LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Shortest Route.

SIR,—I see by your issue of Saturday last, a quotation from the Globe, headed "Sugar from China," that the bark Antioch, Capt. Wyman had arrived from Hong Kong, China, with a cargo of sugar for the Moncton Sugar Refinery. This reminds me of the thoughts that have often come up in my mind in regard to our great leader, Sir John A. Macdonald, and his Pacific Railway Policy. The facts are that in a few years our merchants will be importing produce direct from China, via the Pacific Railway; whereas now it has to come by the Mediterranean, and through Suez Canal—a distance of several thousand miles. Let me illustrate: Take an apple and stand with your face towards the north; make a mark any place on the surface to start from; now draw a line from it towards your right hand around the apple till you get two-thirds the circumference: that is about the nearest port in China—Hong Kong—the present route by ship, starting from Halifax. Now, commence at the place of beginning second time, and draw a line the opposite way, or towards your left hand, till you arrive at one-third the distance around the apple. This places you in China again, by way of Pacific Railway, across from British Columbia to Hong Kong, which is only one-third the distance of the old route. This, of itself, is a sufficient reason for every intelligent elector of Queen's County to vote for Dr.
Jenkins—a supporter of Sir John—instead of voting for an obstructionist, against the best interests of his country.
I am, yours very truly, JOHN McMASTERS.

Death of Sir William J. Codrington.

Gen. Sir William John Codrington died in London, on Friday, in the eightieth year of his age. He was one of the most prominent of the generals, who engaged in the Crimean war, but he had been on the retired list of the army since 1877. Gen.
Codrington was the son of Admiral Sir Edward Codrington, and was born in November, 1804. He ended his studies at the University of Cambridge at the age of seventeen, and at once entered the army as Lieutenant of the Coldstream Guards, a corps in which he was advanced successively to the ranks of captain, major, and lieutenant-colonel, during a period of fifteen years. In 1846 he was promoted to be colonel, and in 1854 was advanced to the rank of brevet Major-General. His command not being included in the expeditionary force against Russia on the breaking out of the Crimean war, he obtained permission to go to the war as an observer, and soon after, a vacancy occurring, he was appointed to the command of the First Brigade of the Light Division of the English Army. From this time until the close of the war, two years after, Sir William Codrington participated in nearly all the important engagements fought in the Crimea. At Alma he opened the fire against the Russians, and at Inkermann he and his command sustained the brunt of the battle. His bravery and military skill were so conspicuous that they called forth reports strongly commending him from his superiors, and after the retreat of Sir George Brown, Gen. Codrington was given the command of the Light Division.
Throughout the long siege of Sebastopol he was always to be found at the most perilous places, and when Gen. Simpson resigned as Commander-in-Chief of the army operating in the Crimea, in November, 1855, Gen. Codrington was chosen by the English Ministry to succeed him. He did not return to England until July, 1856, after he had personally supervised the embarkment of all his soldiers and munitions of war. In recognition of his services in the Crimea he was made a Knight Commander of the Bath on his return from the field.

Fleeing from Persecution.

MOVEMENT TO FORM COLONIES OF HEBREWS.

The Bank of Montreal has received a cable despatch from London stating that Samuel Montague, the head of the old banking house of Montague & Co., in the British metropolis, accompanied by Rabbi Dr. Asher, secretary of conjoint congregations of Germans and English Hebrews in London, and Benjamin Louis Cohen, cousin of Baron Rothschild, and a member of the latter's well known banking firm, have left Liverpool for Canada, and will arrive in Montreal on August 27th. The object which the two millionaires have in coming out is to inspect large tracts of agricultural and pasturable lands in the Northwest territories, for transplanting colonies there of Russian Hebrews who have suffered persecutions. These immigrants will be principally agriculturists and cattle raisers, with some means of their own, and further assistance will be rendered by the London organization of which the two great capitalists are representatives.
The London society will build temples for worship and schoolhouses, where the old orthodox Jewish ritual and old practices will be carried out. Although the Hebrews are divided here into several congregations, orthodox and heterodox, all will combine in giving the visiting party a hospitable and enthusiastic reception.

The outcry of the German liberal papers and the press throughout Europe led the Russian government to officially deny that it has caused Russian immigrants to be expelled from Germany. Other excuses have been given, but the fact remains that thousands of these unfortunates have been compelled to leave their new homes and seek some other shelter still further from their native land.

CURRENT NOTES.

The Pall Mall Gazette says parliament will reassemble on the 15th September.

