PAIR HELD AT MONCTON FOR BANK HOLD-UP

BRITAIN MAY DENOUNCE TREATY WITH JAPAN

PLAN STEP IF NEGOTIATIONS AT TOKYO FAIL

Indirect Warning Emanates From Official Circles—Japan Studies U. S. Action.

LONDON, July 28—Great Britain gave Japan an indirect warning today that if negotiations now going on in Tokyo failed to settle Anglo-Japanese differences she might follow the example of the United States and renounce her trade treaty with Japan.

The warning was contained in a statement which originated in official circles. The statement said that as a result of the United States' action Wednesday, Britain was considering the advisability of denouncing her treaty of 1911, but that nothing would be done while negotiations were proceeding in Tokyo.

ARE PESSIMISTIC

Officials here were understood to be pessimistic about the chance of any permanent settlement coming out of the talks which are concerned with the dispute at Tientsin, where the British and French concessions have been blockaded by the Japanese since June 14.

They also were said to be irritated by the continued anti-British campaign in North China which they had hoped would cease during the negotiations.

Informed quarters regarded it as quite possible the Tokyo talks would collapse.

"The action of the United States government in denouncing their treaty," one official said, "has naturally caused circles in this country to turn their own ideas toward consideration of the utility of this method of attempting to protect their rights and interests in the Far East."

Governor Of Maine Seeks Regulation Of Lobster Importation

(By The Canadian Press)

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Me., July 28—Governor Lewis O. Barrows proposed tonight a conference among several coastal states and the Canadian Provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to secure regulation of lobster importation.

His suggestion was sent here to the executive committee of the North American Lobster Conference.

Canadian competition, the Maine executive said, was the most serious difficulty facing the lobster industry. The proposed conference would attempt to bring about a "business like and friendly" accord.

Maine, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia exercise a virtual monopoly over lobster production, Barrows said, and added, "It is a shame that the fishermen of neither of the localities can make a decent living."

Barrows' telegram was received after official adjournment of the conference, but officials generally endorsed his suggestion.

New York and all New England seaboard states were represented at the meeting.

SWIFT ACTION ON TERRORISTS UNDER NEW LAW

Sweeping Power Given Police As Anti-I. R. A. Measure Goes Into Effect.

LONDON, July 28—(CP)—Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, acting swiftly with broad new powers granted under the "prevention of Violence" Act, ordered eight Irish Republican Army suspects expelled tonight.

Thirty cases were submitted by Scotland Yard investigators who began pulling a dragnet when the anti-I.R.A. measure became law.

Sir Philip Game, commissioner of police, conferred tonight with chief constables from the areas considered "storm centres" of the undercover army.

As soon as the King assented to the bill, rushed through Parliament under the spur of new terrorist bombings, police cars went to work. They raided in all sections of the city.

The bill gives power to arrest without a warrant and permits summary deportation of suspects.

Parliament Guarded

The Houses of Parliament were placed under double guard against retaliatory bombings. Everyone seeking entry was forced to state his business. Both Lords and Commons will be closed to the public tomorrow, contrary to usual Saturday practice.

Discovery of another bomb believed designed to destroy strategic docks at Birkenhead, near Liverpool, offered the only incident of the day. The time-clock explosive, found by a vigilant porter, was wrapped in a pencilled sketch of the waterfront showing the harbor's key points.

Police plans called for the mass transfer of terrorist suspects to Dublin aboard a destroyer of the reserve fleet. Others will be shipped to Eire aboard steamers leaving Liverpool, Holyhead and other British ports. All suspicious characters will be refused admission to Great Britain, effective tomorrow.

All communication channels were under heavy guard as Prime Minister Chamberlain left London to spend the weekend at Chequers. Travellers boarding trains for Irish Sea ports were closely questioned by detectives, who in some cases searched baggage for explosives or incriminating documents.

Publicly denounced by the Eire Prime Minister, Eamon de Valera Irish terrorists faced the prospects of being hunted from pillar to post. A cold welcome was promised them in Northern Ireland.

Air Secretary Is Badly Shaken-up In Forced Landing

(By The Canadian Press)

BARROW-IN-FURNESS, England, July 28—Air Secretary Sir Kingsley Wood was badly shaken up tonight when a Royal Air Force plane carrying him, four other passengers and a crew of four made a forced landing at nearby Kirby after being unreported for more than an hour over a storm-ridden Irish Sea.

Sir Kingsley was removed to a private home near where the plane came down and was reported to be resting comfortably. Three of the crew, all of whom suffered slight injuries, were removed to hospital. The crew included Major D. F. Anderson, pilot; Aviator Officer J. S. Dunlevie, co-pilot; Corporal Peach, radio operator, and Private Poole.

Two of the party which started an attempted trip from London to Belfast, Air Marshal Sir Christopher Courtenay and Sir Edward Campbell, private parliamentary secretary to Sir Kingsley, suffered slight contusions. Vice Air Marshal W. Sholto-Douglas and M. F. H. Sandford, Sir Kingsley's private secretary, were unhurt.

Accompanied by two escort planes, Sir Kingsley's ship encountered bad weather and Pilot Anderson was ordered to head back at once. The plane, after being sighted over Cumberland at 6 p.m. (2 p.m. ADT) remained unreported until it came down at Kirby 70 minutes late.

One of the two escort planes rode through the storm and landed at Belfast. The other turned back when only about 50 miles from the Irish coast.

