The Political Missionaries.

THEIR ARRIVAL AT SUMMERSIDE—A COOL RECEPTION—THE DRIVE OUT—ADMIRING THE LANDSCAPES AND THE CROPS—THE MEETING AND THE SPEECHES—AN UNFORTUNATE DAY FOR THE RAILWAY.

THURSDAY was dark, wet, cool and generally disagreeable. But when Messrs. Blake and Anglin reached the Province, the black clouds in the south and west were observed to break and dissipate, leaving a clear strip of sky and betokening on the morrow a finer day.

The reception of our missionaries was not a grand affair. We are informed that on the wharf there were, besides the crowd which ordinarily meets the steamer at the wharf, some nineteen Grits, headed by Mr James Yeo, M. P., and supported in the rear by the lively Secretary of the Summerside Branch of the Reform Association. The reception was indeed one of the flattest that can be imagined; and it showed, either that the Grit Party in this Province are reduced to extremities, or that the great regard they pretend for Mr. Blake, is of the lip rather than of the heart. The hon. gentlemen were, however, conducted to Mr. Campbell's new hotel, and (we presume,) comfortably lodged for the night. The mean reception was charitably ascribed to the weather.

THE DRIVE OUT.

On Friday forenoon, Messrs. Blake and Calhoun were accompanied by Hon. Mr. Laird, Mr. Calhoun, Mr. H. Lawson, Mr. Reuben Tuplin, Mr. William Brown, Mr. Housten, of the Toronto Globe, and some others, and about a half dozen carriages, around the fine country immediately surrounding Summerside. They drove through St. Eleanor's, and thence by way of Travellers' Rest to Mr. Laird's farm and residence at Wilmot Valley—thence back to Summerside. Though the crops had not recovered from the drenching they have lately received, they presented a fine appearance; and though the roads were muddy, our visitors are said to have been greatly pleased with their drive out.

THE LEVEE.

At two o'clock, Messrs. Blake and Anglin held a levee in the reception room of the hotel. Gentlemen of all shades of opinion (political and otherwise) attended. But the number, all tolled, was not large. Indeed there were, at that hour, not a very large number available. The excursion by rail (though stimulated by big advertisements and leaded articles in the Grit press—not to speak of the half fares) turned out to be

ALMOST A COMPLETE FAILURE.

On the western train from Tignish, there came, including Senator Howlan, Mr. Perry, M. P. P., Mr. Richards, M. P. P., and other politicians, just twenty-four passengers; and by the eastern train from Charlottetown, we are informed, there arrived only a very small number. But during the afternoon, many farmers in the immediate vicinity of the town, drove in in their carriages, so that when on Mr. McMillan's grounds at 3.15 o'clock, there were present a very respectable audience. The number present was variously estimated at from five to fifteen hundred—just according to the intensity of the estimator's partizanship. But if heads were counted it would probably be found that there were on the grounds when the meeting was largest, about seven hundred and fifty persons; and though we venture to say it who, perhaps, should not say it, Mr. Blake has seen, man for man, no more intelligent audience since he left West Durham. We are informed that about three-fifths of them were Liberal-Conservatives.

THE PREPARATIONS.

The grounds of Mr. McMillan are very suitable for such an occasion, and under the energetic superintendence of David Montgomery, Esq., the most was made of them. On the West side was a platform for the speakers, furnished with chairs for the speakers and their principal supporters, and with tables for the reporters. In front, and on each side, were ranged seats for the hearers. When all were ready, Mr. Calhoune read the following address:—

ADDRESS:

To the Honorable Edward Blake, M. P., Leader of the Party of Political Reform in the Dominion of Canada.

