

Rustico at Twilight.

Sweet is the breeze That slowly steals across the sleeping seas From off the scented shores; now all is hushed, The screaming wild sea birds, that daring brush the heating cliffs with white wings spread To catch the winds from off the mountain's head, Have hushed their cries and sank to rest, While all the ocean's foamy crest Is changed from restless throbbing mood To one as low, as soft, as subdued, As angels' footfalls on the shell-strown shore The little laughing waves play smoothly o'er; The buds and flowers droop their tinted heads As zephyrs lightly play round their lovely beds, And nod unto the stars that slyly peep From out the shades of purple gathering deep O'er vale, and hill, and cliff and long brown reach Of wave washed, pebbled, gently sloping beach, And the great deep sea reposing for the night Beneath the rich and soft enshrouding light. The sea, the shadowy shores, the hazy sky, Are blended by some strange and mystic tie. Now through the slowly falling night The village lights shine clear and bright; The fishing boats, with tired crews, at last Drift with the lazy tide the light house past, On out on the bosom of the quiet deep. The many ships, with long and graceful sweep, Move back and forth beyond the harbor's mouth, And see the village fade towards the south; Their ever moving, mingling, meeting lights, So softly colored, seem, while thus they come and go, Like fairy scenes of storied ages, That brighten childhood's happy pages.— The twilight deepens, and the night comes on, And village, sea, and hills, are faded, gone.

Annexation of New Guinea.

AUSTRALIA BOUND TO HOLD ON TO THE NEW TERRITORY.

The Melbourne correspondent of the Dundee Advertiser writes:—The annexation of New Guinea is now regarded in Australia as a fait accompli, and whatever the British Government may do in the matter you may depend upon it the Australian colonies will not now let New Guinea slip from their grasp. That they should pay largely to towards the cost of settlement and government, and thus relieve the pocket of the home taxpayer is, I think, universally admitted. But whatever its retention may cost, there is but one opinion throughout Australia as to the absolute necessity for preventing New Guinea falling into the hands of any foreign power. In a previous letter I alluded to its great fruitfulness, and also to its strategic importance as providing facilities for naval stations commanding the Australian seaboard. In Melbourne a Colonization Company is already being formed, while Mr. Ernest Morrison, son of the Principal of Geelong College, has set off alone on a walking tour over the Island. This gentleman recently traversed on foot the whole length of the Australia, from Carpentaria to Melbourne, and is well qualified to carry out the task he has undertaken. The size of New Guinea compared with Borneo and Madagascar—the other large islands south of the line—is as follows:—

New Guinea, 303,150 square miles. Borneo, 284,230 " Madagascar, 228,340 "

New South Wales is as nearly as may be of the same extent (309,175 square miles) as New Guinea, while the latter is three times the size of all the Islands of New Zealand put together, and three and a half times as large as Victoria. The New Hebrides have recently had more attention bestowed upon them in consequence of the New Guinea proceedings, and the several Australasian colonies have resolved to press on the Secretary of State for the Colonies the desirability of annexing these comparatively small islands, where missionary labours have paved the way for the introduction of British rule, which is warmly desired by the natives. There is no doubt that the establishment of trading ports on the New Guinea coast will be carried out, and that an influx of white adventurers will speedily take place. In the interests of whites as well as of blacks, it is to be hoped that the steps requisite to make New Guinea a Crown Colony will be taken without delay.

A lady has raised an action in Glasgow against the owners of the ship Daphne. She claims £1,000 as damages for the loss of her husband, who was drowned when working on board the Daphne. It is alleged that the ship was launched in a reckless and unskillful manner, and that the defendants were bound to protect the deceased.

The Great French Remedy, Dr. LeDuc's Periodical Pills.

For the cure of Leucorrhoea or White's Emission or painful Menstruation, Green Sickness, Falling of the Womb, Catarrh of the Uterus or Vagina, Hysteria, in the Back or Piles, or for the purpose of invigorating and giving tone to the Generative Organs, two pills should be taken twice daily, or in very bad and febrile conditions, one pill three times a day. To effect cures in chronic cases it will be necessary to continue the use of the remedy for some months. A reasonable trial will create sufficient confidence in the remedy to insure its being taken until a permanent cure is effected. STARR KIDNEY PAD CO., 31 King Street, West Toronto, All Druggists.

Mrs. A. E. McLeod, Dressmaker and Milliner, has removed from Mrs. Barrie's premises, to the house next to the St. Vincent Nursery, and immediately opposite the entrance to the old Burying Ground, Malpeque Road, where she will be most happy to attend punctually to all orders entrusted to her, and at reasonable rates. Parties having anything to do in her line would do well to call.

MONTEAL, May 14, 1883.

DEAR DOCTOR,—Just a few lines as promised by me. I am more than pleased with the "Liver Pad" I got from you when in Charlottetown, and can conscientiously say that it is the best thing I ever saw or heard of. It has done for me what all kinds of medicine and different physicians could not do for me. It removed a very nasty body eruption, which had given me a great deal of annoyance for more than two years; and, more than that, I have not been troubled with a single headache since I have used it. Before wearing the Pad I was troubled with severe headaches continually; and that very objectionable feeling of sluggishness and dullness has entirely left me—in fact I am a new man, to what I was before wearing it. I am truly thankful to you for what you have done for me, and I hope that you may be long spared to the benefit of the public. Believe me, Yours sincerely, FRANK ELLIOTT.
