

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

MAY 30, 1895. THE BUDGET DEBATE.

THE BUDGET DEBATE. THAT the Budget speech of this year was one of the ablest ever delivered in the Parliament of Canada is admitted by everyone who heard it; and that the wind was completely taken out of the sails of Sir Richard Cartwright was proved by the fact that he experienced a redoubtable debater was compelled to ask for an adjournment in order that he might have time to collect his ideas. From the opening of the debate was distinctly in favor of the Government and against the Opposition. Sir Richard Cartwright made the assertion that $100,000,000 imposed a tax on the manufacturers; and everyone at once began to ask, where are the millionaires? The statement was subsequently contradicted by the honorable gentleman's supporters, many of whom were able to prove to their own satisfaction that the manufacturers had been overwhelmed by disaster and ruin. Apart from this, the cheapness of everything is a marvel to every thinking person. The question has been, how can our manufacturers make such things for so little money, and live? So manifestly absurd were many of the declarations of the Opposition speakers that it was not worth while to answer them; and the Budget debate was, consequently, for the most part, "flat, stale and unprofitable." Among the few really good speeches delivered was that of Mr. A. C. Macdonald, which has been published in full by the Herald and the Watchman, and which we regret we have, so far, been unable to insert. Mr. Davies made a desperate effort at the last to infuse some life into the Opposition's attack upon the National Policy. But if we may judge by the report telegraphed to the Opposition papers, his speech was self-contradictory and, therefore, rather a serious consideration. The fact that there was a Government majority of forty-six at the close, speaks volumes for the leadership and management of Mr. Foster and for the hold which the National Policy has upon the country. Mr. Dalton McCarthy, it appears, found it convenient not to be present when the division was taken. Colonel O'Brien voted with the Government rather than be known as a supporter of the policy of taking away every vestige of protection and encouragement from the Home Industries of Canada. The recalcitrant members and the independent members dared not oppose the Government on a question in which the National Policy is involved. The inference is that they know that the country, having proved the National Policy to be good, will hold fast to it.

A DISPIRITED OPPOSITION. AFTER all the flourish of trumpets, there never was a session of Parliament in which the Opposition were duller or flatter in speech or spirits than the present. They have felt the pulse of the nation at the capital, and find it beating as truly and as strongly Conservative as ever. They are, therefore, "down in the lip." Having failed to divert the commonwealth from the true party issues by creed and race questions or empty and deceptive catch cries, they are now reported as looking up a new trade policy, which in due time will be hurriedly and irreverently buried in the big and yawning pit into which seek so ignominiously Commercial Union, Unrestricted Reciprocity and Free Trade, and over which just now they are engaged in the obscenity of "Tariff for revenue only." It is creditable to the head and heart of the Canadian nationality that despite every vile and device, her friends have always discerned their true friends in the great Conservative party which has thus far provided everything necessary for the development and happiness of the country. True Canadians believe today as firmly as ever that the welfare of this great country is bound up in Conservative principles. They may admire Laurier's graceful speech, Cartwright's satire, Mills' logic and Davies' stately declamation. But after being amused for the moment, they heartily vote for the National Party.

WHAT IT LEADS TO. EXTENSIVE crime and letting criminals go free has been the weakness of Governor Altgeld, of the state of Illinois. A few nights ago there was a terrible case of lynching, in which two men, arrested for assault upon a woman, were torn from the jail and hung without a judge or jury. While the mob was engaged in breaking the jail doors, an appeal to them to desist was made by the jailer and his wife. The crowd stopped to listen to the latter, who was answered by one of the leaders in the following language: "Yes, we know the jury will convict them and give them a severe sentence, but Governor Altgeld will pardon them. He recently pardoned three brutes you sent up from Campaign County for twenty years, and he will pardon these men. If any other man than Altgeld was Governor we would not lynch these men, but we are determined he will never have a chance to turn them loose." The incident may be accepted as an example of the folly of a weak and uncertain administration of law and justice, and the danger of placing power in the hands of men who hold wrong principles—men such as Governor Altgeld.