The Vatican authorities are exercised over the discovery, that King Alfonso is a freemason.

The recent fine weather in the Quebec district, which has greatly improved the crop prospects.

Serious disturbances, growing out of whiskey prosecutions, are reported from Iowa City.

Large numbers of English tourists are said to be visiting Norway this season, instead of Southern Europe.

Mr. Henry Irving, Miss Ellen Terry and fifty others of the Lyceum Theatre Company, will sail for Montreal on Sept. 18 in the Parisian.

The Russian government has decided to purchase of its English owner, the celebrated painting of the "Adoration of the Magi," by Paul Veronese, for £12,000. The picture will be placed in the cathedral, now building on the site of the assassination of the late Czar.

The question of abolishing the Upper House is now being discussed in the United States. The Chicago Herald says: "The United States Senate will not long survive the House of Lords. The one is based on the other, and both are obstructions to the popular will."

Eph Morris and James Keenan held a meeting at Boston, on the 15th inst., and formally agreed to a five mile sculler's race between Teemer and Ross. Teemer concedes Ross five seconds start. The race will be rowed on September 2nd, but the place is not yet agreed upon. The race will be for $1,000.

The Halifax Chronicle is now appealing to the liquor dealers of Halifax, to support Mr. Fielding on the ground that their interests have been seriously interfered with, by the restrictive legislation of the Dominion Government. In Ontario, the temperance people are urged to vote against the Conservatives, because the government is favorable to the liquor interest. Thus the organized hypocrisy of liberalism works its oracle.

A local paper of Dakota is responsible for the following: A Dakota farmer in 1881 planted a single grain of spring wheat and from it grew twenty-two stalks, each bearing a full head of wheat, yielding in all 860 grains of wheat; 760 of these were planted the next year, producing one fifth of a bushel of splendid wheat. This was planted last spring, yielding seventeen bushels, making 1,020 pounds of wheat from one grain in three years.

Rev. H. M. Collison, who killed his wife in Chicago on the 13th inst., is still alive.
If he recovers he will be totally blind.
Mrs. Collison was about to go driving with a lady friend when Collison called her back, closed the door, and committed the crime. He recently resigned the pastorate of Fullerton-avenue Church, attendance having greatly fallen off. It is believed that he brooded over church troubles, and seeing a poor prospect for the future, determined, in a fit of momentary insanity, to end the troubles of himself and wife.
They leave four small children unprotected for.

One of the social features of Saratoga this season is the daily reception being tendered to Maud S. in the stables of the United States Hotel. From 9.30 in the morning until 4.30 in the evening the barn is besieged by visitors, not a small portion of whom are ladies and children. Maud S. has become so accustomed to being looked at that she poses like an actress. The ladies ask to stroke her mane without fear, and the gentlemen pat her on the back or flanks. A poodle remains in the stall with her, and instantly sounds the alarm if any unusual attentions are shown to her.
Many ladies throw flowers in the stall; others pin them on the wall, where the famous trotter can get a glimpse or even a smell.

Mr. Justin McCarthy, in a letter to the New York Tribune, says the Home Rule desired by the Irish national party is the same as that which the Dominion of Canada, the Australian colonies, and the States of the union enjoy. He says that he has certain knowledge that at least two members of the present cabinet favor the principle, and he believes that he does not misrepresent Mr. Gladstone, when he says that the premier is "willing to be convinced that Home Rule is a necessity for Ireland." However, Mr. McCarthy believes that "some English ministries must fall and rise on the question of Home Rule for Ireland, before we come to the proper moment for discussing the details of plans." He says that the time has almost come when John Stuart Mill predicted, when the only demand the Irish people would make to their English rulers in Ireland, would be simply to take themselves off.

Captain Conder of the Palestine exploration fund, asserts that he has made a new and important discovery as to the site of Calvary and the Holy Sepulchre. The tomb he has found is a solitary one, differing from the old type of Hebrew tombs. It is near the spot where Stephen is supposed to have been stoned, and, contrary to the Hebrew style, contains, after the manner of the Greek tombs, a shelf where two angels could have sat—"one at the head, the other at the feet." The locality now known as the "Holy Sepulchre," and covered with the church of that name, is an old Jewish tomb which was discovered in the time of the Empire Constantine.
Although popular sentiment has honored it as the tomb of Christ, scholars and explorers have not with any great degree of unanimity so regarded it. One of the great objections against it is that it was within the walls of the city, whereas the tradition burials are said to have taken place outside the city.
