THE ENNIS MEETING.

SOME NOTEWORTHY SCENES

DUBLIN, Sept. 4.

Ten thousand persons assembled at Ennis to-day to attend the meeting of the Irish National League. The police last night took possession of the hill of Balleycore, where it was intended to hold the meeting. At two o'clock the procession, accompanied by twelve bands of music, and including Messrs. Timothy Sullivan, Dillon, Cox, Sheehy, Wm. O'Brien and Philip Stanhope, all members of the House of Commons, and several priests, moved towards Balleycore Hall, the approaches to which were guarded by soldiers and police. The procession, finding its progress barred, halted in a field. Messrs. Sullivan, Stanhope and O'Brien made speeches from carriages. A troop of hussars, headed by Col. Turner, divisional magistrate, rode up to where the procession halted. Colonel Turner ordered the meeting to disperse within five minutes. Mr. Stanhope handed Turner a copy of the resolutions adopted by the meeting, claiming Home Rule, declaring adherence to Parnell, thanking the Liberal party, pledging resistance to a proclamation of the League, and denouncing land-grabbing. Stanhope declared the proceedings were legal, and if a collision occurred between the people and the troops he would hold Turner responsible. Turner replied that he was bound to execute the orders. After the procession returned to Ennis, O'Brien addressed the crowd in O'Connell Square. Soldiers and police again appearing the procession passed on to the hotel, where the leaders entered. The crowd dispersed quietly.

TO THE MEMORY

OF MISS TILLIE FERGUSON, WHO DIED AUGUST 28TH, 1887.

From this world of sin and sorrow, From this scene of woe and pain, Jesus softly called our sister To His bright domain.

All her sufferings are over, Sorrow now she doth not know; Peace and joy are hers forever, While the tide of years shall flow.

Mourn not, parents, for thy daughter, Shed no tears, they all are vain; God hath freed her weary spirit, Death to her indeed was gain.

In that land of light and glory, Dwells she with the ransomed throng Who hath left this world before her, And they sing the same glad song.

Yes, they sing a Hallelujah To their Saviour and their King, Till the pearly gates of Heaven With their joyous anthems ring.

Young was she and full of promise, Life on earth to her was sweet; But when she heard her Saviour's summons Bowed she meekly at His feet.

Many earthly friends shall miss her, Many hearts with grief be sore; But again shall we behold her On the bright eternal shore.

Never more shall Satan tempt her, Now her Saviour's she doth see; She shall live 'mid Heavenly splendor Throughout all Eternity. T. H.

Ch'town, September, 1887.

A man named David Pearce, went in under Bowly & Balcolin's mill at Lawrencectown, Annapolis Co., N. S., and sat down in close proximity to a revolving shaft, a set screw upon which got caught in some part of his clothing, and threw him up as a hat a stick of heavy timber, which prevented him from being whirled around with the shaft and probably saved his life. As it was he was partially stripped of his clothing—two shirts were entirely torn off—his left leg was broken above the knee and the skin taken off his left arm, besides being bruised considerably.

Of the nine prisoners in the Muskegoit County (Mich.) jail, eight are women. The solitary male prisoner is said to be constantly on his good behavior.
