BY TELEGRAPH FROM NEW YORK.

One Week later from Europe.

ARRIVAL OF THE "ATLANTIC."

The Collins steamer Atlantic arrived at New York the morning of the 18th inst. The news by her is not specially important. The Allies had blown up the remnant of Sebastopol in their possession.

The Emperor of the West Indies were threatening to attack the Russians at Baidar and Epataria. The fleet had sailed on a sardonic expedition—the destination is supposed to be Nicolaid's of Odessa.

The Russians seem determined to meet the campaign vigorously. The Emperor of West Odessa. He has issued an encouraging address to the Russian people, and will shortly be in the Crimea.

Some commercial uneasiness was experienced in England. Consols were quoted at 87 1/2. Markets generally dull.

SECOND DESPATCH.

Sebastopol was certainly to be blown up by the Allies, and mines were being sunk for that purpose.

Gortschakoff was threatened by large forces of Allies from Epataria and Baidar. On the 27th Sept. some Russians were defeated near Epataria by French cavalry, with a loss of 50 killed and 100 prisoners; the French loss was three killed and 25 wounded.

A collision is anticipated between the Western Powers and the King of Greece, in consequence of the Russian promises of the latter. The Bank of England had still further advanced its rate of discount to 5 1/2 per cent.

Prussia had announced a large number of mortars at Sebastopol, preparatory to bombarding the north side.

Danish Commission had been promulgated at Copenhagen. Prince Ferdinand having refused his signature, was dismissed from the command of Zealand.

Kars had been captured a Turkish convoy at Kara with provisions for the garrison, together with 100 horses and 300 men.

The restriction of the importation of salt into Russia has been announced. The Revenue returns of Great Britain show an increase of nearly £8,500,000, &c. owing chiefly to the duties on spirits.

Kars still holds out, but its provisions were nearly exhausted; it is anticipated, however, that the snow will compel the Russians to evacuate it.

The correspondent of the London News asserts that the Russians are making preparations for the north side of Sebastopol. Gortschakoff has issued a hopeful address to his soldiers. He admits the loss of 500 to 1000 men for thirty days previous to the termination of the siege, but he says, in conclusion, "we are now free, and a new war commences."
