P.E.I. as a result of family tradition. She found that during her Freshmen year, she tended to socialize mainly with her High School friends and feels this prevented her meeting new people. She suggests that freshmen should stay away from their old friends during Orientation Week in an
