

Heighdy, Hidey, Ho!!

Welcome to another wonderful morsel or two of news from your favourite UPEI campus radio station: CIMN! This week, the news centers around two favourite topics-- pubs and government. To explain...

To start your February Spring Break off with a bang, CIMN proudly presents another in our series of AMAZING concerts!! This one features Strawberry, Supercar, and the Thrush Hermits back on the Island for a return date. When, you ask? Saturday, February 18th at 7:30 p.m. at The Barn. The cost of joining in to the festivities is $5. If, however, you have become one of those gloriously audio-creative people we like to call "CIMN Volunteers", you can get in for $4. Come along and bring your friends. And your cousins. And their friends. And...you get the idea, I'm sure.

UPDATE: CIMN has, for the past year, been involved in the process of applying for an FM broadcast license. Station Manager Rory O'Connor received notice this week that the CRTC (Canadian Radio and Telecommunications Commission) has granted a hearing for the application. This hearing will take place in Halifax early in April. At this hearing, CIMN will explain why and how it can undertake to provide radio service to UPEI and the Charlottetown Area. This is a very important step in the process of getting the FM license.

That's about it for this week. Remember to tune in Fridays at noon when Music Director Darren MacPherson brings you the CIMN Top Twenty.

Get away from it all

Jobs in Journalism

are opening up in Canada and abroad
A journalism degree from the University of King's College, Halifax is the ticket you need. If you already have a degree in arts or science, or perhaps insomething else, you can get a journalism degree from King's in one year-- two terms-- including a three-week crash course and a four-week placement. If you're in first, second or third year arts or science now, you might be able to transfer into our honours program. We offer the most practical programs in Canada. We teach you how to do journalism, not just to talk about it. We run a weekly city newspaper, a TV show, radio shows, a magazine, an on-line news digest (available anywhere in the world by 9 am daily) and a weekly hypertext magazine available everywhere on the Internet. We teach you how to report and write for print and broadcast. Space is limited. We take 35-40 first year students in the honours program and 35-40 for the one-year degree. Apply by March 1.

School of Nursing host Health Fair

The University of Prince Edward Island School of Nursing will hold the second annual UPEI Health Fair at the UPEI Sports Centre on February 15 from 12:30 pm to 3:00 pm and February 16 from 9:00 am to 1:00 pm. The theme of this year's fair is "On the Road to Health" and is geared toward the university community.

The fair is being sponsored by the UPEI School of Nursing in collaboration with faculty, staff and students from Home Economics, Student Services, the Sports Centre and the Women's Centre. Representatives from various community organizations, including the Canadian Cancer Society and the Active living Alliance, will also be on hand to promote healthy living. The fair will include booths set up with information on fitness, nutrition, sexually transmitted diseases, drugs and alcohol, spirituality, and women's issues. Various door prizes donated by Island businesses will be awarded.

Last year, 175 people attended the event and this year, organizers expect an even bigger turnout. The Health Fair is being organized to raise awareness and promote healthy living. "The Health Fair will encourage people to live a good, healthy life, spiritually, emotionally and physically," says Rachel Matheson, who co-chairs the organizing committee of the Health Fair with Jane McNally. Not only do they hope to educate the UPEI community, but they also hope to have a lot of fun.
