ANCHORS WIN IN TWELVE INNINGS FROM STARS

McQuarrie's Booming Triple Send Eastend Team Down To Second Straight Defeat 8-7

A booming triple from the bat of McQuarrie in the first half of the seventh inning that drove the Ryan who had singled with one out, across the plate all the way from first base, yesterday gave the West End Anchors an 8-7 victory over the Eastern Stars in the second game of the City Baseball League and pushed the West End team into a tie for first place with the Rovers.

With errors playing a major part in the scoring by both teams—only three of the 15 runs scored were earned with the Anchors getting the odd one—Stars, in losing their second decision and playing minus the services of two of their key players were trailing their opponents right up to the last half of the seventh frame until Ivan Harper's smashing double to deep centre-field, with McQuarrie donning the plate, he himself scoring seconds later to knot the count at 7—all when the hard hit ball rolled past the Anchor centre-fielder.

From then until the first of the seventh it was a scoreless hurling duel between McAleer of the Anchors, who had relieved Ayers in the sixth, and young Smith of the Stars who was drafted into the lineup from the spectators when Stars hurlers were unable to start. Smith responded to the quick call by going the route in impressive fashion. But the winners, after being turned back in the first of the tenth as they placed men on first and second with one down, came through on their second chance when McQuarrie donning the hero's mantle as he picked out a pitch with the count 2 and 3 to drive the sphere far over Mahar's head in right field.

McAleer, after a shaky start in his relieving job, steadied after his opponents' four-run blast in the seventh to hold the Stars away from the plate in the last five seasons, facing but 12 men in the last four innings. Ayers looked good on his first appearance of the season as he gave up but 3 runs and four hits in his five inning job on the hill. Smith was unimpressive all the way and but for some bad support and poor hitting behind him might have emerged with a win.

Cooperstown Prepares For All Star Tilt

(By ROBERT C. McCORMICK Associated Press Sports Writer)

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., June 11 (AP)—They've added sentimental value to the aged world series atmosphere for the 100th anniversary celebration of baseball.

With all its living members of baseball's Hall of Fame on hand for the exercises, the game itself will celebrate tomorrow with dedication of its national shrine, the Baseball Museum, Hall of Fame and Doubleday Field, once a pasture where the genesis of modern day baseball first was played.

In honor of Major General Abner Doubleday who, historians say, first made a team game out of the individual contest that was baseball before 1839, Cooperstown has become for the day at least, the capitol of the game.

Flags and bunting grace each street in the little leather-stocking country town of 3,000 and the residents joined baseball's immortals in hoping for clear weather and a capacity crowd of nearly 10,000.

Topping the list of visitors, which includes representatives of every Major League team, will be Judge Keneaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball; John A. Heydler, National League executive and former loop president; Ford C. Frick, National League President; William Hurridge, American League Head, and Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Present day Major League representatives will take the field and play regulation game similar to that seen in every big league ballgame today. Hall of Fame's Eddie Collins and Wagner will toss a couple of balls to the crowd, and choose sides for the contest.

Living members of the Hall of Fame in addition to Collins and Wagner will act as board of strategy of both sides. They are: Cy Cobb, Tris Speaker, Babe Ruth, Walter Johnson, Grover Cleveland Alexander, George Sisler, Connie Mack, Cy Young and Napoleon Lajoie.

Leslie And Graham In Fine Shape

When George Leslie of Souris steps out of his corner at the Sporting Club Wednesday night next to face George Graham of Murray Harbor he will be attempting to recapture the Island heavyweight title for the third time in the past three years. Twice in the past Leslie has held the crown, becoming champion when he beat Bennie Binns; lost it to Jim Evans only to regain it from Evans at Kensington, and then lost it again to the man he faces Wednesday night. Leslie has already been defeated by Graham in an attempt to regain the championship but this time he feels confident of being able to crack the link of the Murray Harbor battler holds over him.

Leslie will again enter the ring in perfect condition after a winter of boxing; but in the person of Graham he will be faced by a fighter who also lays much stress on physical condition. Graham is usually always in shape and will take a lot of beating before relinquishing the crown.

