CHARITY EUCHRE.
REPORT OF A GAME IN BROOKLYN, WHERE IT IS POPULAR.

Playing For Prizes and Incidentally For Charity—An Amusement That Almost Produced a Riot—A Simple Way of Awarding the Prizes.

Every one in Brooklyn plays euchre. It is as much a characteristic of Brooklyn as is beer drinking of Hoboken or wearing rubber boots of the struggle for existence in New Rochelle and similar suburbs. Brooklynites contract the habit when young, and it usually grows on them. Many authorities believe it to be contagious, as there are cases on record where persons who have played euchre while visiting in Brooklyn have scattered it broadcast about their own homes after returning. Women seem to be more affected by it than men. It is of man's life a thing apart; 'tis woman's whole existence in Brooklyn. In the very virulent cases they even play with a joker in the pack!

For the benefit of the reader who is ignorant of what progressive euchre is (if any such exists), a brief diagnosis may be given. Progressive euchre is that form of the game where many persons play, four at a table, the winning pair progressing each time to a higher table, while the losing pair stays. The first table, usually known as the king table, plays five points, at the conclusion of which a gong is rung and all the other games stop then and there, the count reverting to the last completed deal. At the conclusion of the performance the person having won the greatest number of games gets a prize, and frequently there are a number of other prizes for those finishing near the top.

For each game won the player pastes a little star of colored paper on his or her card. These serve as counters and afford an adequate basis for accusations of cheating. Recently there was a large and typical progressive euchre contest for charity, open to ladies only, held in a public building in Brooklyn, at which a reporter was present. Being unarmored, he sat in the gallery, where he was out of danger's way and could see everything. Explanations of the movements were furnished to him by a young lady who wasn't playing on account of injuries to her feelings received a week before in a game in which she had been wrongfully, maliciously, illegally, underhandedly and devilishly deprived of third prize.

"Now they're going to begin," said the reporter's mentor as somebody rang a big gong several times.

Immediately about 500 women on the floor began rushing tumultuously about the place, while the air buzzed with the inquiry:

"Which is my table?"

A red haired woman who sat at a stand near the door seemed to be in charge, assisted by eight young women wearing badges.

"They're the scorers," said the mentor, "and before this is over they'll wish they were dead."

A few moments were consumed in the distribution of playing and score cards, after which the manager called out:

"Play will now begin at the sound of the gong and continue until the gong rings, when all hands must be thrown down. Are you all ready?"

"Wait! wait!" shrieked a little woman shrilly. "This pack hasn't any joker in it."

"We don't play euchre with a joker here," replied the manager in withering tones. "We will proceed."

"I'd like to know where she comes from," commented the mentor, "to want to play with the joker!"

Clang! went the gong, and the game commenced. For five minutes there was comparative silence, broken only by sporadic wrangles over tricks cropping up at various tables. Then somebody at the king table cried:

"That's five. We're out. Ring the bell."

Again the bell sounded, and this time it was the signal for pandemonium.

"Play the hand out." "No; play stops now." "No, it don't." "We're ahead."

"It isn't fair; you ought to play out."

"When the trick is on the board, you have to take it up." "The hand is finished."

"Here, bring the stars." "No, not there. We won that hand."

Five hundred separate questions were fired simultaneously at the manager, while the scorers tried to unravel the snarl. A gaunt woman finally obtained recognition by standing upon a chair and waving her arms.

"When diamonds are trumps, does the right bower take the left bower?" is what she wanted to know in thunderous tones.

"Sit down!" called a score of voices, and she subsided under a load of explanations.

"Would you rather manage that or umpire a football game?" said the reporter.
