

BELFAST ELECTION.

CONVENTION OF DELEGATES—DUNCAN CRAWFORD, ESQ., UNANIMOUSLY NOMINATED.

At a meeting of Delegates held at Eldon, yesterday evening, Duncan Crawford, Esq., was unanimously chosen as a candidate to contest the district in the interests of the Government.

Mr. Crawford is a man who, as its representative, will reflect credit on the district; and any opposition will be purely factious.

The Convention passed, unanimously, a resolution approving of Mr. Montgomery's appointment to the office of Chief Superintendent of Education.

The Chief Superintendent of Education and the "Patriot."

It is well understood that no man heaps opprobrious epithets upon another for the good of the country; and every one feels that the Patriot (!) does not call the Chief Superintendent of Education "a traitor" from motives of patriotism. To enter into a defence of the Chief Superintendent's conduct towards his late constituents is quite unnecessary—so far as the people of Belfast are concerned. But lest persons residing in distant parts of the Province, and not knowing the Chief Superintendent, should doubt for a moment that his conduct has been strictly honorable, we may state that before he accepted the office, Mr. Montgomery held public meetings in all the principal settlements of Belfast; that at these meetings he announced that he had been offered the office; and that at every meeting resolutions like the following were passed:

"Moved by Angus D. McMillan and seconded by William J. Emery, that Mr. Montgomery receive the thanks of this meeting for his actions in the House of Assembly while representing this District; and that this meeting—though sorry to lose his services as their representative—are fully satisfied and willing that he should accept the office now offered him, viz, Superintendent of Education."

Carried unanimously. A resolution similar to this was, we repeat, carried at every meeting; and the charge of "betraying Belfast" will recoil with double force upon the Patriot and its Party."

Our contemporary the Pioneer—now published at Montague—remarks:

"It appears that Mr. Manning has been dismissed from his office in connection, with the educational department, and that Mr. D. Montgomery has been appointed to the vacant place. Though we do not believe in the principle of making official changes whenever the reins of Government are transferred from one party to another, yet we do not think the educational interests of the Province will at all suffer by the change. Mr. Montgomery did good work when teaching in the Normal School and elsewhere, and if the change had to be made, he is, we think, as deserving and competent as any other eligible to the office."

We offer this impartial opinion in opposition to the extremely bitter words of the Patriot.
