

CCF Leader Argue Raps PC Government's Policies

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
 "Sometimes I wonder why people farm at all," said former CCF House of Commons leader Hazen Argue, to an audience of some 50 people at a public meeting in Summerside last evening, in criticising the Conservative Government for a situation which he said results in food surplus and increasing unemployment while a "pay off" of more than $30 million dollars in increased annual interest payments is being made to banks, mortgage, insurance, and loan companies as the result of the conversion of the war saving bonds.

In regard to the agricultural price support promised by the new Conservative Government, its economists apparently still "can't figure out what it costs to produce a bag of potatoes," he said, and described farming conditions in his own constituency of Assiniboine, Saskatchewan, where, he said, more money has been paid for storage of wheat than the value of the wheat so badly needed in a world where so many people do not have enough food.

PRODUCE FOR USE

"What is wrong with our society that we don't do something about it," he asked, stating that more than 100,000 Canadians than last year are unemployed, and suggested that more men and women are needed in Legislatures who believe it is as important to produce for use, as it is to produce for profit.

Mr. Argue criticized the Conservative Government for failure to keep its election promises after being returned with an overwhelming majority which, he said, could have legislated all the promises made in regard to improved old age pensions, extension of the hospitalization plan, increased federal grants to the provinces, availability of loans for expansion of small businesses, agricultural market and price support matters, and an adequate bill of rights.

Referring to the similarity of purpose of the two old parties he termed Liberal Leader Lester Pearson a professional diplomat who first gave all the reasons why something should be done, then avoided action on the matter by stating all the reasons why it should not be done.

He reviewed the activities of the CCF in the House of Commons, and by the provincial CCF government in Saskatchewan, and said that over the years the CCF has had its beneficial effect in building a better way of life for Canadian people.

He said there was very much more that could be done by the CCF, and hoped that electors would extend this opportunity to the party which he represented.

Mr. Argue, a CCF Member of Parliament for the past 13 years, was first elected in 1945, and at the age of 24, established a record of being, at that time, the youngest man ever to win a seat in the federal parliament.

In the last election he was the only Opposition member elected from the Prairie Provinces, and despite the Conservative landslide was able to increase his electoral majority.

Following the 1958 election his colleagues in the House of Commons elected him leader of the CCF parliamentary group.

Mr. Douglas MacFarlane of Bedouque, CCF provincial president was chairman of the Summerside public meeting last evening, and Mr. Argue was introduced by CCF provincial secretary, Mrs. Muriel MacInnis of Borden, following a review of Mr. Argue's political career by Rev. J.W. Howe of Carleton Place.

Prior to the public meeting Mr. Argue was guest of honor at a dinner with the CCF provincial executive at the Clifton Hotel.

Potatoes Being Prepared For Big Shipment To Venezuela

SUMMERSIDE — The newly renovated warehouse of MacFarlane Produce Ltd., here is piled high with some 30,000 bushels of potatoes, a portion of which is destined for Venezuela.

An agreement recently completed between the Island and the South American country calls for a total of some 65,000 bushels of Island spuds to be shipped there by a number of Island dealers.

A ship is due in Summerside about October 22nd for part of the shipment and the rest will be loaded at Charlottetown.

The MacFarlane Produce Ltd., employs as many as 130 local people in harvesting their own potato crop and in grading and packaging work.

The potatoes are graded and packed into wooden crates, each weighing 110 pounds when filled. Newly designed shipping containers are said to provide good protection to the tubers in shipment and on long distance shipments permit ventilation.

4th Dist Queens Liberals Meet

Twenty four years continuous service as secretary of the district association was noted as Mr. Milton Furness of Vernon was re-elected to the same position at the annual meeting of the fourth district of Queens Liberals held at Eldon Hall Wednesday evening.

President of the Association named in the election of officers is Joseph Edmonds; vice-president, Lloyd Furness; provincial representative, Kenneth MacRae; Queens County representatives Hector MacLeod and Simon Stewart.

Premier A.W. Matheson was the main speaker at the well attended meeting. He reviewed the progress of his government and at the same time outlined some of the road development program which is expected to be intensified during the next few years.

