THE LINEN CLOSET.
How to Keep it in Order in the Easiest Manner.

The linen closet, the New York Tribune thinks, should be most systematically kept. The shelves should be covered with white paper, and everything of a kind should be kept in piles. Pillowcases ought always to be folded in pairs with markings to correspond. When the things come up from the laundry, the sheets should be fresh lined underneath what is already in the closet. This insures everything being equally used and frequently counted, and nothing torn or worn should be put with the others, but everything that requires mending kept in a pile by itself.

The coat closet requires daily care. The coats should be brushed, the floor swept from the street dust that is constantly brought in, and India rubbers should always be wiped off before putting them in the closet. The medicine closet ought never to be touched by a maid except to scour it out occasionally under her mistress' supervision. This closet should be kept in order every lady's own responsibility. Everything should be labeled. It should invariably be kept locked, and its contents should be arranged with extreme neatness. It is very important in cases of accident or sudden sickness that everything should be systematically arranged, as time is often of the utmost importance.

In every medicine closet there should be a roll of old linen, of strong white calico, of flannel and of lint and some sticking plaster. The calico should be in strips to serve as bandages, and each roll should be fastened with a pin. A pair of scissors, some tape and a few large needles, already threaded, should be kept in a small box and never need for anything else than accidents. Emergency medicines are castor oil, sirup of ipecac, paregoric, turpentine, senna leaves, opium salts, carbonate of soda, a small bottle of laudanum, marked "poison," and a pint bottle of linseed oil and liniment. This last is for burns. Mustard, which is invaluable, is always presumed to be in the house.

The above list was given by a physician, but there are of course other medicines that might be added with advantage. But as this article only deals with the care of closets in general more specific enumeration is not necessary here.

Recent Novelties in Hats.
As the season advances the variety in hats becomes legion, and each new style is more fantastic than the preceding one. There is no limit to the probabilities of feathers and flowers, ribbons and lace.

AT DEATH'S DOOR.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

EXTREME DEBILITY AFTER THE GRIP.

Mr. Peter Lingley, Councillor, Peterborough, Queens Co., N. B., says:

"Oct. 21, 1892.—Last winter I had a very severe attack of influenza, which had the very feeble and reduced in flesh. I had no appetite, and was so nervous I could not sleep. I was under Doctor's treatment for months but received no benefit. My friends thought I had come to my end and I got so low that they were expecting my death at any day. As a last resort they decided to try HAWKER'S NERVE AND STOMACH TONIC, 3 bottles of which Rapidly Restored Me To Health.

I slept well, my appetite was restored and I soon became stronger, healthier and more vigorous than I had been for years. I cannot speak too highly of this medicine, as I feel that I owe My Life to its Virtues.

Mr. Isaac G. Stevens, Gate Keeper, I. C. R. Depot, St. John, N. B., says: I was with Mr. Lingley during his severe illness and was daily expecting to have to notify his relatives of his death.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers for 50 cts. per bottle. 3 bottles $1.25. Manufactured by the HAWKER MEDICINE CO., Limited, St. John, N. B.