SIR,—A few years ago the Reform Party of Prince County, Prince Edward Island, had the pleasure of welcoming your honored predecessor, the Honorable Alexander Mackenzie. Mr. Mackenzie, by his accurate and varied knowledge of affairs, his mastery of the details of the public business, and his unbending integrity, won our admiration and confidence. We cordially acquiesce in the action of our party in choosing you as his successor; and we tender you a no less sincere and hearty welcome. We are glad you have chosen our shire-town as the place upon this Island to which you pay your first official visit. Our sister Maritime Provinces will present to you evidence of greater commercial advantages, but none can present to your view richer or more beautiful landscapes, or a more fertile soil. In this our Island home is more than a peer of any. Neither shall you find in any a more ardent devotion to those great principles of political freedom and reform which we represent, nor a heartier admiration of yourself as their brilliant and distinguished propagator and defender. Our past political history is, in its measure, like that of all Canada, a struggle for enlarged representation, a broader franchise, free land; in a word, for popular rights. Happily, great progress has been made; but the spirit which for long years resisted us still lives, and in our present relation to the Dominion, would fetter our freedom of trade and establish monopolies which give one class of people undue advantages over another. Beyond our valuable fishing interests, ours is an almost purely agricultural province, perhaps unfavorably situated for most manufacturing enterprises, and we are naturally jealous of any legislative interference with our freedom to trade where and with whom we please. Time was when we levied our own taxes and largely regulated our own trade and other affairs of state. A Liberal Reciprocity Treaty gave us a lucrative trade with the United States. Our burdens were light and we had a good degree of contentment and prosperity. We surrendered our comparative independence and joined the Confederacy in the full confidence that our burdens would not be unnecessarily increased, and that there would be no curtailment of our former privileges. The result has been that an oppressive and invidious Customs Tariff forces our trade into unnatural channels. Vast sums of the general revenue are expended in districts so far removed from us that no appreciable benefit inures to us. Assurances made at the last general election of an early return of Reciprocity have proved disappointing. The public debt is increasing at an alarming rate, and the affairs of Government are conducted with a degree of pomp and ceremony and consequent expense with which we have no sympathy. Instead of consolidation of empire in respect of fostering national feeling and sentiment, there is much to alienate us from a Dominion which, under favorable circumstances, it should be our pride to acknowledge and own allegiance. All your antecedents, Sir, assure us that with the spectre of power in your hands, a wiser and juster policy would prevail; and we shall hail such a time with unmixed satisfaction. We thank you for the patriotic and exceedingly able stand taken by you in the debate upon the Canada Pacific Railway Contract. Your loyal and eloquent advocacy of the true interests of your country on that occasion will, we venture to believe live in history as it certainly claims a high order of statesmanship. We again welcome you to our shores and trust that your Maritime Province tour may result in strongly entrenching you in the affections and steady support of members here of the great party of whose Leadership you are eminently worthy; and in your becoming so acquainted with our wants and aspirations that we may always look to you for sympathy and support.

Signed on behalf of the Reform Party of Prince County, Prince Edward Island by the committee to prepare this address

JAMES MUIRHEAD,
ALEX. LAIRD,

was introduced by the Chairman, Hon. A. Laird, and began speaking at about a quarter past three. He was in good form and tone. He spoke fluently, easily and well; and was attentively, but by no means, enthusiastically heard. He began by thanking them heartily for their "altogether too kind Address," and by deprecating what he termed the "extravagant laudation" of himself. He then referred to his pleasant drive about the country; and said he seen crops of which no country in the world need be ashamed. Then by an easy transition, he settled down to the business on hand. He asked himself the question whether the labors of the Legislature had not so far, unlike those of the farmer, rather retarded than promoted the prosperity of the country. True, the Liberal Party has from the first been constantly engaged in a struggle to reform abuses which their opponents constantly maintained. One result of their efforts is the constitutional government which we now enjoy. We have, veiled under the frame of a monarchy, institutions as free and democratic as those of the United States. But with the powers which the people now possess, they have become invested with corresponding responsibilities. Our duty is to make ourselves intelligently acquainted with public affairs. He had come to the Island to discuss public affairs, and to become acquainted with the interests and opinions of the people, so that he could in Parliament, rightly represent them. He regretted that Mr. Huntington, who is also on the same mission, was too ill to accompany him, but trusted he would be well enough to come to-night. He had arranged with Mr. Anglin to speak about the expenditures of the Government, while he confined his remarks principally to the regulations of the Government with respect to the tariff. He believed in freedom—freedom of thought, freedom of the person, freedom of property, and freedom to exchange that property. Any encroachment on the freedom of exchange is an evil. Encroachments, however, he admitted, there will always assuredly be, while the revenue required by the Government is raised by means of a levy upon imported articles. But he contended that a tariff of duties should be so framed that the burden of taxation would be, to the individuals who make up the nation, as nearly as possible proportionate to their ability to bear it. This is not, he said, the case with respect to the tariff formulated and enforced by the present Government. He elaborated this proposition at great length. He also contended that a tariff which protects the manufacturers necessarily injures the country at large—is, in fact, bad all round; and said the idea that the United States could be coerced by a retaliatory policy into granting us again the advantages of reciprocal free trade, was ridiculous. After he had, to his satisfaction, disposed of the tariff, he turned his attention to the Pacific Railway. He maintained that the middle or prairie section should have first been built,—the ends after the country becomes able to afford the outlay and furnish a traffic. Then he complimented Mr. Yeo on the fact that he is the sole representative sent by the Island Province to support the Opposition; and expressed the hope that at the next election Mr. Perry, and Mr. Sinclair, with other equally good supporters of the Liberal Pary, would also be selected by the people to go to the Parliament held at Ottawa. He called upon his friends in this Province to organize; and said that neither he nor Mr. Anglin had any greater interest in the politics of the country than their hearers. He spoke about two hours.

