

TWO POLICEMEN ASSAULTED

And Badly Injured While in the Discharge of their Duty.

THIS FORENOON shortly before twelve o'clock word was received at the Police Station that a drunken riot was in progress on Lower Queen Street.

Sergeant Bradley and Officer Taylor at once repaired to the scene. They did not see the rioters until they had arrived at Michael Power, or, truckman, who arrived from Boston last evening, and for whom there has been a warrant outstanding since last fall for assaulting a man named Robert Kelley.

The officers advised Power to come along quietly to avoid trouble. A man named James began came up and began interfering with the officers to prevent the arrest of the senior Power.

The officers, of course, held on to their man. One of the young Powers then struck at Bradley. The other Power and Beggs also took a hand in the attack on Bradley, and Policeman Taylor promptly came to the assistance of his brother officer.

One of the men who attacked the police—a Power—carried a part of a shovel handle, with a piece of the stock attached, and with this weapon he lattered about the heads of the two officers, bruising Bradley very badly on the left ear and head a short distance from the left ear and cutting Taylor about the left ear and in the neighborhood of the right temple.

The elder Power, who had to be liberated by the officers, when they were compelled to defend themselves from the others, also took a hand in the row, and administered several heavy blows with his fists to Bradley.

During the struggle Sergeant Bradley used his handcuffs with telling effect on one of the young Powers, and officer Taylor got in some very effective work on one or two of the others. A stranger who attempted to assist the officers in arresting one of the young Powers was struck and kicked by the elder Power and forced to retire from active service.

Young Power was in turn promptly "knocked out" by the Hon. Donald Farquharson, who carried the young Power to the officers with commendable alacrity. By this time Marshal Cameron and officer Vance arrived on the scene, and lost no time in coming to the assistance of Bradley and Taylor. Power senior and one of his sons, William Power, were then placed under arrest after considerable trouble, and taken to the police station.

The elder Power and younger Power were both taken to the hospital, and the latter had to be taken to the hospital at large. Sergeant Bradley was so badly hurt that he took suddenly weak while on his way to the station, and had to be assisted thereto by a well known citizen. At the same time the Hon. Donald Farquharson, Dr. Warburton. The Powers will come up for trial tomorrow.

ALIVE IN HER COFFIN.

Mrs. Roger, of Morrison's, Pa. Buried During Suspended Animation.

A recent Whitehaven, Pa. despatch says: A case of suspended animation is reported from Morrison's, three miles west of Whitehaven. The story is to the effect that a young wife died nine months after being wedded. Her husband became haunted with the belief that she had been buried alive. He eventually lost his mind. To satisfy him his friends re-opened the grave, and to their horror discovered that his supposed hallucination was a terrible reality.

Your correspondent investigated the matter to find, and found it to be substantially correct. The woman had been buried before natural dissolution had taken place, and the husband became a raving maniac.

Morrison's is a farming village situated on the western slope of Mount Yeager. Charles Roger's father died two years ago, leaving his son to take care of the farm. The latter, six months later, married Miss Catherine Leader. A year went by and nothing occurred to mar their union until one day Mrs. Roger was taken ill. She went to bed and from it never arose.

Dr. James Willard, who had been the woman's family physician for years, was in attendance at her bedside, and while it was not made known to the husband, he made several tests to assure himself that dissolution had actually taken place before he was satisfied.

Among those was the "diaphanous" test by holding the hand of the deceased before a strong light. There was no scarlet color visible, and everything went to show that death had really set in naturally.

After the burial of his wife the shock which Roger had experienced seemed to wear away gradually, until one day some one came to him and told him that previous to their marriage Catherine had been subject to periodic hysterics and that there was a grave possibility of her having been buried alive.

The terrible thought that his wife might possibly have been buried alive haunted him night and day, until finally he became a raving maniac. He believed that his wife had been taken from him and stated again and again that she was alive.

So strongly did he plead his case, that his friends were finally induced to re-open the grave. Accordingly a dozen of them went to the cemetery, accompanied by the deceased husband. During the progress of the digging of the grave he remained perfectly quiet until the coffin was reached. He then became excited and could not be pacified until the lid was removed. The woman had been buried alive, and all the evidence going to prove such a terrible blunder were painfully apparent. The body was turned face downward. The glass in the lid was broken. The robes were torn to shreds, hair dishevelled and flesh torn, showing where the woman had torn herself in the frenzy upon covering her awful position.

THE CROPS.—Since the former and the latter rain, the crops are coming on splendidly. The hay crop on poorer soil still looks backward and will be a short crop. The potato bog in some parts of the Island is not showing up as abundantly as was at one time feared.

On the whole, there is every prospect of a fair average crop both in roots and cereals. In the western section of the Province, however, a good deal of rain is still required to nourish the growing crops.

FOR PROVINCIALITY.—The Boston Traveller has begun the publication of a page to be devoted to news pertaining alone to the Provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

This department of the Traveller is under the management of M. J. Keating, who is connected with the Canada Atlantic Steamship line. Mr. Keating is a Halifax man who has served at the case and at the reporter's desk in several Halifax newspaper offices, and has also been on the working staff of a New Brunswick paper.

FISHING NOTES.—It is said that a large number of muskell were taken at Raticton on Monday with a purse seine.

Upper Province papers have been publishing a yarn to the effect that owing to poor fishing at Egmont Bay, P. E. I., canned lobsters will be dear next year. The facts of the case appear to be that the lower province lobster catch has really been a large one this year.—St. John Sun.

The lobster season is closed. Taking the entire catch for the county this season, either in quantity or price, it has not been as remunerative by nearly one-third as last year.—Digby Courier.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION MEETING.—The regular annual meeting of the Provincial Medical Association was held in McLeod's Hall last evening. After the transaction of some routine business, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Dr. Beer, Charlottetown, President; Dr. McNeill, Stanley, 1st Vice do.; Dr. McNeill, Murray Harbor, 2nd do.; Dr. McNeill, Kensington, Bay, P. E. I., Secretary (re-elected); Dr. H. D. Johnson, Treasurer (re-elected).

The Council of the Association is made up as follows: Drs. McLeod and Johnson, Charlottetown; Dr. McNeill, Stanley; Dr. McLaren, Brudenell; Dr. Conroy, Charlottetown; Dr. McNeill, Kensington, and Dr. Sutherland, Bedouque. The reports of the various committees were then submitted and read.

KILLED IN THE STATES.—Last Thursday afternoon Felix Peters, of Rollo Bay, received a telegram telling him that his son John had been killed a few hours before at Gardiner, Me. The remains reached Souris yesterday and were at once taken to his late home by sorrowing neighbors and friends. Deceased left the Island over a year ago, and at the time of the accident that resulted in his death, was engaged in painting on a large building. The scaffolding gave way and he fell a distance of over thirty feet. He lived but a few minutes. He was a young man of moral and upright character, was much liked by both his fellow-workmen and his employer. Something over a year ago he had a brother killed by the cars in Gloucester, Mass. In this, their second dreadful affliction, the bereaved parents have the heart-felt sympathy of the entire community.

Why Not Out This Out? It would always serve to remind you that the six great points to judge in Black Dress Goods are WEIGHT, WIDTH, FINENESS, FINISH, COLOR, PRICE. It is nearly two years since we began advertising "How to Judge Black Goods." That the public appreciates truthful advertising is shown by the way they read and study ours. It is the conviction of hundreds that it pays them to do so.
