

Asks Where She Has Failed With Girl

Dear Mary Haworth: Looking back five years, my question is how should I have dealt with a 12-year-old stepdaughter? She is 17 now, hostile and distoyal to me.

Before I entered her life, Ann had been watched over by 10 or 12 babysitters. And she had been cook and housekeeper for her father and younger brother Joey, who is six years her junior—and 11 now.

INFLUENCES BROTHER

My stepson Joey has been in a church school since the first grade—due to my stubborn will to keep him in this particular school.

When I help with his lessons or read from the Bible, Ann contradicts my religious teachings. Also, she interjects a knowing look or word if I can't give Joey a dollar every time some playmate gets an allowance.

RESPECT ASSURANCE

Dear F. B.: What children respond to in adults is large-minded but positive strength of character, expressed in dynamic certitude in handling the young.

MARKS LEADER

In all aspects of mothering the household—in supervising Joey's education, determining his cash allowance, administering religious teaching, etc.—you should be a law unto yourself.

MORNING SMILE

An actress was being interviewed and her views and opinions were being discussed.

New Hat Styles Favor Pretty Shapes And Color

Summer is the time when hats are the very least of women's worries. It is the season when even the most fastidious of women give up hats altogether.

And in the shops there is nothing more melancholy than the word, "Bargains", attached to the hats that have ceased to attract and which, even at a reduced price, invite little more than a passing glance.

But this off-season is precisely the time when the Paris milliners are busy creating their winter models and presenting them to the Press and to foreign buyers, so that the trippers and travellers and bathers, when they come back to town in their sun-faded frocks, their hair tangled by the wind and uncurled by the sea water, will be greeted by the milliners with a straight-away find the means of beautifying themselves again.

Weeks-Brown Marriage Of Wide Interest Here

Of wide interest here was the marriage of Miss Eleanor Deane Brown, daughter of Mrs. R. Campbell Brown and the late Mr. Brown of the Town of Mount Royal, and William Alwyn Weeks, son of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. E. G. Weeks of the Town of Mount Royal, who were married at 3:30 o'clock Saturday, Sept. 17th, in Mount Royal United Church.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

To perk up draperies that are not ready for cleaning, take them down and let the air currents, in your automatic dryer, blow out the dust.

DAYTIME WEAR

For morning wear, autumn tones are favored—russet browns and moss greens; but for afternoon wear, the rich colors of the treasure of Golconda—sapphire, emerald, ruby and turquoise. And some of the tones recall the great painters—Berthe Morizot for her greens, Manet for his yellows, Kissling for his reds and Gauguin for his purples.

WED AT ZION CHURCH

Zion Presbyterian Church, Charlottetown, was the setting on August 26th, 1955, at 2 o'clock when Luella Suzanne, youngest daughter of Mrs. John A. MacLeod, Charlottetown, and the late Mr. MacLeod, became the bride of Edward Kuntz, London, Ontario.

Special Foods Add Spice

According to a national poll, no less than 38 million Americans would be happy to lose some excess weight. So here is good news for dieteers: There is an interesting assortment of low calorie foods on the market designed to help overweighters keep the calories on the safe and svelte side.

Salads are popular in diets, but since you can't eat a salad without dressing, the new low calorie salad dressings are made to order. There are French type dressings and Blue cheese dressings for 2 or 3 calories per teaspoon, and a whipped mayonnaise type dressing for 6 calories per teaspoon.

Low calorie beverages have proven length veil of bridal illusion and she carried a cascade of mauve gladioli.

Miss Betty Jay, R. N., maid of honor, was attired in a waltz-length gown of French blue crystal which was fashioned with princess lines and high Empire waistline. The bridesmaid, Miss Jessie Hutcherson, R. N., wore a waltz-length gown of shrimp crys-talite in a similar style.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Daniel MacLeod, wore a floor-length gown fashioned on princess lines with a high Empire waistline. The skirt of French bengaline was topped with Yonkilly lace and taffeta and the yoke of tulle was edged with pastel sequin trim.

The bride's headpiece, with matching trim, and they carried cascades of white carnations and stephanotis.

The best man was Mr. Fred MacLeod and the ushers were Messrs. Carl MacLeod and Lloyd MacLeod. A reception followed at the Charlottetown Hotel for seventy guests.

The bride's table was decorated with mixed flowers and was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake which was topped by a traditional wedding setting. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Blaikie.

The bride chose a grey and blue check wool suit and matching topcoat and navy accessories for her travelling costume. The couple honeymooned in the Maritimes. They will reside in London, Ontario. (Photo by Craswell)
