Horse Notes.
The brilliant achievements of the grand mare Rosaline Wilkes, the great Canadian, Alvin, McDoel and Homestake, in the grand circuit free-for-all, are for a time lost sight of by the more stirring events which took place during the six days' racing over the kite track of the famous C.
W. Williams in the little town of Independence, Iowa, with a population of only 4-000. The stakes and purses offered amounted to nearly $100,000. On the fourth day of the meeting over twenty thousand people were on the grounds, who came to see the most famous race on record —the five-year-old trotting class. It was known that the three great stars of the turf—Alvion, now 2.10, the great Director mare Margaret S., and the pride of Kentucky, the great little mare Nancy Hanks Margaret S. was not in it, although she started; she was recovering from sickness.
The fight was, therefore, between Alvion and Nancy, the latter winning the race in straight heats, after a terrible struggle, in the marvelous time of 2.12, 2.12, 2.12, breaking the world's race record for trotters. The fastest time previously made was by Maud S., which stood at 2.13, and the next that of Phyllis, 2.13 1/2 fourth heat in a race. In the first heat Nancy and the stallion went to the half like a team in 1.04. From this it was fought to the finish, the mare winning by a half a length. In the second and third heats the half was reached about in the same order in 1.05, but the mare was just a little too speedy, and established her claim to the biggest share of the $5,000 purse.
Nancy Hanks, called after the mother of Abraham Lincoln, was sired by Happy Medium, 2.32 1/2, son of Hambletonian (sire of Electioneer, George Wilkes, &c.) her dam is Nancy Lee, by Dictator, another good son of Hambletonian; her granddam was the granddam of the pacer Mike Wilkes, 2.15 1/2. In 1889, in her three-year-old form, she closed the season with a record of 2.24 1/2 in a race. In that year she started in seven races and won them all in straight heats. Last year she started in six races and won them all likewise in straight heats. One of those races which attracted much attention at the time was the match race at Cleveland on October 11th, for $3,000 with the great young Aberdeen stallion Alabaster, 2.15, that has since died. She beat the stallion easily in straight heats; her record as a four-year-old was 2.14 1/2. This game little mare bears the proud distinction of the "unbroken," as she never yet lost a race. Maud S. was eleven years old when on that July day at Cleveland six years ago, she stepped off her mile in 2.03 1/2, which the equine stars ever since are trying to reach, if not surpass.
It is not at all improbable that the mare which has beaten the race record of Maud S. may yet do what the chestnut daughter of Miss Russell did against the watchdog, Doble, by the greatest reinsman living, drove Nancy, Williams drove Alvion, and Starr drove Margaret S., who succeeded in saving her distance. Nancy now wears the crown of the queen of trotters, won in the hot contest of a race with the mighty Alvion. She is purely trotting bred, and is an in-bred Hambletonian.
A race between her and Sunol, 2.10 1/2, the daughter of Electioneer, with her thoroughbred lineage through her dam, would be interesting. Nancy has stamina, courage, steadiness and great flights of speed, which would put to the severest test the racehorse qualities of Bonner's great young mare.

Letter of Condolence.
Mrs. Benjamin Allan, of Boughton Island, is in receipt of the following kindly and sympathetic letter concerning the last sad offices for her son, who as already announced by THE EXAMINER, was killed by lightning at Barnesville, Minn., a few weeks ago:—
BARNESVILLE, MINN., U.S.A., Aug. 24, 1891.
Mrs. B. Allan, Prince Edward Island:
DEAR MADAM.—You have doubtless already received the sad intelligence of the death of your son, Robert Jenkins in this place, on the 19th inst., caused by lightning.
It becomes my duty as a Christian minister, to write to you to state that everything that lay in the power of the people of this place was done to pay the last solemn rites of respect to his remains.
He had a large funeral from the Congregational Church, the mourning cortege accompanying the remains to the cemetery.
We laid him to rest in the earth at 3.30 p. m., on Friday, Aug. 21st.
I feel assured that his own friends could not desire him a tenderer and gentler, and more sympathetic interment.
Mr. Edwin A. Mills has proved himself a valuable and gentle friend to your departed son. Everything that kindness, and a sympathetic, and a willing hand could do, he did. He took upon him to see that everything possible was done for his body.
And my dear Madam, though we have never seen each other, permit me to offer my deepest sympathy with you in your bereavement and to trust that the consolation and hope of Christ's love and presence may cheer you in this sad hour of sorrow and anguish.
I shall be happy to render you any further service that may lie in my power.
Assuring you of my prayer for your strength and sustenance in this dark hour of trouble and anguish, I am, yours very truly,
E. P. HUGHES,
Pastor Cong. Church.

Elements of Practical Electricity.
There is now so considerable public interest in the many practical applications of electricity—that wonderful something that has come in the latter half of the Nineteenth century to play so important a part in our every-day life—that a popular treatment of the subject, such as can be read by the every day man, whether electrician or not, is just at present doubly welcome.
We are therefore pleased to see in the current issue of The Electrical World, that Dr. Louis Bell, the editor of that journal, has begun a series of timely and important articles on the "Elements of Practical Electricity," written in plain and simple language for beginners.
The author's idea is, apparently, to brush aside, so far as possible, the conventional methods of discussing what many consider a complicated subject and to come directly to the substance of it by beginning in a practical way and continuing in that course to the very end. He has therefore commenced the subject by taking up the great discoveries of Volta and his contemporaries that really furnish the basis of modern electricity. Up to about the beginning of the present century, there was no available way of getting electrical energy in sufficient quantity to utilize for anything more than small experiments. With the invention of the Voltaic pile and the voltaic battery, clearly described and illustrated in Dr. Bell's first paper, in The Electrical World of September 5th, the scientific world was put in possession of a source of electricity considerable enough to encourage practical applications.
The author of these papers is evidently one who believes in experimental methods, for in intimate connection with the statements of facts may be found carefully selected experiments, with the working details clearly given, so that they can be readily performed even by those of no previous experience or acquaintance with electrical matters. The articles are well illustrated and give promise of filling a gap that has heretofore existed between popular and rather vague elementary books and more scientific and forbiddingly mathematical treatises. All classes of intelligent readers can follow the subject as Dr. Bell treats it, and doubtless many a young man will find these articles the starting point in his electrical education. The Electrical World is the pioneer American journal of its class, and the largest in the world.
The subscription is $3 a year, which includes postage. Newsdealers supply it at an expense of 10 cents a week. The publishers are the W. J. Johnston Company, LL, 167-177 Times Building, New York.
The articles by Dr. Bell will run for several months. Those subscribing now will have the series complete.

News of the World.
The London Standard's correspondent at Constantinople attributes the change of ministry to the Sultan's suspicion of a plot to take his life, which led to the dismissal and arrest of several officials.
The London Post's Berlin correspondent says it is reported that Count Kalnoky, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, views the Daruanelles incident with gravity, and has proposed the sending of a joint European note to the Porte.
The Dublin Freeman's Journal says the wheat crops in some of the western districts of Ireland are, owing to recent rainy weather, "only fit for litter." Potatoes are getting black, and the blight is general.
Barley and oats are rotting.
London cable advices to the San Francisco Merchants' Exchange reported the total destruction by fire of the British steel ship Carr Rook, owned in Glasgow and bound from Dundee to San Francisco with 2,500 tons of Scottish splint coal. The crew are said to have been saved.
