

At what age do most women retire?

Ten years earlier than men... usually at 55.

They also live longer. Business women, therefore, require retirement income for a much longer period of time than men.

Lewis - Dawson Wedding

Seven Mile Bay Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Thursday, August 28 at eight o'clock, when Rev. Father Reginald MacDonaid, assisted by the Rev. Father Hammill, cousin of the bride, united in marriage Shirley Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Dawson, and Donald Elmer Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lewis, of Coverdale, Albert County, N. B.

The church was beautifully decorated with summer flowers and the guests' pews were marked with white ribbons.

The winsome young bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She looked charming in a floor length gown of white satin with a sweetheart neckline and fitted bodice.

Mr. Sterling Noonan, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore a gown of rose taffeta with matching turban and mitts and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. Sterling Noonan, friend of the groom, was groomsmen.

The bride's mother wore a white flowered nylon dress and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother chose a grey suit with grey accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The ushers were Charles Dawson, brother of the bride, and Foster Lewis, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Birch Hill Tourist Home and breakfast was served to about sixty guests.

The wedding table was decorated with the bride's cake and centered with cut flowers. The toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Rev. Father Reginald MacDonaid, and responded to by the groom.

Fitting speeches for the occasion were made by several of the guests. After the reception the guests left for the home of the bride where a few social hours were enjoyed by all before the happy couple left on a motor trip to various parts of the Maritimes.

For travelling the bride wore a turquoise blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. On their return they will reside in Greenwood, N. S. where the groom is a member of the R. C. A. F.

Precious to her marriage the bride was tendered a shower at the home of her parents, where she received many lovely gifts and a sum of money. She was also tendered a shower in Moncton, where she had been employed with Staples' Drug Company.

Edward Myers on their golden wedding day. Lively music for entertainment was provided by Messrs. Ward Crane, John Webster, Alex MacDougall, John Cunningham and others. Delicious refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Myers received many beautiful and useful gifts, and best wishes for many more years of happy wedded life.

BURGESS BEDTIME

(Continued from Page 10) beat an inoffensive little bush to pieces just to show off. Then he came around a turn in the Crooked Little Path, and was face to face with someone coming the other way along the Crooked Little Path. Flathorns stopped abruptly. He stood still in the middle of the Crooked Little Path, and stared down at this unexpected stranger.

He had to look down because the stranger was small compared with him. He was something like a small bear, like one of Buster Bear's cubs, but with a bushy tail. Imagine a small bear with a bushy tail!

"Get out of my way! snorted Flathorns, and pawed the ground. The stranger paid no attention. He just came right on. The hair on the back of the neck and on the shoulders of Flathorns stood on end. He lowered his head to show the great antlers. The stranger paid no attention; he came snuffing straight along.

Flathorns backed up a few steps. The stranger came straight on. Flathorns backed some more. The stranger came on just as if he had no fear whatsoever. He hadn't, and Flathorns knew that he hadn't. Flathorns moved off to one side. He didn't dare not to, and everyone who saw him, knew it. He had been put to shame by Glutton the Wolverine.
