

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

DECEMBER 19, 1896.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

When the petition against the return of Dr. Roddick, M. P. for the St. Albert Division of Montreal, came up for trial the petitioner stated that he had no evidence to offer. Just so. Dr. Roddick is a Conservative.

It is reported in some American papers that Miss Frances Willard has received from President McKinley a promise that the intoxicating bowl shall follow Mr. Cleveland out of the White House and continue absent for at least four years.

The Guardian, which yesterday morning attempted to set off the language of a correspondent of THE EXAMINER against its editorial in the number of the School Board, declares this morning that it "did not impute its contents" i. e. the contents of the letter in THE EXAMINER "to the Guardian." The Guardian delivered a foul blow and wants the public to believe that it didn't.

The Guardian is on the right track in regard to a free postal delivery. Charlotte-town ought to have had a free postal delivery long ago. THE EXAMINER has repeatedly called for it, without avail. Perhaps our contemporary—who has lately been so busy congratulating the members of the School Board—will be successful in persuading the new Government to give us a Free Postal Delivery.

The report of Dr. L. E. Neve Foster, official mineralogist, brings England face to face with the fact of possible coal exhaustion. He says that the supply will not stand a yearly increase of 3-1/2 per cent. in the output, and that signs of decline probably will become apparent within a lifetime. Prof. Neve's estimate was that a century of the present rate of production would exhaust English mines to a depth of 4,000 feet, which is 1,500 deeper than the deepest mine. This is an old story revived.

Mail and Empire: Mr. Laurier told us the Minister of Justice and the Solicitor-General would attend to all of the Government law business when he came to office. This promise is altogether forgotten. The Minister of Justice and the Solicitor-General are doing nothing of the kind. As the pledge is unfulfilled there need be no wonder that law cases are given to Liberal lawyers to conduct. But while this may be fair enough partnership is being carried to excess, or the demand for spoils is leading the Administration a trifle too far, when in unsettled cases it deliberately changes its counsel, merely that one of the faithful may get something out of the treasury. The other day, in the Superior Court at Quebec, Mr. de Guise, a young Liberal lawyer, moved that he be substituted as Government attorney for Mr. Lavery, who had been arguing the case so far. Chief Justice Casantré granted the motion, but characterized it as an insult to both bench and bar, adding that in this country "politics spoils everything." Sir O. Carter, who manipulates matters of this nature, seems to be more anxious to feed his friends than to protect the interests of the people.

NEWS NOTES.

The Earl of Darnley is dead. The death rate for Ottawa last year was only 17.23 per thousand.

Advices from Cuba report increased activity on the part of the insurgents. It is now pretty certain that the United States tariff will remain as it is until next autumn.

Messrs. H. and A. Allan have let a contract for the construction of a ten thousand ton freight steamer.

It is now stated that Senator Sherman will not be a member of McKinley's Cabinet. But he will be a candidate for re-election to the Senate.

W. W. Ogilvie, the Montreal miller, has donated a thousand dollars to the Winnipeg Medical Hospital, and five hundred dollars to St. Boniface Hospital.

According to advices received from Berlin, Vienna and Paris, there is no truth in the reported escape of ex-Sultan Murad from his place of confinement in Constantinople.

It is regarded as altogether likely that within the next few months the Dominion Government will float a loan of ten million dollars, or perhaps more, on the English market.

Seventy-five hardy young Americans have been recruited at Shamokin, Pa., for the purpose of going to Cuba on the next filibustering expedition and joining the patriotic army.

Mr. F. Urquhart, a Roman Catholic, has been elected to a Tutorial Fellowship at Balliol, Oxford. This is the first instance of a Roman Catholic being elected to such a position, and it is worthy of special notice that he is to be a tutor in history.

A despatch from Constantinople says the Sultan, at the request of Mgr. Ormanian, Armenian patriarch, has consented to the granting of amnesty to Armenian convicts and prisoners on condition that the patriarchal mixed council guarantee the future good behavior of those coming under amnesty.

There is discussion in the ranks of the Lady Cyclists' Association in London over the bloomer question. The "anti" faction has united against the "rational" dress club and are henceforth to have runs of their own, with a separate captain, place and time of meeting. Some of the "skirts" have refused to back to ride with wearers of "rationals." And it is a case of cherchez l'homme for prudish brothers are at the bottom of the quarrel.

The beautifully decorated window of Watson's Drug Store will give the people looking for Christmas presents an idea of the large a varied stock of useful articles of which there is an abundance within. While perfumes and handsome toilet articles are chiefly in evidence, there are many other things useful and suitable for Xmas presents. The window is well worth looking at.

DO YOU? Last year a deficit in revenue and a large increase of the national debt. This year, revenue decreasing, current expenditure increasing.

