MPs Of Government's Party Seen With Little Influence

By DENNIS ORCHARD OTTAWA (CP) - Government MPs have little influence on policy and little hope of exerting more, delegates concluded in debate at the Liberal party's national policy conference.

Oshawa delegate Gordon Dryan said voters "treat our candidates with a considerable amount of scorn."

But the workshop on Parliament nevertheless sent on to a full policy session recommendations for steps to:

1. Preserve caucus secrecy and elect caucus chairmen by secret ballot.

2. Improve parliamentary procedure.

3. Broaden the powers of parliamentary committees to inquire into government activities.

George McRith, government House leader, said he would like to see the Liberal caucus still debate. MPs hold back their views on policy and cabinet ministers do not want to have their souls on the problems they face.

Taxi Driver Gets Award

TORONTO (CP) - John Kwan, a taxi driver who was shot twice while helping police, has been told that his bravery has earned him a cab owner's licence.

The Metropolitan Toronto licensing commission moved Mr. Kwan ahead of 500 applicants to reward him with the licence which would be worth between $3,000 and $4,000 if he wishes to sell it.

Mr. Kwan was shot after a woman hopped into his cab Sept. 15 and ordered him to speed away from pursuing police who wanted her in connection with a shooting outside a Toronto tavern.

During the chase the woman shot him in the leg and put a bullet through his two-way radio. Near the end of the chase Mr. Kwan saw in his rear-view mirror the woman aiming at policemen coming behind in a cruiser.

He lunged with one hand and was wounded in the head when the gun fired. His thumb jammed in the trigger guard and no more shots were fired.
