MR. AND MRS. RICHARD G. MATHESON

Margaret Parker Is Wed At Trinity United Church

A profusion of pink peonies was the floral setting on Saturday, July 4 for the wedding at Trinity United Church of Margaret Etta Parker to Richard George Matheson. The bride is the daughter of Dr. Kenneth and Mrs. Parker of Charlottetown, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Matheson, Southport.

Rev. John Ball officiated and soloist Robie R. Porter of Halifax, uncle of the bride sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden". Organist was Royston Mugford ARCO.

The traditional floor length gown of bridal white organza over taffeta was worn by Miss Parker, who was given in marriage by her father. The bodice featured a mid rift insert of pearled lace and had long lily point sleeves. Her pearl and lace coronet held a tiered shoulder length veil, and she carried a bouquet of white sephanotis and pink sweet heart roses.

Maid - of - honor Carolyn Owen and bridesmaids Barbara Parker and Norma Matheson, all of Charlottetown were identically gowned in pink and white silk brocade and headdresses of white organza. They carried bouquets of pink carnation and white snap dragon. Flower girl Liane Parker, who was dressed similarly to the attendants, carried a basket of pink and white flowers.

Groomsman was Keith Matheson of Charlottetown. Dr. K. Ross Parker, Ray MacLean, both of this City, and Howard Walls of Blackville, N.B. were the ushers.

Guests were received at Montgomery Hall following the ceremony. The bride's mother was wearing a gown of pure silk in floral shades of green, with matching overskirt and accessories. Her corsage was of yellow sweetheart roses. The groom's mother chose a pink ensemble of crepe and georgette, matching accessories and pink sweetheart roses.

Honeymooning in Nova Scotia, the bride travelled in a pale blue suit with matching fur collar, white and blue accessories and corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Matheson will reside at 7 Euston St. for the summer months, sailing Sept 10 for London, England where the groom will be doing post-graduate study in engineering for two years.

ELLEN'S DIARY

A Humble Brown Thrush Sings Of Summer Beauty

Early a thrush sang to us from woodlands across the fields to add a delightful charm to our morning — no strikingly plumaged bird he was, as we knew, but a brownish - garbed creature like, it came to mind, a little lady we chanced one time to sit beside in a strange Church where we worshipped.

She was neatly though not at all modishly dressed. Her hat was not, we could recognize as women will, even a last year's model, nor was the head upon which it sat, either waved or be-curled. But when the congregation rose to join in singing the psalm, how sweet and true her voice was! Listening, the truths came alive, at her interpretation. We could clearly see the shepherd lad grown, praising his Creator for all His mercies, thanking Him for His blessings, and not unmindful of His warnings to mankind.

So the brown thrush sang to us this morning, a humble creature in a lovely setting, in notes which declared the prevailing loveliness of the summery days. To hear him was to know that daisies were dancing stately measures in sunny meadowlands, buttercups posing in golden companies on brooks' banks; that amid the litchens and mosses, shy woods' flowers were in bloom. And that somewhere in the grasses of an old pasture, or in a ferny stumpland, the wild strawberries were commencing to turn ruby red for the picking.

Papa Starling paced up and down his lofty terrace on the garbage-roof this morning. Odd times he drew his watch from his waistcoat pocket to check the time. We saw the Mama herself come to her doorway to sweep the dust from the doorstep. She looked at him inquiringly, doubtless wondering if this after all were truly a Monday. He consulted his timepiece again, then obviously in some bewilderment shook his head — There was no wash spread at Alderlea today.

The place: this old farm, handed down to James from his forebears, and being continued in new generations, was putting on its company dress to welcome in the afternoon, a Maritime gathering of stockmen, in one of the Island's Field Days being currently held.

There had been a roundup from the pastures of required members of the herd. A judging ring was sited in the barnyard, and here and there about this, blocks supporting planks would be convenient seats. A tent was put up on the lawn of the house across the lane, and tables and chairs set in readiness for the evening meal.

"Don't you be worrying yourself" we overheard Peter say to Scample, who at first challenged any machine of the morning that came by, before bewildered by the strange doings, he retired to the background.

And in honor of this foregathering, which included among others, as it happened an interesting farm-family from far away Alberta, as well as those from the Island and neighboring Provinces, the sun smiled, and June wore her prettiest gown — all blue and gold with a width of winsome meadowflowers above the sweeping hem.

Until tomorrow — — Diary— Good-night.....

Five Frosted Delights Summertime Coolers

Those containing ice cream rate well over 200 calories a portion and, although a dessert-type beverage, might be the main part of luncheon or supper — preceded by an open sandwich of cottage cheese, tomato and lettuce, or chicken, chopped olives and cress.

The lemon shake rates about 80 calories per portion.