Salvages and other canal work on hand—millions.

Fast Atlantic service and cold storage plants—possibly a million.

Sifton taking off money for immigration.

Crow's Nest Pass—probably millions.

Quebec bridge, Ottawa bridge, Montreal bridge, Toronto's Dominion Exhibition, new railway scheme, etc., etc.

Do you think Mr. Laurier will reduce the tariff?—Ottawa Journal.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION ADVERTISED.

Sir,—In your columns some time ago, over the signature of "Conservative," I pointed to several of the causes which contributed to the defeat of the Conservative party in the recent Dominion elections. I referred specifically to internal dissension and want of unity as important factors endangering the progress of a party whose policy has left so favorable an impression on our Canadian institutions as to secure the endorsement of a large majority of the people in spite of a plurality of about one hundred thousand individual votes recorded by the people against the present regime, the name of the Conservative party is opposition. Here let me candidly express the opinion that unless prompt and business-like measures of amendment are put into practical operation this serious situation will continue as their duty. From every point we have the most convincing evidence of the popularity of the policy pursued by the Conservatives while in power. The "tariff commission" leaving their comfortable quarters at Ottawa on a mission to the provinces, the numerous deputations of P. LeGarde brought face to face with the sworn testimony of the people in favor of this great work of Liberal-Conservative influence. Those heavy and reckless expenditures so prevalent and hastily changed in the Government are now more than over-shadowed by the wonderfully increased appropriations of those preaching economists who have now the reins of power. Charges of corruption once committed to alarming proportions have melted into insignificance behind the shadow of the transactions of the "business" combination.

The School Question which stranded the late Government seems to have exploded like a bomb, and bids fair to bring vengeance upon those who made it their hobby-horse upon which to ride into power. With such a government as this controlling affairs, having no definite course before them, but sending expensive commissions over the country in search of a policy, our Conservative party recognizing this advantageous state of affairs should be strongly organized and prepared to enter boldly into the contest at emergency's call.

I would not advise any separation of Dominion from Provincial issues. Experience has demonstrated the incapacity of Liberalism in one case almost as much as in the other, while Conservatism is a synonym for carefulness and economy in the government of the provinces as much as in the management of Federal affairs. Therefore let Conservatives unite, and with a solid, determined organization be ready to take the reins of government wherever and whenever thrown down, and let no inch of ground go uncontested. Our friends in the larger provinces have dealt promptly with this question, and are now well prepared to meet it in this province they have been so dormant as to almost merit the charge that a fine tooth comb would not find them. If the Liberals retain power in this province, it will not be due either to their own genius or the intellectual brilliancy of the administration. If any such talent or quality ever belonged to them, it became subservient to the one-inn power, to be manipulated at will by an intellective genius of great people give them a new lease of life upon the merits of their financial record, for every chapter of the public accounts declares their condemnation. They have, however, one hope, and one only. It is in the apathy and neglect of those whose duty it is to oppose and frustrate them. Will the Conservative party continue to slumber and permit this hope to materialize. In the First District of Queen's the Liberals have been instructed to organize, instructions are usually issued from an authoritative source, and very often indicates an approaching necessity. A provincial election may be nearer at hand than some of our constant friends imagine, and they may shortly wake up and find themselves thrown unexpected and unprepared into a one-sided contest. Then of course the customary programme will be carried out, a meeting will be hastily jumbled up, resolutions passed, resolutions previously concocted in some private corner will be passed and some nominations made without having time to take into consideration the influence or political strength of the candidates proposed. In a campaign will be made with sideheads here and dissatisfaction there, and when the contest is over it will be the old story of "wonder how it occurred." This has been the experience of the past, and it is now time for the Liberal-Conservative party to profit by those lessons so practically forced upon them, and to take such steps as will ensure a more successful future. I repeat my suggestions of last summer in the form of a reorganization. Not merely the calling of a convention to elect a few officers and to endorse blindly a few resolutions, but a convention of earnest, intelligent, representative men from all parts of the province who will meet together, and seriously considering the deplorable state of provincial affairs, devote their time and their talent to the solution of the difficult political problem of the day. At this convention a system of management would be provided to complete a party of every constituency and every portion of the Province would be brought into harmony with the others, enabling all to work in concert for the common good. There, rather than through the press, financial questions could be intelligently discussed, the party policy outlined and a vigorous plan of campaign formulated. This course would be eminently more desirable than the ventilation of individual opinions in the press and at the same time less calculated to work injury to the party.

