

SIGNIFICANT ADDRESS.

The Toronto Globe advises Grits to select their candidates! This is sufficiently significant.

We advise the Liberal Conservatives, of this Province, to organize and prepare.

"HOW MACKENZIE DELUDES HIMSELF AND THE PEOPLE OF ONTARIO."

The Premier is "an honorable man"; and therefore we assume that he was in earnest, when at Orangeville, Ontario, he expressed his confidence that the present Government possessed the whole-hearted sympathy of the great mass of the country.

Here is a chance for some of our sporting men! A wager with the Premier of Canada!! We wonder how much the Honorable gentleman is willing to wager that not "even a single Conservative will be elected in Prince Edward Island at the next election."

MOUNT STEWART ITEMS.

THE TIDAL WAVE—RUNAWAY RASCAL.

[By our own Correspondent.]

MOUNT STEWART, Sept. 22. Between Hickey's Wharf and Hillsborough Head over five hundred stacks of marsh hay were carried away by to-day's tide; some of it may be recovered, but it is useless except for manure.

A young man named Henry G. Ward, belonging to New Brunswick, who has been employed around Mount Stewart for several years, left for parts unknown on Sunday last, taking with several suits of clothing and other goods which he had purchased on credit at different stores the previous evening.

SOURIS NOTES.

[From our occasional correspondent.]

The Souris Grammar School which was undergoing repairs, was re-opened a few days ago, and is taught by Mr. Timothy Macdonald.

The storm of the 22d was felt very much here. The tide rose to a greater height than was known for years. It rose to the top of the Souris Breakwater. Part of the Railway leading to the harbor freight house was carried off a distance of twenty yards from its former location.

The Ada R., owned by Messrs. Matthew, McLean & Hertz, Hutchinson, master, arrived from Barbadoes on the 21st, laden with sugar, molasses, &c. The roof of the new Convent has had a coating of paint lately, which adds considerably to its beauty.

New stores opened and just opening—McDonald, McDonald & Co., W. Gregory & Co., Dr. Ford, Medical Hall.

Knigh, Son & Co., are doing a rushing business in the mackerel line—success to the fishing, and speed to the plough.

Our regular correspondent writes:—There was a very heavy gale here on Saturday and all night. Some 30 fishing vessels were lying along the north or inside of the Breakwater.

A part of the abutment of the bridge across the Souris River has been washed away. A part of the road along between L. Kickham's and Mrs. McQuaid's, has been washed away.

A great number of boats along the southern side have been swept off with the great under-tow.

There was near being an accident here. Two gentlemen belonging to Souris were away shooting curlew, on the north side of the island.

One gun went off, the shot passing under the arm of the driver and through the back of the buggy. The sportsman now offers the gun for sale. No danger to the curlew. Our sportsman has left off the sport of killing.

At the Stipendiary Magistrate's Court yesterday morning, James Praught was fined $3 and costs or fourteen days for being drunk and incapable.

Michael Carahar and Archibald Power appeared for discharging firearms on the street; this case is postponed till Wednesday for evidence.

bravest and the best; times when the world "awoke to find itself Arian"; times, when a monarch was murdered and the liturgy proscribed; times, when the church seemed paralysed. We live amidst happier omens, in the liberty of an extending and progressive church, and unless we forsake God, God will not forsake us.

To me, the greatest consolation is my unalterable conviction that this is God's Church which I serve. This Church I loved as a boy. I revered as a priest, and have now grown grey in her service as a bishop. The records of history, the experience of her daily teaching, the manifest blessing of God in her missionary work, at home and abroad, bring home this conviction to my heart.

O, my brethren, if "the time will come when three words uttered in charity and meekness shall receive a more blessed reward than those thousand volumes written with disdainful sharpness of wit," be mindful of the loving patriarch's precept: "See that ye fall not out by the way." Bishops, priests and laymen, have you not the strongest bonds of charity that can bind souls together for time and eternity? This consolation in Christ, this fellowship of the Spirit, these bowels and mercies, shall they not lead you to fulfill His joy, who has bought you with His blood?

CITY COUNCIL.

A meeting was held last evening. Present: His Worship the Mayor, Councillors Peake, Harris, Crabbe, Davy, Hertz, Hooper, Quirk, Byrne, Morris.

The Mayor reported that, acting under instructions, he had placed at the disposal of Mr. Douglass, the Contractor, a number of teams and men to prepare Lower Water Street for stoning forthwith.

The Mayor also said that in accordance with arrangements made with a Mr. Meikle, by which he had agreed to put stone on the streets for 25 cents per yard, which would be brought in by rail for 25 cents per ton, he had directed a small lot to be obtained.

Councillor Crabbe, Chairman of the Market Committee, presented a report in which it was suggested—

1st. That John Hatch immediately vacate the apartments occupied by him in the Market House.

2nd. That all other persons living in the Market House leave it as soon as their term of tenancy expires.

3rd. That the room now used as a Market Hall be in future used as a market for vegetables, etc., and that the lower market be entirely given up to the butchers.

4th. That the hay market be removed to the jail square.

The report was laid upon the table.

The Mayor read a letter from the Stipendiary Magistrate, by which the Council was notified that Policeman McCabe was dismissed the force. He also read a letter from McCabe, requesting a certificate of character, etc. Ordered that the request be complied with.

Upon the presentation of an account from Mr. Gordon for saving plank during the storm on the morning of Saturday last, an irregular conversation took place.

The City Surveyor was asked to explain. He said he did not think more than four planks had been lost. He had, he said, done his best to save the plank.