The Nor'Wester says that all the excitement over the school question is confined to the Province of Ontario and Quebec. That is well, and if our contemporary is correct he would seem to add weight to the opinions of some prominent men as Sir Donald Smith and others, who express the hope that a satisfactory settlement is within the bounds of practicality.

OTTAWA CORRESPONDENCE.

The adjournment of the House of Commons on Wednesday afternoon until Tuesday next, makes political news scarce, so this week I will give THE EXAMINER some notes on other matters of interest. The celebration of the 24th May was very general in Ottawa, and the beautiful weather caused everyone to feel like enjoying themselves. To give an idea of the amount of traffic, it need only be mentioned that the City Passenger Railway took $2150 in 5 cent fares. The Electric Car service of Ottawa is excellent, and, notwithstanding the thousands who travel by it, seldom has any accident to be chronicled. The great attraction on the 24th, was the Lacrosse match between the Shamrocks of Montreal, and the Capitals of Ottawa, for a very handsome silver trophy valued at $250, which was silvered last year by the merchants of Montreal for competition among the Senior Lacrosse Clubs. The Capitals won it in the 24th with full expectation of taking it back to the Metropolis, but they found the Ottawa Club were too many for them, the Capitals winning 7 games out of 10. The game on account of the rough play sometimes indulged in; but under the new rules the player who acts roughly is sent off the field. The new rule was tested on the 24th, and during the 9th game, two of the Shamrocks and three of the Capitals were given a rest.

The match was played on the Lacrosse Grounds at the Exhibition Park and was witnessed by 4000 people. The grand stand holding 3000 was packed, and the fences all round the grounds were lined three deep. Rockliffe Park, at the east end of the city, was covered all day, over 10,000 people visiting it. It is a nice shady place by the banks of the Ottawa, and the electric cars run out to it every five minutes. Then the Bicycle Races at Lansdowne Park, hundreds of patriots, especially for the products of their poultry yards." Mr. Gilbert is most sanguine as to the success that will attend the scientific production of eggs, and points out very truly that a fresh-laid egg in July than it is in January. It is hard to get a fresh-laid egg in July than it is in January, and they will command just as good a price in July if you have what is wanted. I have thought considerable space to this matter. I think it is one of great interest to the people of P. E. Island. The possibilities of egg production in that province are without limit, and being 1,000 miles nearer the English market than Ontario, with the cold storage in the ocean steamer, that is now provided, and with non-fertilized eggs, an opening can be made for a great trade. It is a question that we trust Senator Ferguson will take up and associate with the Government. He is a practical farmer, and knows better than any man in the Government what the farmers of Canada need. If this movement can start through Senator Ferguson's initiative, the farmers, not only of P. E. Island, but of the whole Dominion, will owe him a lasting debt of gratitude. I omitted to mention that Prof. Robertson will be examined before the Committee of Agriculture on Thursday next.

Making my way back to the Dairy Commissioner's office that gentleman again gave me some of his valuable time; and I think I would like to say a few words to the service of Prof. Robertson and the enormous quantity of work he does in the interest of the people of Canada. The people of P. E. Island know something of his labors, but I think it is worth our effort to understand what his work in the Dominion means the only way is to take a map of Canada and compare the area of P. E. Island with the rest of the country. His correspondence is being tested, and it makes one disgusted when you hear men like John McMillan, of Haron, get up in the House of Commons and find fault with the Government for expending a few thousand dollars in the establishment of an Experimental Farm that has given to Canada the benefit of the knowledge of men like Prof. Robertson and the other gentlemen who are there employed.

After visiting the milk testing and churning rooms and the cold storage department where beautiful golden butter is kept until marketed, we went through the pig houses and saw what is being done for the improvement of swine. Prof. Robertson holds that Pork raising and Dairy are adjuncts of one another and the best breeds of pigs are kept, the offspring of which are readily sold to the farmers at $10 each when they are ready. So great is the demand that the price has been raised in order to allow private enterprise to successfully compete. Leaving the pig houses we next visited the hot houses where plants of rare kinds are kept, and here I saw one of those wonderful plants known as "carnivorous eating." But my space is filled. I must not weary the readers of THE EXAMINER this week, and will defer to some future time other items of interest that I noticed at the Experimental Farm. By the way, Prof. Robertson will be in P. E. Island in June, something sooner than he intended.