MR. ANGLIN, on coming forward, said he hoped the electors would, at the election of 1883, reverse their judgment of 1878. The result of the last election was certainly a great surprise; but there was nothing so greatly surprising about it as that the people of P. E. Island should have sent up to Ottawa no less than five Protectionists. But the explanation was simple. They had been deluded, etc., etc. Mr. Anglin contended at length that the present Government are more extravagant than their predecessors. He, also, spoke for about two hours; and when he finished, the audience was thinned to a large extent. Hon. Mr. Laird proposed three cheers for Messrs. Blake and Anglin, which were not all heartily responded to. The cheers afterwards proposed for the Queen were better; but those for the Liberal Party were feeble and disjointed.

LOSSES OF THE RAILWAY,

When the meeting broke up, it was nearly seven o'clock, and the people left for home as soon as possible. It had been arranged that if more than twenty persons applied for a passage a train should leave for Tignish; but twenty passengers did not apply, and the train did not go. A train, however, left for Charlottetown. There were, in all, eight passengers—three for Kensington, four for County Line, and one for Charlottetown. The latter was, on its arrival, the sole passenger in a train specially detailed to carry passengers from the great, widely advertised, immeasurably puffed, Grit demonstration in honor of Blake & Company; and he was—the writer.

THE RECEPTION IN CHARLOTTETOWN.

At the timely hour of one a special train, conveying Mr. and Mrs. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Anglin, Mr. and Mrs. Huntington, Mr. Davies, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Farquharson, Mr. H. Lawson, and other leading Grits, arrived. A good many on their way to dinner stopped to see the distinguished visitants. There were several carriages at the station, including Mr. Connolly's four in hand. There were a large number of ladies and quite a collection of Grit notabilities, including Senator Haythorne, Mr. T. W. Dodd, and Hon. James Warburton. Better than all, the Band was present. Altogether, it is gratifying to report, the Reception was worthy of our distinguished visitors, and in pleasing contrast with that of Summerside. After some delay, the party were mounted on a platform prepared for the occasion; and Mr. Dodd stepped forward and read the following

ADDRESS:

To the Honorable Edward Blake, M. P., Leader of the Liberal Party of Canada.

SIR,—On behalf of the Liberal and Reform Party of Queen's County, we beg to tender you a cordial and hearty welcome to the Metropolitan County of this Province.

Since your acceptance of the important position of Leader of the great Liberal and Reform Party of Canada, we have watched with pleasure and pride the noble struggle led by you in and out of Parliament on behalf of the rights of the people.

Half a century of agitation against the evils of a land monopoly in this Province has, we are proud to say, been successful in opening up the lands of our Province to the actual settler, and in removing from our midst the system of Landlord and Tenant with its attendant evils.

