A contest by Mrs. Lowell Young, stars and romance? At what age must love become practical rather than sentimental? Since when are all the thrills of dating and courtship the prerogative of youth alone? Your friend of the free advice, is, I fear, a slightly embittered misanthrope who cannot bear the sight of people having fun.

We have been regaled, in very recent years, by tales of many romances between people in their forties, fifties, and on occasion even older. Surely these lovers let no barrier of years spoil their rose-colored dreams.

Pay no attention to cynics who would embalm everyone past 20. Your young lady is entitled to have a mind full of moonlight and romance; let no one say her nay!

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 17 and like a boy who is in the army. He came over from Europe two and one-half years ago and doesn't write English very well. I wrote to him, and received letters written for him by his buddy, who has now been transferred to another camp. I would like to write to my boy friend but he thinks his English is very bad and won't write back. Should I write him anyway?

TERRY ANSWER: By all means write to your friend; tell him you would rather have letters written by himself, even though the English is not perfect. His reluctance to write in a language foreign to him is understandable, but if you can persuade him to undertake the correspondence, his command of English will soon show an improvement.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Paving Program In Montague Area Underway

Sub grading was started on the Wood Island Hill at Montague yesterday in preparation to paving. Several truck loads of gravel have been placed on the hill as the first grade, and yesterday afternoon a government surveyor was determining high and low spots for further filling. It is understood that light pavement, consisting of chips and tar, will go on the hill, and may be started in a very short time.

The provision of drainage on the hill presents some difficulty, since the heavy flow of water during the spring and heavy rains cause deep ruts in the centre of the road and in the drains. However, before actual paving begins, it is expected that these difficulties will be ironed out.

When the work of paving gets under way, it is understood that it will continue to Murray River, thus opening a heavy trading area with paved highway direct to Montague.

The experimental section to Commercial Cross, laid down several years ago, has stood up well where drainage has been good, and only in the swamp section has there been any serious breaking up. Its advantages are that it is fast to lay and relatively cheap, providing a good traffic surface over a roadway which has access to all of Southern Kings County.

Messrs. Kenneth and Wesley Fraser, North Lake, were recent business visitors to Montague.

er was won jointly by Mrs. Walter McLure and Mrs. Gregor McCullum.

Next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Walter McLure one week earlier than the regular date, roll call to be answered by each member donating 25 cents to be used for the purchased of canned meat for the adopted Institute. Collection was $340.

The hostess and committee served delicious refreshments, after which the meeting adjourned.

Montague Town Council Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Montague Town Council held last night in the council room, it was decided that the town tax notices be sent out in the near future, and that the rate of assessment remain at .80 cents.

It was felt that the financial situation was well in hand and that the money which would be brought in would be sufficient to look after public expenses for the coming year.

Present at the meeting were Mayor B. H. Yeo, and Councilors McGowan, Jamieson, Hessian, and Reynolds.

Following the minutes of the last regular meeting and the last special meeting, Mr. L. M. MacKinnon offered to turn over to the town the private sewer line running from the Montague Furnishing Co. to the shore line. The council decided that the matter would be taken under further consideration, and would decide at a later date.

It was moved that outstanding bills be paid, but several were tabled until a further meeting when they would be given further consideration.

New Harvesting Machine For Brudenell Area

A 10-foot grain harvesting combine has arrived in Montague destined for purchasers in the Brudenell area. It is a huge machine capable of cutting, threshing and fanning all in one operation. The cutting blade can be adjusted to cut from three inches to thirty-two inches high. A 10-foot swath of grain is led to the chain riser by a worm screw, after which it is threshed. The grain and straw then move to four vibrators which separate the two, the straw falling in a windrow behind the machine, and the grain falling to a collector. It is then led to the fanning section where the chaff is separated and the grain goes to the collecting bin which holds forty-five bushels. Weed seeds are also separated and collected in sacks from another compartment. When the bin is full, the delivery pipe is placed above a truck and the grain is loaded for transportation to its destination.

The combine is owned by Messrs. Alden MacLaren, Ivan MacDonald, and Ernest Robertson all of Brudenell. Mr. Robertson will operate the machine as it used on each farm. The owners expect great things from it, and expect it to cut the work by half during the grain harvesting season.