A correspondent writes:—Mr. Perry, Mr. Yeo, Mr. Davies and Mr. Welsh are very much interested in the tunnel. Mr. Davies has designated the whole agitation, a "humbug." Mr. Welsh has called it the "stovepipe project," and while everybody knows Mr. Davies' designation will eventually apply to Mr. Perry's advocacy it is clear to all that Mr. Yeo has as much real interest in the tunnel as he has in the canals of Mars. Still those four gentlemen are rendering themselves and their province ridiculous before parliament by dull drivel, and to their consciences certainly very hurtful,rodomontades on the borings in the straits. Well might all true believers in the tunnel scheme cry out: "Give us freedom, such advocates." Still the simple Pioneer affects to believe they are in deep earnest. Such innocence is certainly refreshing. The Palmer pleadings are quite out of date too. Our western world has evidently taken up ancient history.

Some one has been making up the returns and has discovered that since navigation opened produce to the value of $22,101 has been shipped from Summerside by the steamer Northumberland alone. Yet the grist continue to preach "blue ruin."

THE EXAMINER'S Ottawa correspondence, published today, is particularly interesting and important to farmers.

Hood's Sarsaparilla gives great bodily strength, mental and digestive strength, simply because it purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood.

After lunch I had an interview with Mr. Gilbert the manager of the poultry department. Now the question of marketing eggs is one of great importance to farmers in all the provinces, but especially to P. E. Island. Mr. Gilbert points out that the people of France take $22,000,000 annually for eggs in the British market; and he contends that with a proper system of production and shipment, there is no reason why Canada should not obtain a large slice of that trade. He says that the reason why eggs get added so quickly even with the best system of cold storage, is because they are fertilized when they are laid. A non-fertilized egg will keep perfectly good and have that particular flavor that a new laid egg in March is noted for—for sufficient time to place them on the English Market. The trouble with egg shipment in warm weather is owing to the fact that farmers do not separate the male birds running with the hens. Every farmer should select those intended for raising eggs for hatching, and separate them from those intended for the simple production of eggs. With the latter no male birds should be allowed to run; the male birds being treated in the same way that male animals are used, that is, they should not be too highly fed in the season when they are not required for the purpose of propagating their species, and should only be allowed to run with the hens in certain seasons. With eggs produced in this way—that is non-fertilized.—Mr. Gilbert is certain that they could be placed on the London market in July and August at such excellent prices that they would command the highest price, and instead of our farmers having to give their eggs away for 8 and 10 cents per dozen, they would command from 10 to 20 cents all the year around.

Mr. Gilbert considers that it would be a wise policy for the Government to take up the production of eggs and do for it what has been done for cheese in P. E. Island. By organizing the farmers into co-operative poultry associations, and by getting all the patrons to produce their eggs in one specified way, shipments of them could be made to England under the control of the Commissioner; and in twelve months a reputation could be worked up for Canadian eggs that would bring in millions of dollars to the Dominion. "Let the Government," said Mr. Gilbert, "give me the same commission with respect to eggs and poultry, that Prof. Robertson has with respect to Dairy Products, and inside of three years the people of Prince Edward Island will be obtaining $1,000,000 annually for the products of their poultry yards." Mr. Gilbert is most sanguine as to the success that will attend the scientific production of eggs, and points out very truly that a fresh-laid egg in July than it is in January. It is hard to get a fresh-laid egg in July than it is in January, and they will command just as good a price in July if you have what is wanted. I have thought considerable space to this matter. PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

A Division in the Budget. Government Majority of Forty-six.

OTTAWA, May 30.

It was found yesterday that enthusiasm could be revived in the tariff discussion under the inspiration of the leading debaters. For the first time in some weeks nearly every seat in the House was filled, and the gallery was fully occupied when Hon. Dr. Montague got the floor. He made a magnificent three hours' speech, exposing the hypocrisy and incapacity of the grists. A division was taken at 3.45 this morning, and resulted as follows: for the amendment, 71; against, 117; showing a majority for the Government of 46. Mr. McCarthy was absent. His mate, Colonel O'Brien, voted with the Government, as did Mr. McGreevy.
