

Smoldering U.S. Dispute Grows On Nuclear Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — A smoldering dispute over how to block the spread of nuclear weapons around the world has flared up again inside the Johnson administration, creating a controversy which the president will have to resolve.

U.S. policy on two critical international issues—a NATO nuclear force and a proposed nuclear control agreement with Russia—is regarded by informed officials as having fallen into disarray. The reason appears to be that no formula for handling these problems has been agreed upon by major policy-makers as a workable and practical expression of U.S. interests.

Outwardly and by official statement U.S. policy remains exactly what it has been for several years.

On the one hand the government is on record as seeking creation of a nuclear force within NATO which would give West Germany a voice in allied strategy and weapons control. On the other hand the government has proposed a treaty

Prize Offered For Good Drama

TORONTO (CP)—A prize of $5,000 for a Canadian writer who can produce an hour-long drama script of good calibre was announced here by John Bassett, president of station CFTO-TV.

Mr. Bassett, publisher of the Toronto Telegram, told a press conference that entries must be written by a Canadian and concern a Canadian subject. If three or four good plays were received there would be that many $5,000 prizes.

He described as most disappointing the dearth of good Canadian scripts. It was impossible to find good original drama.

HISTORY MARK DEPRESSING

VANCOUVER (CP)—One college freshman thought Ghandi was a former British prime minister.

Another identified Mussolini as a Russian revolutionary. Remember Stalin? A German political leader who was hanged.

These were some of the answers 136 first-term students at Simon Fraser University in suburban Burnaby gave in a test by history Professor Warren Williams.

"The results of the sample tested could be most politely described as depressing," Dr. Williams said.

3,000 Uses Are Reported For Asbestos

CASSIAR, B.C. (CP)—There are 3,000 uses for asbestos mined from a mountainous pit near this northern B.C. community by Cassiar Asbestos Corp. Ltd.

The fibrous mineral is best known for its insulating ability and the fact it can be spun like yarn into cloth. Now it is gaining added value as a reinforcing agent in concrete pipe.

Canada is the leading supplier of asbestos in the free world, last year producing more than 1,200,000 tons. More than five per cent of the output came from the Cassiar mine.

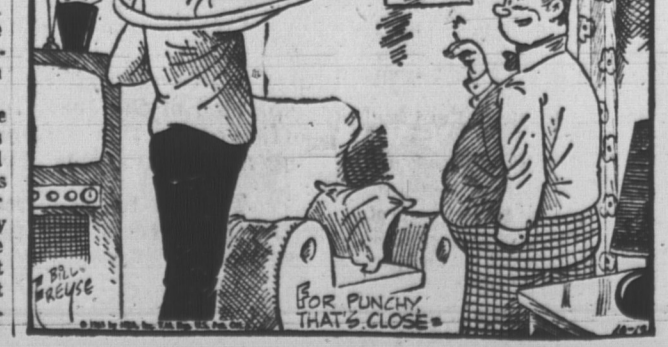

The high grade of asbestos mined here brings prices of from $120 a long ton for short fibre mineral about one eighth of an inch in length to $780 for fibres of three quarters of an inch.

Most Canadian asbestos is destined for the export market and the chief buyers of Cassiar production are the United States, England, Australia, Japan and India.

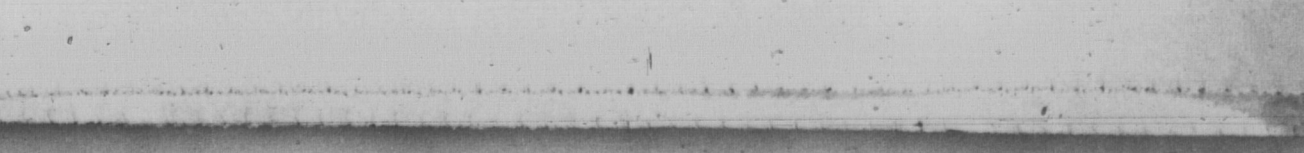

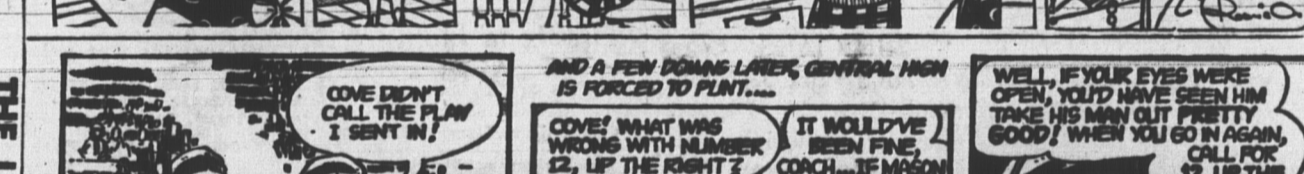

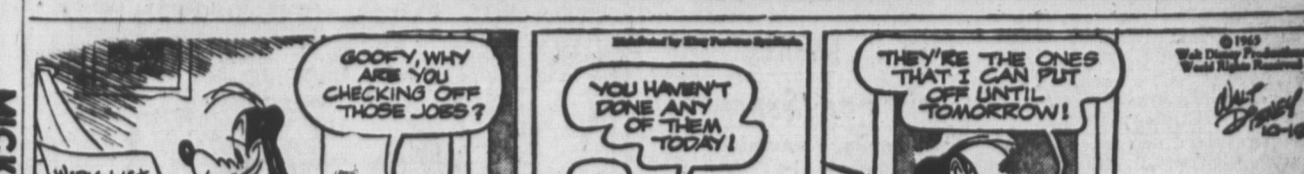

Cassiar Asbestos employs about 400 men and has an annual payroll of $3,000,000. It earned a net profit of $3,020,000 on 1964 sales of $14,400,000, up more than $500,000 from 1963.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it: A X Y D L B A A X E is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

is in position to anticipate this result. He has a better way of playing to increase his chance of making the contract, even though he still cannot insure its success.

The bidding should guide him the best method of play. South can count 26 points in dummy's hand and his own, and he therefore knows that East cannot have more than 14 points for his opening bid.

Obviously, East must have the ace of clubs. Since declarer requires three club tricks for the contract to succeed, he should try to play in a manner that makes this possible.

He cannot make the hand if he plays a club to the king and loses it to the ace. At the most this would give him two club tricks. What he must try to do is force out the ace without sacrificing a high club in the process. This is bound to happen if the first club lead comes from dummy and East has the doubleton ace.

Accordingly, upon winning the opening lead, South crosses to dummy with a diamond and leads a low club, winning East's nine with the queen. Declarer returns a club and ducks any card West plays. (This is the obligatory finesse.) When it turns out that East was dealt the A-9 of clubs, nine tricks become certain.

This method of play is incorrect, and on the bidding, South

Opening lead—eight of hearts. The obligatory finesse is a play born of necessity. Take this deal where declarer must play cards just right to make three trump.

West leads a heart, which South takes with the queen. Let's say that South now plays a club to the king, losing to the ace. East then forces out the ace of hearts to establish his suit. South can now build up a trick by playing the queen and another club, but he still makes only eight tricks and goes down one.
