The Premier is to the rescue in Quebec. As will be seen by our Telegrams, he professes his willingness to reduce the duty on French wines, if France will remove the tax on Canadian shipping. Three or four months ago he said he could do nothing in the matter.

Be Strong.—Tom Pepper, the gentleman who for a certain offence was expelled from the Plutonian mansions, has inspired a paragraph for the Western Chronicle; he says that Kentville has 183 dogs, 210 cats and that 1500 partridges have been bagged this year in the district of New Ross!

MORTALITY.—There have been three funerals in town since our last issue. On Saturday another member of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fraser's family and another of Mr. S. G. Tupper's children, and on Monday the wife of Mr. Peter Meikle (of the firm of Chisholm & Meikle), were buried. Mr. Meikle had only been married a year or two ago, and he has the sympathy of the entire community in his great affliction. There are some fresh cases of severe sickness in town, but we sincerely hope the worst is over for this season.—New Glasgow Chronicle.

HALIFAX UNIVERSITY.—At a meeting of the Senate of the Halifax University, an application was read from the Board of Governors of Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, P. E. I., asking that examinations of the University be held in Charlottetown. The application was granted, on condition that the authorities of the College pay the expenses of holding the examinations in Charlottetown.

MADAME MOREL DE LA DURANTAYE—who has been on the Island collecting funds to aid the establishment of an Institution for Poor Orphans—desires to return her sincere thanks to His Worship the Mayor, Miss Rankin, and many other citizens of Charlottetown and persons residing throughout the Island for the active assistance they have rendered in the promotion of her benevolent work. She has obtained here about $900.

FATHER GLACKMEYER addressed an immense audience in St. Dunstan's Cathedral last evening, upon the subject of intemperance. His text was, "If any man will follow me, let him deny himself," etc. He dilated upon the triumphs of courage—the courage which achieves the greatest victories; and exalted the courage which gives a man the victory over himself—which enables him to say "I will not," and to act it, above all the glories of Wellington and Nelson; and dwelt upon the difficulty and honor of successfully battling against the vice of intemperance after a man had once allowed it to obtain a hold upon him. He denounced intemperance because it destroys the beauty of home and is a sin against God. He exhorted fathers and mothers—the props—and young men and women—the hope—of the congregation to abstain entirely from the use of strong drink; and he read the young women quite a lecture upon the necessity—if they would have sober husbands—of learning to cook. Strong food, well cooked, he argued, would tend to overcome the craving for stimulants. The address was held together by a series of gory strongly portrayed and exciting examples of the horrors of drunkenness. The Father's mission here will end on Sunday, when there will be three masses—one at half past six, one at eight, and the other at ten, a. m. At the latter he will preach.

WAR NEWS.

LONDON, Nov. 15.

A Russian official despatch says the Russians, under Gen. Heymann, defeated the Turkish mount in front of Erzeroum. The Russians lost 800, the Turks 2,500.

A Vienna despatch says that Mehemet Ali is moving with the forces at Sofia to a position at Chaikoakze, ten miles west of Sofia, where the road from Lom Palanka intersects the road to Risch. Here he will be able to watch the Servians, and, if needed, co-operate with the forces at Orchaule.

The Times' Pera correspondent, in a letter, says the Turkish Exchequer occasionally comes to a standstill, and that it is wonderful how it ever moves on again. Recently an offer of arms was rejected because $20,000 could not be raised to complete payment.

ERZEROU, Nov. 15.

The Russians recaptured Fort Azize on Wednesday, but were immediately expelled.

The inhabitants of Erzeroum have participated in recent fighting. Their loss has been considerable. There is general enthusiasm. The Russian cavalry have appeared on the north of Erzeroum.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 15.

The Russians have been repulsed near Kars, after prolonged fighting.

There has been heavy snow in Asia. The Council of War, under the Presidency of the Sultan, decided to largely reinforce Mehemet Ali.

The rumors of peace negotiations are denied.

LONDON, Nov. 15.

A special to the Standard from Poreidin on Tuesday, says the Russians yesterday summoned Osman Pasha to surrender. Osman refused.

A special from Athens states that the Prince of Montenegro has invited Greece to co-operate in the invasion of Albania.

The Times despatch says the Russians for before Erzeroum is 25,000, which is insufficient to invest the place.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM DR. JENKINS.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

Sir,—The comments of the editor of the Patriot on my letter bring to mind a trifling but singular incident which occurred some years since. I was walking, early in the morning through one of my pasture lots, when, on stepping over a log, I was suddenly attacked by a partridge. I need not say the effect was not serious; but the poor bird gained her object, which was to attract my attention while her little brood were engaged in securing a hiding-place. The Patriot adopts the same tactics, and hopes, by a personal attack upon me, to draw public attention from the sins and shortcomings of his patrons, whom he is unable to defend. His attack is about as innocuous as that of the partridge; but I do not think he will be successful in diverting the watchful eye of the people, who feel too keenly that their affairs are mismanaged, and are daily becoming more and more alive to the fact that their substance is wasted in maintaining a legislative machinery sufficient to govern the whole continent of America! And with what result? Are the public funds laid out solely for the benefit of the public? No; rather for the benefit of office-hunters. Look at the roads through, not over, which the taxpayer is forced to convey the produce from whose sale he makes the wherewithal to satisfy his stern taskmasters! Look at the bridges full of holes, where, in addition to the burden of taxation, he may have the misfortune to break his horse's leg. Where is the substitute for statute labor? Where are the Supervisors? Look at the roads in the Royalty which have been macadamised at heavy expense, and are now going to destruction right under the eyes of the Commissioner of Public Works, of the Government Engineer, and of the Supervisor, whose joint salaries and expenses will come little short of $4,000 a year. Only yesterday I passed over the Spring Park Road and found the stones cut through and the wheels down to the clay, all for the want of a few hours work and a little attention. The Commissioner of Public Works finds time to attend Political meetings, and has the supreme assurance to stand up and state "that the road service was never so well performed as at present." I do not hesitate to say that never were the roads so neglected as during the past summer. I can bring hundreds, and, if need be, thousands, of truthful and independent farmers to verify my statement.

The editor of the Patriot, not being in a position to disprove my assertions, makes personal allusions. If he can't fight the facts, he will fight the writer. Now, I detest personalities, and hope I shall never be driven to resort to them. But, if necessary, I dare say I can hit as hard as my neighbors, and that gentlemen is not, by any means, invulnerable. He is mistaken in supposing the reader will inquire into my political standing. The mood just now is to seek for facts which bear on the situation. Moreover, I do not take the stand as a politician; but simply as one of the people whose hard-earned taxes are taken to keep up what I again state is a most unpopular and incompetent Government. I am sorry that my criticisms of the Assessment Act "are neither original nor profound," for in that they closely resemble the editorials of the Patriot—a similarity I by no means desire to acquire. My objections to the Act are: first, that it is unnecessary; and second, that while most despotic in its action, it presents in its details the most wretched complication of bungles ever consummated by a Legislature. This is my opinion, Mr. Editor; and I have already stated that the Government is most unpopular and incompetent. With your permission, I will, in a future number, give the grounds on which my opinion has been formed.

I have a perfect right—and will maintain it in spite of the Government organs—to make myself heard. The sarcasms of the Patriot do not appal me, nor does the attempt at satire of the Journal cause anything more than a smile at his silliness. They may rest assured that neither my pen nor voice will be silenced till I see that I am common with my fellow subjects in this Province, have a prospect of being ruled in a manner consistent with the rights, interests, and welfare of a free people.
