LORD SELKIRK AND HIS P. E. ISLAND SETTLEMENT.

THE CANADIAN MAGAZINE for September contains a very interesting article by Mr. George Johnson, on the Place-Names of Canada. We clip from it the following paragraph particularly interesting to P. E. Island readers.

"A keen-eyed man who had exceptional opportunities for the study of the whole situation made the most of his opportunities. The keen-eyed man was the Earl of Selkirk. He was a Scotchman, lean and tall, over six feet high. He had in the later years of the last century observed with profound interest the changes that had been wrought in the Highlands of Scotland by the battle of Culloden, after which regular government had exercised an authority it never before had possessed in that part of the kingdom. He wrote a book entitled "Observations of the present state of the Highlands of Scotland from a view of the causes and probable consequences of Emigration," (a copy of the work is in the Parliamentary Library at Ottawa, and written on the fly leaf is "To Miles McDonel, from the author.") He had witnessed the eviction from the Scotch estates that were the consequence of the new order of things. He was a firm believer in what in these days is known as "Greater Britain." He was no "little Englander." His sympathy with the distress of the evicted tenants and with an enlarged empire led him to put the two together. Given the man who wanted a home and the home that wanted a man, why should not the sufferings of the evicted families be relieved and our empire built up at one and the same time? He opened a correspondence with the British Government and at length secured their assent to a plan for the deportation of 800 Highlanders to Prince Edward Island. These Selkirk despatched in their vessels to a large estate, which he had secured in that Island, and hurried himself to Charlottetown hoping to be on hand to receive them with plans already matured for a successful transplanting. The settlers were chiefly from the Isle of Skye. A few were from Ross-shire, the north part of Argyleshire, the interior of Inverness-shire and the Isle of Uist. When they arrived at Port Selkirk, the Earl was not there to receive them. They had to build wigwams such as they saw the Indian use, and August melted into September before the immigrants could secure their individual allotments. A contagious fever broke out. Food ran short. They had to send to Nova Scotia for flour. Some died; others left for the near-by Provinces and United States. Some crossed over to the famous Island of Cape Breton and settled along the adjacent coast where, by natural growth and by accretions from Scotland, the Scotch population increased, and in time received representation, the county being called Inverness. Of the total population of Inverness, over 75 per cent. is in Scotch stock, while of the population of the whole of the Island nearly two-thirds is Scotch—an early direction of the movement of Scotch people to the Island being due to Earl Selkirk's action in 1803. But the greater proportion remained on Prince Edward Island; built them houses in such a manner that there were generally four or more families in a little knot together; cultivated the soil; married and were given in marriage; and now, as the result of the Earl Selkirk's attempt to solve two problems at the same time, not less than one-seventh of the population of the "Garden of the Gulf," as P. E. Island is fittingly called, are descendants of the evicted Highlanders of 1803. The fifteen or twenty place-names already mentioned as included in the Earl of Selkirk's estate sufficiently attest the influence of the Scotch colony on the eastern part of the Dominion."

"CONCERNING THE JEWS."

UNDER this heading, Mark Twain writes for the September number of Harper's Monthly in his interesting way. In concluding he says:—

"If the statistics are right, the Jews constitute but one per cent. of the human race. It suggests a nebulous dim puff of star dust lost in the blaze of the Milky Way. Properly the Jew ought hardly to be heard of; but he is heard of, has always been heard of. He is as prominent on the planet as any other people, and his commercial importance is extravagantly out of proportion to the smallness of his bulk. His contributions to the world's list of great names in literature, science, art, music, finance, medicine and abstruse learning are also away out of proportion to the weakness of his numbers. He has made a marvellous fight in this world, in all the ages; and has done it with his hands tied behind him. He could be vain of himself and be excused for it. The Egyptian, the Babylonian, and the Persian rose, filled the planet with sound and splendor, then faded to dream-stuff and passed away; the Greek and the Roman followed, and made a vast noise, and they are gone; other peoples have sprung up and held their torch high for a time, but it burned out, and they sit in twilight now, or have vanished. The Jew saw them all, beat them all, and is now what he always was, exhibiting no decadence, no infirmities of age, no weakness of his parts, no slowing of his energies, no dulling of his alert and aggressive mind. All things are mortal but the Jew; all other forces pass, but he remains. What is the secret of his immortality?"

Doubled Subsidies.

The following railway subsidies were voted at the last session of Parliament:

220 miles at $6,400 a mile.....	$1,408,000
1,428 miles at $3,200.....	4,569,600
Total.....	$5,977,600

But as the Mail and Empire points out the Subsidy Act provides that if those roads to which $3,200 a mile is voted shall cost more than $15,000 a mile to build, the bounties shall be increased until it is doubled for a $21,000 a mile railway. In other words railways costing $21,000 a mile are to receive $6,400 a mile, although $3,200 has been the ruling rate in the past. This provision will certainly be taken advantage of, and the 1,428 miles will cost us $9,139,400 instead of $4,569,600. The total grant is thus $10,547,000. Sir Richard Cartwright told the Patrons that he would stop railway bonusing. The Mail and Empire says that all that he has done is to double the rate, and to pay $10,000,000 where the late Government would have paid $5,000,000.

WANING SUMMER.

A Word in Season Regarding the Great Medicine Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Changes in the Temperature bring on Kidney Disease—Colds Always Start in the Kidneys—Dodd's Kidney Pills will Strengthen the Kidneys and Render them Impervious to Weather Variations.

HALIFAX, Sept. 8.—After three months of hot weather the average person is worn out when the cool wave comes in September. His system is at low ebb and he feels "fagged," to use a common expression. This is a time when Dodd's Kidney Pills will be found especially useful. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a natural and most reliable tonic. Acting on the kidneys they are enabled to get at the very foundation of nine-tenths of human suffering. The kidneys are strengthened by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, so that they purify the blood, thus giving vigor and tone to the whole system. The blood once freed of impurities by Dodd's Kidney Pills, soon builds up the body into sound and firm tissues.

If the end of the summer finds you fagged and worn, heavy-footed and weary, it is a sign that your kidneys need a wholesome stimulation. Dodd's Kidney Pills are intended and adapted for that purpose exactly.

Remember it is because you are run down that you catch cold so easy in the fall. If your kidneys were working properly you would be able to resist changes in the weather. The kidneys are the organs most susceptible to cold and damp of any in the body. Strengthen your kidneys by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are for sale at all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or will be sent on receipt of price by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Seems as if all the things we like disagree with us, and all the things we don't like, agree with us. Dyspepsia lurks in most of the good things we eat, and indigestion follows the gratification of appetite. Of course, it isn't nature's fault. Nature does the best she can, and if a man will only help her a little bit at the right time, he may eat what he likes and as much as he likes. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for people who are troubled with indigestion. Particularly for those in whom it manifests itself in the form of constipation. The Pellets are quick and easy in their action. They are in perfect harmony with nature. They effect a permanent cure. You need take them regularly only a little while. After that use them occasionally when you need them—when you have eaten anything that disagrees with you. They may be taken just as freely as you would take water or any other necessity of life. Once used they are always in favor.