Emerging as we just are from the struggle, we cannot but look with dismay upon the Policy which hands over to a private Corporation, exempted for twenty years from taxation, so large a part of the best and most valuable of the lands of the North-West Territories. Be assured, Sir, that the stand taken by you and your colleagues in Parliament on that question will meet the cordial approval and deep sympathy of the Liberals of this Province.

We desire to congratulate you upon the efforts made by you and the Party you lead to promote in this, our Dominion, the principles of Free Trade, so far as they can be practically applied.

Owing to our insular position and the large extent to which our Province is dependent upon its agricultural and fishing industries, our people find that the present Protective Tariff bears upon them with peculiar harshness and injustice.

The Liberal Party of this Province look forward with hope and confidence to the day when the electors will have the opportunity afforded them of aiding in the return of a Party to power which will relieve them of the heavy and unfair proportion of taxation they have now to bear.

We beg to assure you, Sir, and your Honorable Colleagues, whom we are proud and happy to welcome with you, that you enjoy the confidence and respect and have won the admiration of the Liberal electors of this County; and in again repeating our cordial welcome, we desire to express our sincere hope that your visit to the 'dwellers by the sea" may not only be gratifying to you in a political sense, but may materially add to your health and strength, and enable you, when the proper time arrives, to lead your Party on to victory.

On behalf of the Reform Association of Queen's County.

Mr. Blake responded briefly, and was followed by Messrs. Huntington and Anglin. A procession was then formed, the Band leading, and the missionaries were conducted to their several destinations.

Music.

OUR correspondent M. S. Y. has taken exception to our remarks on the inappropriateness of well known secular airs being played in a Church. He asserts that such use of them is a matter of taste. Concerning taste there ought to be no dispute. The airs in question were certainly first-class, and from a musical point of view, far superior to the majority of hymn tunes. They may be all this, and still be out of place. Persons familiar with the tinsel and glare of the operatic scene, have emotions and visions aroused that are scarcely appropriate to a sacred edifice. When the fringes of colored light fall on the church aisle, when the silent worshippers are still seated, and the organ peals forth its bursts of emotional harmony, then it is peculiarly profane to introduce secular music.

We feel sure that we express the thoughts of all who have a sincere regard for the sanctity of sacred edifices, when we say: Let secular music retain its proud and elevating influence outside the sacred buildings.

Local and Other Items.

New Corsets just opened to day at Young's.

SIR LEONARD TILLEY and Sir Charles Tupper have gone to Ottawa.

HON. MR. MASSON was among the passengers on the Miramichi last evening.

THE correspondence of S. N. Earle, "Citizen" and "Justice" crowded out, will appear on Monday.

Two cases of drunkenness at the Stipendiary Magistrates Court to-day, were postponed until Monday, when a number of other postponed cases will be tried.

DONALD FARQUHARSON, ESQ., M. P. P., was among those who went to Summerside to assist at Mr. Blake's reception. We wonder whether these gentlemen, while in company, compared figures.

LATEST.—The wife of Sitting Bull has just arrived from the far West, and is now on exhibition at the Cigar and Tobacco Store, in P. G. Fraser's building, corner Queen and Richmond Streets, Ch'town.—2i

WHILE in this city, Mr. Blake wife and son, will be the guests of L. H. Davies, Esq., Mr. Huntington and wife, will be the guests of James Warburton, Esq., and Mr. Anglin and wife, the guests of Thomas W. Dodd, Esq., M. L. C.

MAUD S. TROTS THE THREE FASTES HEATS ON RECORD.—A Belmont Park, Penn. despatch of July 28th, says: Maud S., to day trotted three heats in 2.12, 2.13¾ and 2.12½—the fastest three consecutive heats ever trotted.

THE desertion of soldiers from the garrison at Halifax has become so frequent that the military authorities are taking most stringent means to bring to justice all who assist the men in deserting. Over forty men have been lost by desertion during the past eight months.

A PARIS despatch says the report that Marshal Bazaine is endeavoring to obtain permission from the French Government to return to France for a month to collect a legacy left him has aroused a perfect storm of indignation. It is improbable in the extreme that the ex-marshal's request will be acceded to.