Wednesday's fight should shape up in the same manner as the two previous scraps between the pair. On both occasions they just stood toe to toe and slugged it out; the first time Graham won on a knockout in the sixth after Leslie had absorbed a lot of punishment. The next time out Leslie went the distance although losing the decision. Leslie looked a lot better on that occasion and who knows but Wednesday night he might once again regain the title.

The remainder of the card looks like a slugfest. Making up the semi-final, another ten-rounder, is Jimmy Mooney of Peakes and Danny Mullins of St. Peter's, two scrappers who fight it out all the way.

Bomber Shepherd meets a hard-hitting youngster in Danny McLeod of Wellington, while winding up the show the fans will see Ed Claybourne go against the much talked of mid-slinger from Morell, Frankie McEachern.

Horne Wins Golf Title

MONTRÉAL, June 11.—(CP)—Shooting two-over-par 72 on the tricky Beaconsfield course here today, Stan Horne of Montreal Is-jemere captured the Quebec Spring Golf championship in a playoff with Bobby Alston of Ottawa Chaudiere, winner for the past three years, who finished with a 73.

Wood And Nelson Meet In Second Playoff Round Today For Open Crown

(By BILL BONI Associated Press Sports Writer)

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—(AP)—Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., who has been dogged by varying kinds of misfortune through most of his golfing career, stood on the 18th tee of the Philadelphia Country Club's spring mill course today with the 43rd United States Open Golf Championship virtually his and then saw hard luck force him into a second playoff round.

The 37-year-old veteran had played 17 holes in the face of a stiff breeze, in one under par. He had a one stroke lead over Byron Nelson, who was still jittery after three putts in the 17th, and Denny Shute was too far behind to figure further in this three way play-off.

But before Wood had finished playing the 558-yard home hole—the one on which Sam Snead, the Canadian Open Champion took eight blows yesterday—Craig hit a screaming brassie second shot that felled a spectator; Nelson had a chipped stiff seven feet from the pin and held his putt for a birdie four. And Wood, a good foot inside Nelson with his chip, had left his winning putt eight inches short of the can. He finished with a five for a one-under-par 68, and sent the title into another 18 hole play off.

The second round, with Shute out of it after taking a 76, will start at 10:30 A.M. A.D.T. tomorrow.

If that booming brassie of Wood's had been a good one, then that it struck one of the 5,000 galleries might have been the accident that cost Craig the championship. Actually, it may have saved him another shot at it, for Wood, one of the game's longest hitters, apparently had made a mistake in judgment of distance and the ball was headed for trouble. Instead, it hit Bob Mossman of Ardmore, Pa., above the right temple and dropped him unconscious. Wood's ball caromed a good 40 feet into the middle of the fairway, 15 yards short of the green.

It was the third time in the history of the Open that one round had not sufficed to decide a play-off. Willie MacFarlane had to go two 18 hole stretches to beat Bobby Jones in 1925, and Billy Burke had to play two sets of 36 holes each to edge out George Von Elm for the title in 1931.

U. S. Retains Polo Trophy

WESTBURY, N. Y., June 11.—(CP)—Decisively outplaying their rivals in the closing chukker, the United States today won the Westchester cup international polo series by defeating Great Britain 9-4.

It was the second straight victory and reduced next Sunday's game to the status of an exhibition. The United States won last Sunday 11-7.

Britain's challenge, three years in preparation and opened with great confidence, fell on the rock of Tommy Hitchcock's inspired play and a great offensive and defensive exhibition by the whole United States team.

Good Time And Distances Made In P. W. C. Track Meet Held On Saturday

Staging of the first Prince of Wales College track meet took place at the Exhibition Grounds Saturday afternoon. Only a fair crowd of spectators, made up for the most part of Prince of Wales students, saw the competitors stage close finishes in every event, with times being very good considering the small amount of training and the condition under which the events were run off.

Outstanding performer of the meet was Gordon Bell, who walked off with three first places, capturing the two dash events and the running broad jump, in addition to times being very good in the high jump. W. Mayne was the runner up for the points total placing second to Bell in the 100 and 220 and capturing the 440 yard run.

Miss C. Denny had too much speed for the field as she raced away with the 150 and 100 yard dashes.

Following is the result of the events:

100 YARDS DASH

1. G. Bell, 2. W. Mayne, 3. A. Roberts. Time: 11 1-5 seconds.
