THE FALL TRAIN ARRANGEMENTS.

The West protests vigorously though its local organ L'Impartial against what it is pleased to designate the "notoriously unjust" schedule recently adopted by our railway authorities. Our spirited contemporary clearly announces its grievances.

(1) No facilities for doing business here daily and returning west.

(2) No means of getting to and from the boat and enjoying the advantage of leaving the Island and returning daily as well as receiving the mails as promptly as possible.

(3) The enforced use of an express train which is of no advantage to the west, but simply sent through as a matter of form after serving eastern purposes.

(4) The loss of the eastern connection at Royalty Junction.

These are a few of the west's objections. They seem to be well taken. The makers of the time table evidently did not give much consideration to this large section of the province. And L'Impartial rightly reproaches its representative at Ottawa for allowing western interests to be thus betrayed and sacrificed. L'Impartial very justly remarks that if it were necessary at all at present to change the splendid summer arrangement which gave the Province east and west twenty-four hour connection with Montreal and Boston and mails fresh upon our breakfast table, why not maintain the principle the late schedule invoked and run the express train to and from the boat for the convenience of passengers and prompt conveyance of mails? And why was the freight train not so arranged as to run through to this city daily from Tignish? We frankly confess that we can see no reason why not. Perhaps the railway authorities can. If they have good reasons they should make them known.

L'Impartial gives a trying case in connection with this arrangement. A Tignish man had fifteen minutes work with the banks in Charlottetown on Monday last, which required personal attention. He was obliged to leave Tignish by the express at two o'clock on Saturday, spend Sunday and Monday in this city and return by Tuesday's express, reaching Tignish at one o'clock that day,—seventy-one hours absence to do fifteen minutes business!

We unhesitatingly affirm that this treatment of the west is unjust and unfair, and raise our voice willingly with our contemporary in behalf of fairplay and progress. A hundred years back such a time card drags us, and that without rhyme or reason. And this is grit progress!

JOBGING IN BRIDGES.

The roads and bridges which ought to be in perfect order now for marketing the crops are under Liberal incompetency in many cases disgraceful. Contracts let to Tories as the lowest bidders early enough to have the work done this season have been unjustly cancelled and others made at the last moment to suit the jobbers in office. The great new bridge over the Kildare, known as the "Father Burke Bridge," is now all torn up to the infinite hardship of the people who use it. This bridge which was sold to Richard Keefe, a most competent man and a good Tory, in July, has lately fallen into other hands, and there will be more than prayers said for Commissioner McLean by many a poor shipwrecked wayfarer this fall as he passes over it.

—The Woonsocket, R. I., Call, which is read by many French-Canadians in that city, thus comments on the Tarte-Grenier case: That libel suit in Montreal which "threatened to disrupt the liberal party" will do nothing of the kind. Mr. Tarte's personal matters are not of enough importance to accomplish that. He is a political jobber of not enough stability to disrupt anything but himself.

The Schools Visited—Addresses Presented—Dinner at the Clifton.

Summerside extended to Lord and Lady Aberdeen a right royal welcome yesterday. The weather was most delightful, the public buildings and places of business decorated with bunting, and the citizens in holiday attire.

The special train bearing their Excellencies and party arrived from Charlottetown about two o'clock, having made the run in excellent time. At the station the distinguished visitors were met by Mr. Hunt and the Town Council, and a large number of the people of both town and country, and given a right royal welcome.

As the Vice Regal party alighted from the train the band played the National Anthem and a procession was formed, headed by the carriage in which were their Excellencies Lord and Lady Aberdeen, followed by the Mayor and Council and citizens generally.

The High School was first visited. The entrances to the school were tastefully decorated with flowers and maple leaves, and between the gates of the building the pupils were drawn up in two lines, and as the visitors passed through they sang "The Maple Leaf Forever." Several departments of the school were visited, and in each His Excellency spoke briefly to the pupils. The teachers and a number of the pupils were formally presented to their Excellencies and after singing "God Save the Queen" the distinguished visitors proceeded to the Convent where they were most heartily welcomed and a well-worded address was read by Miss Sara Strong, to which His Excellency made a suitable reply.

Their Excellencies then repaired to the Town Hall, which was packed to the doors. Richard Hunt, Esq., Chairman of the Town Council, presided, and presented the address from that Board. His Excellency replied at considerable length. An address from the W. C. T. U. was also presented to the Countess of Aberdeen, to which Her Excellency fittingly replied. Then came the reception, and a large number of people were presented. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The distinguished visitors were then entertained at luncheon at the Clifton House. Among those sitting around the board were His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Howland, Sir Louis Davies, Richard Hunt, Esq., Hon. F. Peers, Hon. William Richards and about forty other ladies and gentlemen. Toasts were drunk and speeches made after the inner man and woman had been satisfied, and all were well pleased with the proceedings.

At half past four the distinguished visitors left by the Northumberland for the mainland followed by three ringing cheers from the great number of people on the wharf.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—An Ottawa despatch says the post office department is engaged at present in taking a census of newspapers mailed at different offices under the statutory privilege of free transmission to subscribers. It foreshadows a reimpotion of newspaper postage.

—According to an exchange the row over the lieutenant governorship of Quebec is growing worse. The Langelier crowd have succeeded in making it a Tarte and anti-Tarte battle, and in this way they have secured support from quarters that would otherwise have been neutral. Tarte on the other hand is making a hard fight, as he is afraid that if he is beaten by the Langeliers in this matter, they will be encouraged to resume their demand for his removal from the government. In the meantime Sir Wilfrid cannot get a quorum of his colleagues together to even talk the matter over. Those of them that are not already away are trying to get away.
