LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS

EXCURSION FROM PICTOU.—There will be an excursion from Pictou in the St. Olaf on Friday next. The steamer will arrive in Charlottetown about one o'clock and remain until six.

GOOD GROWING WEATHER.—A Winnipeg despatch says: The weather the past few weeks has been favorable to growing crops and the grain is ripening rapidly. The harvest will be a week or two earlier than last year. All the crops promise more than an average yield.

ACCIDENTS AT SUMMERSIDE.—A little boy, eight years old, son of Mrs. Martin fell over one of the wharves on Friday and put one arm out of joint at the elbow. Dr McLellan set the injured limb.

Mr Kenneth Matheson, who works in the railway coal shed here, while coaling an engine on Thursday morning had the misfortune to let the coal trolley drop over into the tender of the engine. He was taken over with it and sustained injuries to his leg and side which laid him up for a few days.—Pioneer.

ASSAULT CASE.—The hearing of evidence in the Webster-Cummiskey assault case was continued on Saturday afternoon before Stipendiary Magistrate Palmer. Several witnesses were examined and the case was adjourned until Friday afternoon at two o'clock for the argument of counsel.

I. O. O. F.—Regular meeting of St. Lawrence Lodge to night at 8 o'clock. The degree team will practise at 8. 30, sharp. As this will be the last practice before attending Grand Lodge, every member of the team will please be present punctually at 8. 30.

LOTS OF DOCTORS.—There are four hundred and thirty-three physicians in Nova Scotia, according to the report of the provincial medical board, an increase of seventeen over last year. Ten died during the year. The board is agitating for interprovincial registration between all the provinces of the Dominion.

AN OLD COUPLE.—The Antigonish Casket says: There lives at Little Glace Bay, C. B., one Michael McNeil, aged 102, and the maiden of his heart, aged 112. They both look quite active, and it would appear they are good for some years yet. Born in the eighteenth century they will probably see the twentieth. Mr. McNeil walks a mile every morning to mass. In the spring he planted two bushels of potatoes and wheeled in a barrow all the manure needed in his potato field.

TALE OF THE SEA.—A bottle containing the following note was picked up on the Bay Shore, near Tracadie Harbor, some time ago:—

BANKS OF NEWFOUNDLAND,
March 29th, 1897.

"Our ship the Dodger parted her cable and is drifting hopelessly to destruction. We consign this bottle to the sea hoping that knowledge of our disaster may reach our breaved friends. God help us.

J. SIKES, Captain.
JOHNSON, (Swede) Mate.

The note is in possession of Daniel McDougall, Blooming Point.

CONSIDERED STRONG EVIDENCE.—The Boston Globe, referring to the recent arrest of Alfred Williams (or McWilliams) for the murder of the Italion Gallo, says: It has been found, it is alleged, that Williams had a vivid imagination, and was wont to exaggerate occurrences in which he was interested in a marked degree. He often lamented the fact that he was a farm hand and unable to earn a large salary and thus be able to extend acquaintance among women. The finding of $75 in bills and $20 in gold in the possession of Williams, and the fact that he was almost completely covered with blood when first met by Chief Vannah, coupled with conflicting stories of how he came into possession of the money, when it was shown that he was without a cent the day before Gallo's death, is considered very strong evidence. The search for the watch Williams claims to have lost when he was robbed is still being continued.

Prince Edward Island Illustrated is for sale at all the Bookstores. Price 25c.

NEWS NOTES

According to the record kept by a Chicago newspaper, there were eighty-one cases of lynching in the United States in the first six months of 1897.

Joaquin Miller writes that the road to the Klondike is not as bad as has been painted. Things seldom are as bad as travellers say, or as good. The gold at the journey's end may not be as plenty as some have said.

It is expected that a large number of lumbermen from Ottawa and district will meet with other Ontario lumbermen in Toronto on the 19th inst. to discuss the Dingley bill and consider what action should be taken by the Dominion Government in the direction of export duties.

At one time there was a good frog business carried on on the Rideau River, near Ottawa. They were disposed of at hotels and restaurants. Today frogs are nearly extinct. A gentleman who used to be engaged in this business remarked remarked that only one man was now engaged in the business.

E. A. Wells, of Alexandria, Egypt, has written to the Department of Trade and Commerce, drawing attention to the opening for Canadian trade there. The import trade of Egypt is, he says, largely on the increase, and will grow even more rapidly when Dongola and the Soudan are opened up. There is pretty strong competition from the continental countries in most lines, but there are openings for some classes of goods from this country.

The Frankfort Zeitung publishes an interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, representing him to have said: "It is absurd to suppose that the denunciation of the commercial treaties with Germany and Belgium means England's return to protectionism. If Germany is willing to confer corresponding privileges upon Canada, she can have a new treaty similar to the present one, though it would, of course, contain a clause under which the British colonies would not be bound by England's commercial treaties."