The Premier pledged his efforts on behalf of the Province and predicted that the economy of the Island would continue to improve with the implementation of future government policies.

Other speakers were Hon. Douglas MacKinnon and Harold Smith, M.L.A. representative of the district; Hon. B. Earle MacDonald, Mr. E.D. Reid.

7th. Roll call was answered with a suggestion for a program for the coming year. An interesting program of songs and quizzes was led by Gerald Daley.

DIES IN MASS.—The sad news has been received by Mrs. Aurin Rogers, Freetown, of the death of Mrs. Ernest Ready at Dorchester, Mass., on August 22. Mrs. Ready was the former Laura Power of Long River, and had spent four weeks visiting friends on the Island during the past summer. Soon after she returned to her home she contracted pneumonia, but had recovered from that illness when her death occurred suddenly as a result of heart failure. She is survived by an adopted daughter, Frances, now married. Her husband, Mr. Ernest Ready formerly of Tig. P.E.I. passed away earlier this year. A sister Lydie, Mrs. O'Brien also died in June, 1958.

ALPHA MEETING — The H-Y ritual followed by worship led by Wineman Smith opened the Alpha H-Y meeting on October 8th at the Summerside Y Centre.

It was decided that the club would help pay the transportation costs to the conference at St. John. The duties were apportioned to the members to be carried out on Saturday next at the weekly dance. Following the business session Mike Arnold introduced Charles Ballew who spoke on H-Y and what it means to us. The speaker was thanked by Don Sheen. Two new members Wayne Newson and Jimmy Johnson were introduced to the club.

Eight Witnesses Are Heard In Preliminary Hearing

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
 Eight witnesses were heard yesterday as the preliminary hearing of three men charged with robbery with violence began in Magistrate's Court here.

The three James Kelly of Borden, Gerald Vincent Gracie and James Alexander Jackman, both of Glace Bay, N.S., have elected trial by judge and jury in the Supreme Court.

Following evidence given by the witnesses the case was adjourned to 11 a.m. this morning.

The trio is charged with the robbery with violence of Theodore Perry, proprietor of a Water Street lunch counter, who on the night of September 27th was attacked and robbed of $117.

TAKES STAND
 Mr. Perry took the stand this morning and told the court that on the night of Sept. 27, at about 7:45 p.m., three chaps came into his place of business and ordered three cups of coffee. They later got a hamburger each, he said, and paid for their order, along with a package of cigarettes with a $5 bill. He stated the three men were noisy and appeared to be under the influence of liquor.

Mr. Perry stated that Gracie and Kelly he didn't know their names at the time but positively identified them in court) got up from the counter and went out near the front of the shop where they engaged in a whispered conversation. He said Kelly came back and sat down, but Gracie went to the front door and "I kicked the night latch click."

KICKED AND PUNCHED
 The witness said Gracie then came behind the counter where he (Perry) was and kicked me in the stomach. While he was stooped from the punch in the stomach, the two men outside the counter punched him on the back of the neck, he stated by leaning over the counter. "I yelled for help but when I yelled Gracie hit me in the face with what I think was his fist."

He stated that each time he shouted, Gracie hit him one or more times. Mr. Perry said when I finally couldn't put up any more resistance, one of them outside the counter reached in my hip pocket and pulled out my purse. As soon as they got the purse they made a dive for the door" and, he added, they dashed out to the street.

Mr. Perry ran to the door and shouted for help just as he saw the trio heading into an alley between Smallman's and the Fur-breeders Building. Mr. Perry said there was a car parked nearby and the occupants, who were James Razavey and Walter Burns heard his cries and soon went to notify the police.

Mr. Perry said he had $117 in his purse, knowing the amount because he had counted it at supper time.

He identified the three men in court as his attackers and said he was "positively certain" they are the men who committed the offence.

Other witnesses heard were Sgt. Arthur Bishop of the Charlottetown Police Force; Deputy Chief Sterns Webster of the Charlottetown force; Constables Elmer Matheson, Ralph Hardy and Harry MacKay, Summerside Police officers; James Razavey and Walter Burns, who were in the car parked near the snack bar, and Clifford Smith, a Summerside taxi driver.