One writer comes out with the ridiculous declaration to tax the towns and interested voters jump at the conclusion that this is a feature of a conservative policy. Another would come to hand with an equally absurd proposition to make the country pay towards their public works, which story would also receive a certain amount of credence, and wily agitators are ever on the alert to take such statements and twist them to their own advantage. There is ample room for discussion in the unsatisfactory condition of things as portrayed in the blue covered books of the provinces. These should be had and been very vividly pictured in Mr. Stewart's pointed letters upon this subject. While proper methods must be pursued placing the business of the province in the hands of a few, the haphazard suggestions of no one person should be taken to supplant the conclusions arrived at by the party after mature deliberation. I have every confidence that when our conservatives meet they will find no difficulty in providing a remedy such as will receive the endorsement of the people.

A CORRECTION.

Sir,—Your correspondent "Scholar," in your issue of the 17th inst., professes to get his information from the published accounts of 1895. I have the Chief Superintendent's Report of that date before me and fail to see where some of his figures can be found there.

Under statements for West Kent he places interest on debentures (cost building) 1770.00. Report gives West Kent School building and grounds $25,628.31, which amount at 6 per cent gives for interest $1537.74. Supplement to teachers' should have been $1114.20, not $1111.20. Salaries from Government $2785.00, not $2238.00; this amount is calculated at 23 per cent of the report respecting the number of teachers and class of license. Janitor and fuel etc., $800.95; total $6,237.89, divided among 559 pupils gives per capita of $11.16, as against $11.75 by "Scholar." For Prince Street School the report gives for building $21,000 and by consulting the debenture statement we find that the debentures issued for the purchase of that building bear only 4 per cent interest, and it is well known that they sold at par. Therefore the interest charge must be 4 per cent, on $21,000 or $840, instead of $1850. Supplements to salaries $1188.10, not $1297.63; Salaries from Government $2310, not $2238.00; Janitor fuel etc., $1025.58; total $5167.68; divided among 499 pupils gives per capita of $10.36 instead of $11.90 as per "Scholar."

For Queen Square we have rent of building $850; supplement to teachers' salaries, $576.70; salaries from government, $1,455.76; total, $3,682.47; divided among 338 pupils gives a per capita of $10.76 instead of $10.42, which "Scholar" gives. He errs in number of pupils report gives 338 not 388.

This comparative statement shows that there is very little difference in the per capita cost of pupils in the three city schools. By a little calculation, on the part of your readers they will find that the cost to the city per pupil of each of the schools will stand as follows: Kent Street, $6.18, Prince Street, $6.13, Queen Square, $6.45. This demonstrates that the Board of School Trustees equalized the expenditure as fairly between the schools as could be expected, and that no persons or parties received special favors at their hands.

EQUAL RIGHTS.

Butter and Pork. Sir,—Reading your article on turnips as winter feed for cows, I might suggest a great improvement, viz: By carefully cutting off the crown the objectionable odor would be reduced to a minimum and the objectionable flavor in the butter would be done away with. The experiment is worth a trial. Store cattle would consume readily to take the place of the turnip, parsnips and carrots with the best quality of hay (free from all noxious weeds) are the best winter feed, with mangel for spring. On the Jersey Isle parsnips are indispensable for feed.

The improvement in the quality of pork on the market to-day, nice clean dressed bacon, hogs sold freely at 4 cents. Poor quality of hogs are not wanted at any price. The low prices of 3 and 3 1/2 cents has had a good effect, and I hope it will continue.

Turnips and mangolds are a valuable feed for hogs. When fed carefully with grain and as the potato crop is short, no excuse need be made for not making good quality of pork.

REDUCTIO AD ABSURDUM. Sir,—Religious men and women ought not to be permitted to teach in our public schools; because they belong to different sects; and therefore their teaching is sectarian,—absurd.

Such religious persons who have taken certain vows ought not to be permitted to teach in our public schools, even though they agree to qualify themselves and observe the conditions of the Public School Law in every particular: a clergyman, for instance, who has discovered that his vocation is not preaching cannot, upon this condition, be permitted to teach in our public schools.

Religious persons who have taken certain vows, cannot, upon this condition, be permitted to become teachers of our public schools. This is the reductio ad absurdum.

SCHOONER GENESTA ASHORE. Vessel and Cargo Likely to be a Total Loss. GRAND ETANG, C. B., Dec. 19. The schooner Genesta, from Alberton, P. E. Island, with potatoes for St. John's, Nfld., struck bottom and went ashore here at 4 a. m. yesterday, during a heavy north-west wind and snowstorm. The vessel left Alberton the previous day at noon and steered an easterly course; but the compass being spoilt it took her inshore, and the weather being heavy and thick, she struck just when the captain noticed the land. The crew were rescued at daylight by a few of the young men of the place. The vessel and cargo are liable to be a total loss, with no insurance on the same.