Mr. Gordon, who was present, said that he had saved 173 planks.

The Mayor, Councillors Quirk, Morris, Byrne and others, agreed in commending the conduct of Mr. Gordon and in censuring the conduct of the City Surveyor.

The bill was ordered to be paid.

A number of accounts passed by the Finance Committee were ordered to be paid. An account of Messrs. Bremner Bros., certified by J. J. O'Reilly, but not passed by the Financial Committee on account of an erasure and falsification subsequent to its presentation—besides other irregularities—was held over for the present.

Ordered, That the Police Committee issue tenders for winter clothing for the Police Force.

Reports of the City Engineer, relative to repairs to several streets, were referred to the Street Committee.

Council adjourned to meet this evening.

A meeting of the members of the Caledonia Club will be held this evening at the St. Lawrence Hotel, at 7.30 p. m. A full attendance is requested, as the nomination of officers for the ensuing year will take place.

consideration in times past, and that the entire neglect of ritual has led many clergy and many congregations into extreme and most lamentable irreverence, no breach of Christian love need be made between those who, from long disuse, are slow to perceive any need of change, and those who, from keen perception of the evils of disuse, have set themselves (it may be thought not always discreetly) to reform what is amiss, according to the rules which they have promised to obey. It is the character of all reforms to elicit differences of thought and action, and ritual is simply no exception to the general rule. This matter should, in my view, be dealt tenderly with on both sides. If those who call themselves Evangelical—a title I should refuse to accord to them in such a way as to exclude others from faithfully preaching the gospel of Christ—if those who are called, or call themselves High Churchmen, and those who suppose themselves to be men of broader sympathies than their brethren, can work together in the same church for the common weal, in Synods, in Conferences, in Congresses, at Considerations and Holy Communion, why should the Ritualist be excluded? Why should he have a special scourge invented for his peculiar benefit, called by one of the many ironies of life fatherly correction? Do not under take to justify any rude and uncharitable expressions used in haste and anger towards those whose age, station, authority in the church demand respect, but I make great allowance for the feelings of men who, thoroughly in earnest themselves, devoted to hard and often painful work, seek to attract and to Christianize rude and half-heathen populations, and having succeeded in this arduous task, are made up congregations of most unpromising materials, who are devoutly attached to their pastors, and delight in a service in which they can all join, and themselves prosecuted by people who send spies to watch, not to worship, in their churches, and are brought under the lash of a law which scarcely any of the bishops themselves perfectly obey, and notoriously, those bishops who put the law in operation obey it the least. It has been the wisdom and the glory of the Church of England, that it is a tolerant church. This spirit has been deemed unfaithful by those who would bind men to a hard and fast line, and by the severest penalties prohibit any man from pissing it. But the same tolerant spirit has attracted far more than it repelled. In matters of faith the church is more stringent, knowing from history, the subtlety of unbelief, in matters of ritual, she allows for diversities of feeling and expression. This liberty is accorded to Every Body in the church save one. Men of every shade of opinion, and of practice, are tolerated, are welcomed, are rewarded, but this one Body which numbers in its ranks some of the most holy and self-denying of our priests, some of the most learned of our liturgists, some of the most liberal, loyal and spiritual of our laymen, is denounced. The law "with lime twisset to catch their winged souls," only seems framed to crush them, or to drive them (if possible) into the arms of another Communion to which they most properly refuse to go. May not they, without any breach of charity, exclaim to their persecutors, "Yet none of you keepeth the law." I have a strong conviction that if a wholly different course had been pursued, if the trusted leaders of the Ritualists, priests and laymen, had been summoned to meet the Bishops in friendly conference, after solemn prayer for the gentle wisdom of the Holy Ghost, with Holy Communion, and these men had been asked to state their reasons, and their difficulties, and their wishes, and the Bishops had patiently heard all, and as patiently replied, and that then both parties had considered how practically to meet the difficulty, and to keep on friendly terms, I feel very hopeful that "God would have revealed even this unto us," and a way would have been found for the tolerance of some things deemed by them essential, and the abandonment of others as idiosyncrasies, or eccentricities of hasty, impatient minds.

And if some customs had been tolerated, which are held up to public odium who would have been the losers? Not the Church, which would have been commended for its fatherly wisdom, and the increase of it; not the Bishops, who would have saved all their law suits, and useless expenses, and all the distrust, and fear with which many now regard them, who are their natural friends, and ought to love them; not the Evangelical body, who would have been saved all the hard speeches and repulsals of those who think they are injured by them; not the Broad Churchmen, who profess to look on such proceedings from so lofty an eminence that they can afford to treat them with contempt; not the State, which has gained no strength, and won no loyal regard by prosecution. No! the devil and his angels are the only beings who have gained anything, for he who gnashes his teeth with rage, when he sees us all loving and united, now laughs with fiendish joy when he beholds us torn and bleeding with continual dissension. The lesson which I draw from a long, anxious and attentive consideration of these grave dangers, of which no one can see the end, is not to follow the example set us by an established Church in one that is not established, at all events, not established in the same sense. In our condition, to attempt to force every man into the same narrow groove, according to decisions which have been declared by one of the highest legal authorities, to appear even to legal minds, inconsistent with each other, and which not one Bishop in Canada has yet entirely complied with, would be little less than an act of insanity, and it would be better, it appears to me, to wait till men's minds are more calm, and can look on matters in dispute with more knowledge, toleration and judgment.

Having said so much on our dangers, there is little time to speak on the consolation which God mercifully allows us in this distracted condition of things at home. Surely if we read history aright, there have been worse times than these, times when the flames of persecution carried off the
