United Nations, has three main aims: 1. To boost the world sugar market. 2. To impose export quotas sharing out this market among sugar producers. 3. To fix a sugar price adequate to maintain fair labor standards in the sugar industry. The Cuban statement said the 2,200,000 tons quota suggested for Cuba by the conference's quota committee is below the average Cuban exports of the last three years. It said the Cuban government had already cut the 1953 crop by 33 per cent to 5,000,000 tons and added: "This restriction means drastic curtailment of employment and destruction of investments made in cane plantations."
