

Why He Reformed.

There was a drunkard in an Arkansas town who became a sober man through a kind Providence granting him what Burns longed for:

"Oh, wal some power the gift ie gie us, To see ourselves as ithers see us!"

One day several acquaintances on asking him to drink, were surprised to hear him say: "You must excuse me, gentlemen, for I can't drink anything. To their question, 'what is the matter with you?' he said:

"I'll tell you. The other day I met a party of friends. When I left them I was about half drunk. I would not have stopped at this, but my friends had to hurry away to catch a train.

"To a man of my temperament, to be half drunk is in a miserable condition, for the desire for more, is so strong that he forgets his self-respect in his efforts to get more to drink.

Failing at the saloons, I remembered that there was a half pint of whiskey at home, which had been purchased for medical purposes.

"Just before reaching the gate I heard voices in the garden, and looking over the fence I saw my little son and daughter playing. 'No, you be ma, said the boy, 'an I'll be pa.' 'Now you sit here an I'll come in drunk. Wait, now, till I fill my bottle.'

"He took a bottle, ran away, and filled it with water. Pretty soon he returned, and entering the play house nodded idiotically at his little girl, and sat down without saying anything; then the girl looked up from her work and said:

"James, why will you do this way? 'Whizzer way' he replied.

"Getting drunk."

"Who's drunk?"

"You are, an you promised when the baby died that you wouldn't drink any more. The children are almost ragged, an we haven't anything to eat hardly, but you still throw your money away. Don't you know you are breaking in my heart?"

"I hurried away. The acting was too life-like. I could think of nothing all day but those little children playing in the garden, and I vowed that I would never take another drink, and I will not, so help me God.—Arkansas Traveller.

What Our Good Boys Must Learn.

To cultivate a cheerful temper.

To choose their friends among good boys.

To learn to sew on their own buttons.

Not to tease boys or girls smaller than themselves.

To take pride in being a little gentleman at home.

To be polite and helpful to their own sisters as they are to other boy's sisters.

To treat their mother as politely as if she were a strange lady who did not spend her life in their service.

To feel a noble pride in making their mothers and sisters their best friends.

When their play is over for the day, to wash their face and hands, brush their hair and spend the evening in the house.

If they do anything wrong, to take their mothers into their confidence and above all, never to lie about anything they have done.

Not to take the easiest chair in the room, and put it directly in front of the fire, and forget to offer it to their mother when she comes in to sit down.

Not to grumble or refuse when asked to do some errand which must be done, and which otherwise will take the time of some one who has more to do than themselves.

To make up their minds not to learn to smoke, to chew, to drink, remembering that these things cannot be unlearned, and that they are terrible drawbacks to good men, and necessities to bad ones.—Exchange.

In a recent interview, Arabi Pacha declared that the events in the Sudan were the outcome of the unwise policy pursued by the English. Clemency and an impartial inquiry into the people's grievances could alone restore order; otherwise there would be frightful bloodshed. Arabi declined to say whether he believed the Mahdi to be a true prophet.

MRS. SOPHIA POTTER'S Bone Rheumatic Liniment

IT is a fact worth knowing that Mrs. Sophia Potter's Bone Rheumatic Liniment cannot be excelled for removing pain and soreness. It is no worthless trash, as some may suppose, simply because they have been imposed upon by others but is positively the "King of Pain." Sore throat cannot stand before its power.

All we ask is a trial that you may be convinced of the truth of our statement. Our experience is that one bottle tried also sells many more.

See circular for particulars and testimonials, and try a bottle—it will not fail to do all that is promised.
