Conservatives

a recount reversed the decision. The election was then voided by the Nova Scotia Supreme Court because of voting irregularities.

The standing in the legislature before the by-elections: Liberals 20, Progressive Conservatives 12, CCF two and three vacancies.

The by-elections were fought with more than usual vigor because of the slim majority the Liberals would have had if Progressive Conservatives swept all three seats.

It was also considered a test of the leadership of Premier Henry Hicks, named party leader and premier in September to replace Mr. MacDonald who died in April.

Premier Henry Hicks said he had hoped to capture all three seats but I guess we can't be too greedy.

"It will now be up to the government," he said, "to show that we merit the support of the people of the province and when we go to the electors again we will not only maintain at least a two out of three ratio of wins, but will win back Halifax South."

Local Legion Will Sponsor Blood Clinic

Members of the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion, headed by the president, Mr. Stanley Bryant, met with members of the Red Cross blood committee at Red Cross headquarters last evening to discuss plans for the clinic to be sponsored by the Canadian Legion in their "Clover Club" on Wednesday and Thursday, December 8th and 9th.

The Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion is very conscious of the great need there is for donors to maintain the free Red Cross blood transfusion service and offered to place the Clover Club at the disposal of the Red Cross for these clinics and provide workers to assist. The Ladies' Auxiliary was represented at last evening's meeting by Mrs. Lily M. Corrigan, president of this energetic organization whose members, graciously offered to supply refreshments for the donors, and workers to look after this phase of the clinic.

Many good suggestions for the recruitment of donors were discussed and will be carried out previous to these clinics. Mr. Bryant agreed to write all members of the Charlottetown Branch, Canadian Legion, to urge them to take an active part in securing donors. He also promised to talk this very important project up to any organization that may meet in the Canadian Legion within the next three weeks.

Red Cross officials feel that such enthusiasm as that displayed by the Charlottetown Branch of the Canadian Legion, and its Ladies' Auxiliary, augurs well for the success of the December blood donor clinics which must produce at least 1200 donors in order to cancel the present debt of over 600 bottles and provide for future needs.

PEI Woodsmen Leave For Camp Gagetown

More than twenty Islanders have passed through the National Employment Office in Charlottetown during the past ten days, enroute to Camp Gagetown, the large new Canadian Army training base in New Brunswick.

All of the men are woodsmen who will work with various companies, which have contracts for clearing sections of the heavily wooded camp site. Clearing operations have gone on steadily since work on the training ground commenced more than a year ago.

Woodsmen are being paid either at an hourly rate, or by the acre cleared. Those working by the acre are paid additional money for all usable pulp wood, and lumber cut. The men pay their own transportation costs to and from Gagetown.

Carpenters and other tradesmen seem in good supply in New Brunswick, and no Islanders are being recruited for the extensive construction work which is underway at the new military base.

A network of roads is being built while the many camp buildings are being erected, and many men have been employed on these highways throughout the summer.

The timber clearing operations now in progress will continue during the winter.

and a sympathetic hearing from the government.

Mr. Harris observed that the federal sales and excise taxes on widely-used commodities, such as cars, radios and television sets, add up to 25 per cent of the manufacturer's price. On other items, such as toilet preparations, jewelry, candy and soft drinks, tires and tubes, they add up to 20 per cent.

Sales and excise taxes had an important place in any well-balanced tax system, but "the rates should not be out of line with reasonableness."

DECEPTIVE LAW

On his first look over the tax system he found it "awfully large" and filled with complexities and containing a "very deceptive law."

But what amazed him most was that Canadians allow the federal and other governments to "take away" from them nearly one-third of their incomes.

"This is a situation worth pondering," he said, "it is, of course, true that defence expenditure bulks large in the total but even so, the figures do reflect an amazing propensity on the part of Canadians to allow or demand interference in their everyday affairs by governments."

"At the moment I am not assessing either approval or condemnation. I am merely stating the fact that I find the situation remarkable."

BOUNTIFUL MILK PRODUCTION POSES PROBLEM FOR P. E. ISLAND DAIRYMEN

By GERALD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prince Edward Island is a land flowing with so much milk that it's a problem what to do with it. Healthy islanders drink lots of it and use a lot of butter and cheese, but 98,000 people can't keep up with 48,000 good dairy cows. The cows have such a long lead-in fact, that at the end of September there was an Island surplus of 1,412,000 pounds of butter—about a quarter of the yearly production.

H. J. MacDonald, dairy superintendent of the Agriculture Department, admits the situation is causing concern. If federal subsidies on surplus butter ceased the whole price structure of the $5,000,000 dairy industry could be toppled.

STILL ON INCREASE

Nova Scotians buy half of all the butter produced in Prince Edward Island, and New Brunswick is another big market. Some is shipped to the rest of Canada and to the United States, but demand just doesn't keep up with supply.

The cows, feeding on rich grass of a wet summer, shot butter production up 12 per cent. In the first nine months of the year 4,822,000 pounds of butter were produced, about 500,000 pounds more than in the same period last year.

And from the total milk production of 93,000,000 pounds, 300,000 pounds of cheese and 120,000 gallons of ice cream were manufactured.

What's the answer to the surplus production? Mr. MacDonald says it could be canned milk. If it could reach a wide enough market it would go up most of the milk now going into butter stockpiles. Only one company on the Island, at Charlottetown, now cans milk. It is selling well here and getting a foothold in Nova Scotia.

Nearly 10,000 of Prince Edward Island's farmers are dairymen on one scale or another. They are gradually swinging into the system of strict selection and borrowed breeders that made the Island's pig herd the best in Canada.

The government is trying to convince farmers that with proper feed, cattle can be made to keep up top production all year around. At present it falls off during the winter.

Farmers are aiming for herds that consistently produce six pounds of butterfat per 100 pounds of milk. The present average is less than five pounds.

Mr. Murtagh came to Ottawa over six years ago and laid his first Remembrance wreath in November 1949. "As long as I will be away from Charlottetown, I will be happy to pay tribute to my fellow Islanders on Remembrance Day," stated the ex-airman.

Honors Island War Dead At Ottawa

A former Prince Edward Islander who served with the R. C. A. F., in the last war, Gerald P. (Gerry) Murtagh, now a Civil Servant at Dominion Bureau of Statistics, was among those who laid wreaths at the base of the National War Memorial in Ottawa at the annual Remembrance Day exercises on Thursday.

A member of the Charlottetown Branch, Canadian Legion, Mr. Murtagh presented a V. E. wreath "in remembrance of the young men from his native Province, Prince Edward Island, who so gallantly and willingly made the supreme sacrifice and who brought honour and glory to this Dominion of ours and to their native land in which they had lived."