FATALITIES.—A Dalhousie, N. B., despatch of the 27th says: A young married man named Day and a lad named Hunt were drowned in the lake at Balmoral, on Friday last, from a raft on which they were fishing. James Duncan, a young lad fourteen years old, son of James Duncan, was accidentally killed by being caught in a belt in Moffat's mill, Dalhousie, on Tuesday morning.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES FOR BEING PUT OFF A TRAIN.—Victor Langelier, a merchant of Ste. Cessaire, is suing the South-Eastern Railway for putting him off one of their trains, damages $500. It appears from his statement that the conductor gave him a Grand Trunk Railway instead of a South Eastern check and then refused to take it for the passage. The conductor, however, says that he put Langelier off for being drunk.

A PROBLEM.—A liberal reward will be given to any one who, within ten days from date, will send a correct solution to this office of the following problem:

"From the Blake procession (!) to-day deduct the women, babes and children, and give the remainder."

In order to help the arithmetician it may be stated that the difficulty will be in arriving at the first part of the conundrum—the number of adult males can be easily counted.

MR. ANGLIN disagrees with the correspondent of the Toronto Globe and the editor of the St. John Telegraph, on the cause of the lack of enthusiasm during the delivery of Mr. Blake's speeches. He attributes it to Mr. Blake's power of holding the people so enwrapt in the contemplation of his own feelings that they have no chance to give vent to their own. But the others, more honestly and truthfully we think, attribute it to a thick coat of sawdust on the floors of the halls wherein the meetings were held.

ENTHUSIASM AT THE DEPOT.—Immense crowd. Cars arrive. Entered by members of Reform Association and cabman. The audience held spell-bound. All eyes fixed on car door for first view of the "great statesman." Cabman in duster, silk hat and piccadilly collar, appears carrying luggage, (great and prolonged applause.) Mr. Blake steps out on the platform, Voice—hip! hip! hip!—Dread silence for several minutes, and Anglin follows—hur-r-r-r! Prominent member of reform association—seeing a cheer impossible—stop! stop! stop!

THE Chicago Driving Park races were brought to a close on the 26th. During the meeting Maud S. trotted the two fastest consecutive heats on record in 2.11½ and 2.11, and Little Brown Jug, the Chicago pacer paced the three fastest consecutive heats on record, in 2.12¼, 2.11½ 2.14½. Phil Thompson, a three year old colt beat the best three year old record, trotting a mile in 2.21, the record being 2.23½. The 2.21 race was virtually a match between the stallions Piedmont and Alexander, the only other starter being the Canadian mare Lucy. In first heat Piedmont carried Alexander to a break at the first turn, winning the heat easily in 2.18, with Lucy second. In the second heat Alexander was again trotted off his feet before reaching the quarter pole, and distanced, Piedmont jogging in three lengths ahead of Lucy in 2.19¾. Piedmont took the third and deciding heat in 2.19.

[Piedmont, is ten years old, was sired by Almont, sire of Hernando, the young stallion now in charge of John R. McNeill, Rialty,]

THE CAUSE CELEBRE.—The case of McLeod vs. the Queen for $50,000 damages before the Exchequer Court, Judge Henry presiding, was concluded here yesterday, and judgment reserved. The concluding speeches of Messrs. Davies and Hodgson, on the supplicant and crown respectively, were generally admitted to be very able efforts. The other cases—McInnis, Helliwell, Catherine Murphy, Catherine McDonald, and Theophilus Stewart vs. the Crown were also concluded, the evidence in McLeod's case being allowed in each. The Judge commended the legal gentlemen for the admirable manner in which the cases were conducted by them, and said it had materially assisted him in the discharge of his duties. Mr. J. C. Crosskill, the well known journalist, and proprietor of the Halifax Reporter, attending the sittings as official stenographer. His duties were arduous, but he accomplished them satisfactorily with his well known energy. Judge Henry, it is scarcely necessary to state, was all that a righteous Judge should be, and has left a most pleasing impression behind him, and a wish that he will visit us again in his judicial capacity is very generally felt. His Lordship and Secretary, G. Duval, Esq., left in the steamer this morning.
