

PARTICULARS OF THE LOSSES AT LADYSMITH

The Boers Suffered Very Severely

LONDON, Nov 4.—The Central News states that the Boers have not yet attacked Colenso.

The Central News correspondent at Ladysmith in a despatch dated Tuesday, 5 15 p. m., gives an account of Monday's fight.

He says: "Although it was a bad day for us it was positively terrible for the enemy. Our artillery fire was appalling. The Boers lost hundreds in killed and wounded. They fell in a heap where our shells burst. The British long range guns are vastly superior to the Boer batteries.

"The captured column exceeds eight hundred men. We are sanguine and confident that we can hold our own."

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The War Office makes the total loss in Monday's fight near Ladysmith, 54 killed, 218 wounded, 465 missing. The missing do not include the Irish Fusiliers or the Gloucestershire in the lost column.

The casualties of these regiments are given as 28 killed and 54 wounded.

An army order issued provides for the mobilization of thirty-four battalions of militia before November 20th.

It also authorizes the proper authorities to embody five militia medical staff corps by November 13th.

The Daily Mail publishes the following despatch from Ladysmith, dated Wednesday morning:—

Matters are quiet. The Boers are apparently mounting nine heavy guns to the north and north east, which are likely to give us trouble.

The Boer contingent is 1500 strong, and clearly visible from the camp. It is stealing away to the south.

The inhabitants of Ladysmith continue to leave the town.

The anti-British press of Berlin and Paris and Amsterdam reiterate the reports of the disaster at Ladysmith.

The latest report from Amsterdam says that the place has capitulated and that nine thousand British are prisoners, the majority of them being wounded.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—At Plymouth it is rumoured that the Channel Squadron will be ordered to the Cape where a great naval force is to be collected with a view to the establishment of a cordon from the mouth of the Orange River to Delagoa Bay to prevent the landing of supplies to the enemy, and with the view also if necessary of landing guns to assist the British forces.

ORANGE RIVER, Cape Colony, Nov. 1.—(Delayed in transmission.) Kimberley is still safe and the wounded are doing well.

Vancouver is Ready.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 2.—Intense feeling was displayed here on the news from Transvaal yesterday and today, and a strong sentiment favorable to raising a second contingent of 2000 under the pav of Canada was manifested. Hundreds of young fellows declared themselves ready and eager to go to the front to help Britain against the Boers.

THE SHARKEY-JEFFRIES FIGHT

The Full Twenty-five Rounds Fought

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

NEW YORK, Nov 4.—The fight between Jeffries and Sharkey was the most terrific of the century, and both of the men were frightfully punished.

The full twenty-five rounds were fought, the decision being given to Jeffries.

Two of Sharkey's ribs were broken. CONEY ISLAND SPORTING CLUB, New York, Nov 3.—James J. Jeffries retains the championship of the world. Referee George Siler gave him the decision at the twenty-fifth round over Sailor Sharkey at Coney Island Sporting Club last night.

It was one of the most marvellous battles that has taken place, and the greatest crowd that has ever gathered in the Coney Island house witnessed the desperate struggle for supremacy.

In five rounds Jeffries had the best of the fight—in the first two and the last three. During the other twenty Sharkey forced the issue, and like a bull terrier, was at his man with both hands unceasingly.

In the twenty rounds Jeffries' great weight and brawn helped him to hold off the sailor, and in the twenty-second round he swung a couple of vicious upper cuts that made Sharkey groggy.

Tom came back again, however, in the twenty-fifth round, but was weakened greatly by Jeffries' vicious blow.

In the midst of the twenty-fifth round, nearly one minute before the close, Jeffries' glove flew across the ring, and Siler ran to help him on with it. Sharkey held back until his friends yelled at him not to stop, and it was a three cornered fight for a few moments.

The referee got Jeffries' glove and tried to draw it on him. This was difficult to do, and then Sharkey rushed. Jeffries threw up his gloved and ungloved hand, and with the former upper cut Sharkey.

Siler ran between them and made a second attempt to assist Jeffries. The sailor waited a moment and rushed again. Siler dragged Jeffries away and the gong sounded.

The referee motioned to Jeffries' corner that the fight was over, and the champion's admirers flung an American flag over the shoulders of the winner.

HEAVY GALE IN ENGLAND.

Did Wide-Spread Damage and Delayed Despatches.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

LONDON, Nov. 4.—A heavy gale that swept the south-western part of the British coast today did wide-spread damage although no serious wrecks, accompanied with loss of life, are thus far reported.

The telegraph lines suffered badly, the wires being down everywhere during the greater part of the day.

To this is due the delay in transatlantic cable service.

MAJUBA FADES AWAY.

Condition of Affairs Which Faces Great Britain.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Referring to the shouts of "Avenge Majuba!" which greeted Gen. Sir Redvers Buller on his arrival at Cape Town, the Chronicle says: "If this is to be a war of vengeance we will have to wipe out a disaster before which the memory of Majuba Hill fades away. The empire is face to face to-day with a repulse comparable only to the surrender of Burgoyne. For the present there can be but one voice in the country. We have been told that this is a war for British supremacy in South Africa, and we cannot doubt that that supremacy is not threatened. The conflict will, therefore, inevitably continue until it places the Empire in a position to dictate the terms of settlement. The trial we hope which is now upon us will strike a sober, serious chord of the country's heart. An ignoble mood has grown out of our prosperity, fed by a press which has much to answer for when the account of these latter days is made up. If the present catastrophe calls for something better than music hall patriotism, we may come to reckon it as a timely lesson well learned for our souls' good."
