

PROVINCIAL ELECTION!

Liberal-Conservative Candidates for the City:

HON. NEIL MCLEOD, PATRICK BLAKE, ESQ.

ATTENTION!

The date of holding the court of final revision of Dominion Voters' Lists, in each district, has been fixed.

FINAL REVISION COURTS

Will be held at New Glasgow on the 28th June next, at Dunstaffnage on 2nd July next, and at Eldon on the 5th July next.

Applications and notices require to be filed for New Glasgow before the 14th June, for Dunstaffnage before the 18th June, and for Eldon before the 21st June.

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JUNE 1, 1886.

Voters Lists.

The dates for holding courts for final revision of voters lists are advertised. Persons whose names are not on the preliminary lists should at once get an application written out and forwarded to the Revising Officer.

The City Candidates.

AFTER repeated failures to induce any one of standing and respectability to contest the City as a colleague of Mr. F. Peters, the Grits have "fallen back" upon their old "stand by"—Mr. Thomas Morris; and the "Patriot" of last evening, as in duty bound, bravely waves the standard of "Morris and Peters."

The "organ" gives Mr. Morris the first place; and we may, therefore, presume that that is the position he holds in the estimation of the party. It is eminently fitting that the party of high professions and corrupt practices should choose as its leading candidate a person who is notoriously and admittedly the chief aider and abettor of violators of the law in this city; and it is consistent with their inconsistency that such good, sincere and sound temperance workers as Mr. Donald Farquharson and the Honorable David Laird should be among those who pressed him to come out as "the strongest man that could possibly be obtained."

In the eyes of these high-minded gentlemen, one who, a few weeks ago, classed ministers of the gospel of peace and good will to men as worse than those—cursed of God and the Bible and all good men—who put the bottle to their neighbors' lips making them drunken withal and sending souls to damnation, is a fit and proper person to represent the views of the citizens of Charlottetown in the Legislature of Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Morris, we are told, is a "shrewd business man"—his success in keeping alive a business which is under the ban of the law being, no doubt, considered good proof of that useful characteristic in a legislative representative of the people. And he took a noble stand against such "mean" men as George W. DeBlois, Esq., the Hon. Samuel Prowse, the Hon. John Lefurgey, the Hon. Daniel Goggin! The fact has but to be mentioned to commend Mr. Morris to the favorable consideration of every good citizen.

Then he has been such an able City Councillor. So excellent in judgement, so powerful in argument, so judicious and patriotic in action! In fact he possesses all the shining virtues which are admirable in the eyes of the hard and fast members of the Grit Combination. One of these gentlemen remarked some time ago that he would "vote for Black Bill if he were the nominee of the Party;" and such as he, will no doubt, vote for Mr. Thomas Morris.

In accordance with the eternal fitness of things, we see Mr. Frederick Peters brought out under the wing, to speak figuratively, of the fine bird we have just been contemplating. We are told by the "Patriot" that Mr. Peters is a man of "independent means." But the value of the qualification contained in the possession of "independent means" depends altogether upon the use made of them. "Independent means" entail upon their possessor higher duties and responsibilities, and enable him to do good in a wide sphere. How has Mr. Peters used his "independent means?" Has he taken a more active interest in public affairs than his opponents, who are not recommended to voters as possessors of "independent means?" Has he exercised a more benign influence than his less fortunate fellow citizens because he is the possessor of "independent means?" Is he likely to give more time and attention than his opponents to the duties of a legislative position on account of his possession of "independent means?"

These are questions which the "Patriot," after commending Mr. Peters to the electors of Charlottetown as a man of "independent means," in no way called upon to answer. It is well known that Mr. Peters is a lawyer in large practice, and it is not to be supposed that, though he has "independent means," he will neglect his duty to his clients or give up more of his time to the public than Hon. Mr. McLeod or Mr. Blake. If Mr. Peters were prepared to give up his practice and devote all his time to the promotion of the public good and the duties of a representative of the people, there would be some force in the "Patriot's" suggestion that he is a man of "independent means." But as Mr. Peters clings tenaciously to his practice, he is in no better position in that respect than either of the gentlemen who have worthily represented the city in the past term of the Legislature. After all, what man is more truly independent than he who, possessed of good abilities and high purposes, is able to make his own living in the world, and at the same time win the respect and confidence of his fellows?

For the motive which influences Mr. Peters we have great respect. To obtain a seat upon the Bench of the Judiciary is a very laudable ambition; and Mr. Peters is not to be blamed for taking steps towards such a desirable consummation of his career. But the electors of Charlottetown must consider whether or not he is more worthy of confidence and support than their popular and public spirited representatives, Messrs. McLeod and Blake. These men have carved their own fortunes in the world,—they have not shown a cynical indifference to the requirements of the public; and we confidently anticipate their triumphant return to the seats they have filled so well that their bitterest opponents are unable to bring a single serious charge against them.

Gold in Truro.

Truro is excited over the discovery of what may yet prove to be a valuable gold mine. An old Indian fishing in a small brook called Swamp Brook, about three miles back in the woods from Valley Station, saw the glitter of gold in the bed of the brook, and immediately set to work and brought out a fine quartz rock with small fragments of gold in it. The Indian took his treasure to town and promised to show two young men named James Buchanan and Silas Archibald the place where he found the gold for a barrel of flour. When they reached the place they found that what the Indian had said was true, and on examination two veins each about two inches in thickness and divided by a vein of slate, were found to run perpendicularly through the rock. Several valuable quartz specimens were taken from the veins, for several of which the young men were offered from $10 to $15. Messrs. Buchanan and Archibald have leased the land in the immediate vicinity of the gold find and intend not only to prospect the locality thoroughly, but also to have it examined by specialists. The people of Truro, it is said, do not "take much stock" in the discovery, but Messrs. Buchanan and Archibald are confident they have a sure thing. They are enterprising young fellows, and we hope they have really got a bonanza.—Transcript.

