N. Y. Suburbanites Are Just As Easy Marks As Visitors

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FORET HILLS, N.Y. (CP)—Gullible? The suburbs are full of rubes.

The fast-buck artists are finding it's easier to fleece suburbanites than the Broadway tourist who carries his money in his shoe.

And springtime, when the milk of human kindness flows like sap from the maple, is harvest-time for the boys who make their living without work.

"Before you invest — investigate," says the Better Business Bureau of Long Island in a plea to too-trusting householders and apartment dwellers.

RIGHT MOOD

The warning hits a responsive note in this once-exclusive Long Island community, where hundreds of towering apartment buildings shelter middle-income folk who work in Manhattan.

Each evening subway exits erupt with many thousands of hurrying human beings, sighing with relief at escaping to a comparatively peaceful haven. In this mood they are ripe for the plucking.

The swindle sometimes takes ghoulish—and not necessarily new—forms. The operator scans obituary notices, then sends around expensive merchandise to the bereaved family, saying it has been ordered by the departed. Seldom is he refused.

Or perhaps the operator will send a chatty letter to his "friend," the deceased, going something like this: "Dear John, how are you. Things are not going so well with me and I wonder if you could pay me back the $25 you borrowed."

The Long Island Daily Press, in an article headlined Rackets That Bloom in the Spring, spoke in this vein about gyp artists:

Got a tree with broken limb? Beware the quack tree surgeon who'll put it in a splint . . . along with your wallet.

COSTLY SERVICES

Got a lawn to be loamed? Watch out for the humus pedlar who's here today with a truckload of muck, and gone tomorrow with your buck.

Got termites in the rafters? Steer clear of the bogus travelling exterminator. To look at his bill you'd think he sprayed with Chanel No. 5.

Then there is the salesman with gallons of "lifetime" plastic paint that keeps out the rain—in drought periods.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

QUIZ

You are the dealer, neither side vulnerable, and have opened One Heart. Your partner has responded Two Clubs. What do you now bid with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠A72 ♥AQJ93 ♦6 ♣AJ84
2. ♠AQ4 ♥KQ987 ♦K5 ♣A62
3. ♠AJ4 ♥AK73 ♦QJ42 ♣65
4. ♠A ♥Q8643 ♦AJ75 ♣AQ9

1. Four clubs. There can be no doubt at this point that there is a game, the only question being the best method to smooth the way toward a possible slam. Partner's affirmative two club response may be based in as little as 10 points, but he may, of course also have considerably more.

Although there are the values for a five club bid directly, which is a slam try, this course is not recommended because it has the effect of cramping bidding space. Partner should be left room to investigate small and grand slam possibilities.

Thus, the four club bid permits partner to bid four diamonds, in which case we can bid four spades to identify both the ace and the diamond shortage. This sequence also allows room for a four notrump call for aces.

2. Three notrump. With 18 points facing partner's presumable 10 the notrump game should be undertaken at once. The jump to three notrump stipulates a balanced hand of 18 or more points, with all unbid suits stopped.

The diamond king, even though it is only part of a doubleton, is treated as a stopper because if the suit is opened the king is sure to take a trick.

A rebid of two notrump over two clubs would show a lesser hand, one containing 16 or 17 high card points.

3. Two diamonds. As just stated, there are not the values for a rebid of two notrump, the hand being one or two points short of the required strength. With no club honor to help promote partner's long suit, and only 15 high card points, which is little more than a minimum, the notrump rebid should be avoided.

The two diamond response does not identify to partner any particular amount of strength. It is an ambiguous rebid which may be based on a minimum opening or one with an ace or more above a minimum.

4. Two diamonds. Here the suit in which the hand will play best is in considerable doubt, as well as the level of the final contract.

By bidding diamonds now, and supporting clubs vigorously later, the excess over a minimum opening bid will be pictured to partner. The singleton spade will be identified at the same time and may prove to be the key to a slam contract.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