Greece and Turkey.

There is no longer any fear of war between Greece and Turkey, a royal decree at Athens having demobilized 50,000 men. The change in the outlook is as sudden as it is complete, and makes it probable that the severe fighting on the frontier was due to the mutual restiveness of the opposing forces. The latest reports make the Greeks the aggressors, in which case we have all along contended the affair was likely to prove less serious than if a Turkish invasion had been arranged for by Russia or should occur spontaneously. The fact seems to have been that neither party found itself enough superior to the other to push the fighting, and so convert a chance engagement into the deliberate opening of hostilities. But the evenness with which the balance of probabilities hung for a few days, and the slightness of weight needed to disturb it, show what a lottery prediction must be in such a matter as the Balkan imbroglio. There is as yet no explanation proffered of the Czar's singular manifesto.—Philadelphia Press.

The Evolution Question.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Georgia, Pa., has adopted the following report on the subject of evolution by a vote of 137 to 13: "The Church remains at this time sincerely convinced that the Scriptures, as truly and authoritatively expounded in our 'confession of faith' and catechism teach that Adam and Eve were created body and soul by immediate acts of Almighty power, thereby Adam's body was directed and fashioned by Almighty God without a natural animal parentage of any kind out of matter previously created out of nothing, and that any doctrine at variance therewith is a dangerous error, inasmuch as by methods of interpreting Scripture which it must demand, and in consequence, which by fair implication it will involve, it will lead to denial of doctrines fundamental to faith."

A Fredericton Man Muled.

Wm. Johnson, of Fredericton, N. B., drew $500 from the bank and went to Boston with a friend to see the sights. After remaining a few days, they went to New York where an acquaintance was formed with several men in a saloon. Having made up their minds to return to Boston, Johnson deposited $300 in his valise for safe keeping. Several rounds of drinks followed and then Johnson took the valise to an express office and had it sent back to Boston. Upon arriving there he found that the valise key was missing from his pocket and the $300 from his valise. The New Yorkers had secured the key, and while Johnson was drinking obtained the money.

THE MISSING STEAMER

NO WORD YET

Great Anxiety Respecting Her.

Major Picton a Passenger.

HALIFAX, June 1.

There is no word of the arrival of the Allan steamer Siberian at St. John's yet. She is now nine days out from Halifax, and there is great anxiety respecting her. Capt. Dawson of the steamer Portia arrived from St. John's yesterday. He says he ran through dense fog the whole voyage, and passed many monster icebergs. But he hoped the Siberian was laying in the fog for safety. A steamer searching for her from St. John's has failed to find her. [Major Picton, of Charlottetown, was a passenger on board the Siberian.]

THE FISHERIES.

LARGE CATCHES!

Americans on the Look Out for Bait.

HALIFAX, June 1.

The Lansdowne is at Digby. Telegrams from Lockport and Shelburne say twenty American and Canadian vessels are seining mackerel off those places, which are reported in large schools. One American had even her decks full. Several Americans have baited in out of the way harbors west of Cape Island, and three were reported off Yarmouth yesterday, looking for bait. Despatches from various ports show that the codfish catch on the banks will be enormous, and the fish are very large. Mackerel are very plentiful. From Arichat it is reported that two Americans got bait there yesterday.

HOME RULE.

Chamberlain's Supporters Pledged.

Great Excitement!

LONDON, June 1.

Fifty-five of Chamberlain's supporters met last night, and fifty-two pledged themselves to vote against the Home Rule Bill. Mr. Chamberlain has written a letter to John Bright vehemently condemning the Bill, pledging himself to vote against it, and urging others to do likewise. The result of the meeting gave great excitement among the Gladstonianites, who admit a strong probability of defeat. Chamberlain speaks to-day, and Gladstone will likely close the debate. The Gladstonianites say a dissolution is certain if the Bill is defeated. Anti-Gladstonianites hope for a Ministry under Hartington.

St. John News.

ST. JOHN, June 1.

Cadby has finally been surrendered to United States officers, and has gone to New York for trial.

The family of L. P. Ferris, while out driving at Grand Lake on Saturday, the horse ran away, and Mr. Ferris and his son were probably fatally injured, and Mrs. Ferris was badly hurt. Two children escaped uninjured.

"The Short Line."

OTTAWA, June 1.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has just secured control of the Stanstead, Shefford and Chambly and Waterloo and Major Railways, by which means the short line to the lower Provinces will run by way of St. John's, Farnham, Waterloo, Major and Sherbrooke.

Acquatic.

BOSTON, June 1.

In various aquatic matches here, Teemer defeated Ross by a length. Ten Eyck beat Laing, and the race between Courtney and Hosmer was a dead heat.

Hanged.

LONDON, June 1.

James Whelan, a Nova Scotia seaman, was hanged at Winchester to-day for murder on the high seas. He killed a man on his ship.

For Canada.

LONDON, June 1.

General Sir Donald Stewart, the hero of Afghanistan, and General Sir John McNeil, bungler near Suakim, have sailed for Canada.