FRANCE TAKES REFUGEES INTO ARMED FORCES

Government Finds Solution For Influx Of "Men Without A Country."

PARIS, July 28—France, haven of "men without a country" at last has opened her official eyes to see the potential army of between 200,000 and 300,000 fighting men living within her borders.

More than 180,000 Spaniards of fighting age, most of whom are hardened anti-Fascist veterans of Spain's civil war, are in French concentration camps.

Thousands of anti-Nazi Germans skip across the frontier into France each year either directly or by way of Switzerland or Belgium.

Czechs too have made in France their European headquarters and many of them are well-trained officers and soldiers.

For years the French press has suggested that men of this type might be only too glad to do their bit in the French armed forces.

The first indication that the Government might do something about these men who have frequently signified their desire to fight for France came last April.

Then 300 Spaniards signed up for the Foreign Legion and were shipped to its headquarters in Sidi-Bel-Addes, Algeria. Tens of thousands of Spaniards applied for admission.

The next step was to make it possible for foreigners to promise that they would fight for France in the event of war. A decree was passed providing for such "peace enlistments for war," but organizing work has progressed slowly.

Finally, last week end, the Government ordered a "provisional census" of foreigners between the ages of 20 and 48 who are without nationality or were admitted to France as political refugees.

Dring the same week 600 Czechs all fomer officers and soldiers of the Czecho-Slovak army were concentrated at Sidi-Bel-Abbes to form the nucleus of a foreign legion regiment composed almost entirely of Czechs.

Sources close to the War Ministry said the High Command had found almost 90 per cent of those refugees of fighting age could be considered veteran soldiers.

They either had fought in Spain's civil war or done their military service in the Italian, Austrian, Czecho-Slovak, German or other armies.

Delegation To Seek British Orders For Canadian Firms

(By The Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, July 28—Reinforcing the eight Canadian industrialists representing the Canadian Manufacturers Association who are at present in England with a view to laying before the British Government the facilities of Canadian manufacturing plans for production of armaments and equipment, 10 more prominent Canadians will sail from Quebec tomorrow, among whom are Major General A. G. L. McNaughton, former chief of the General Staff, and Colonel Noel Carr, director of mechanization and artillery of the National Defence Department.

The party is proceeding to England with the approval of both the British and the Canadian Governments. A statement issued tonight by Prime Minister Mackenzie King said that his representative group would "confer with the appropriate United Kingdom authorities with a view to securing data concerning defence requirements there and of furnishing information as to available sources of supply in Canada."

Salisbury Bank Scene Of Daring Daylight Robbery

Bandits Escape With $689 From Bank Branch—Two Brothers From Verdun, Quebec, Arrested On Suspicion.

MONCTON, N. B., July 28—(CP)—A bank holdup, perpetrated with startling swiftness, broke the usual quiet of the little village of Salisbury, 12 miles from here, and threw police into action over a wide area this afternoon until two young men were arrested in Moncton about two hours later.

R. C. M. P. Inspector John Bird said the pair had given their names as James Nellis, 29, and Phillip Nellis, 25 brothers, of Verdun, Que. The Inspector stated they were being held on suspicion.

Police said that most of $689 stolen from the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch at Salisbury had been recovered.

Two men armed with automatic pistols forced H. J. Pyke, the branch manager and only occupant of the bank at the time, to lie on the floor as they hurried out to an automobile and sped away.

SPREAD DRAGNET

Within a few minutes the police spread a dragnet. Soon more than 40 constables from practically every R.C.M.P. detachment in New Brunswick were on the highways.

Moncton City Police officers stopped a car coming towards the city. The two men occupants said they had missed the main highway and were enroute to Moncton from Quebec to visit relatives.

Police trailed the car to a city lunchroom and there arrested the men without resistance.

Story of Holdup

"I was working on the ledger in the cage," said Mr. Pyke, "when I heard a thump at the door, as though someone missed the latch in attempting to get in, in a hurry. I looked up and a man walked over to the cage and stuck a $5 bill through the wicket, remarking change that.

"I asked him how he wished it changed and he answered, 'five ones'. I took the five dollar bill in one hand, and reached for the cash till with the other.

"Just as I opened the cash till the man drew an automatic and said, 'Stick up your hands'. I was sort of dumfounded for an instant and he repeated his command.

"During the conversation a second man came into the bank and walked around the counter and as the man at the wicket ordered me to put my hands up, the second one drew an automatic at my side. Only the man at the wicket did any talking. After I put my hands up he told me to lie down on the floor, and I am not sure whether the man in the cage pushed me or I struck the side of the cage counter when I went down. The man in the cage scooped up the money, $689, and took the five dollar bill out of my hand," continued Mr. Pyke.

Notified Police

"After the man took the money, both left the bank quickly. As soon as they left I got up and rushed to a side window in an attempt to see what kind of a car they had. I saw a dark car 25 or 30 feet away. It bore Ontario license plates. I then ran to the door and Edwin Steeves and Ernest Bannister who were across the street came over when I told them there had been a robbery. I then communicated with the R.C.M.P."

Asked how long he thought the men were actually in the bank, Mr. Pkye replied, "Only a few minutes."

Mr. Pkye said the hold-up men did not get all the money in the till. There was approximately $150

Dewey Warns Of Murderous Gang Warfare

NEW YORK, July 28—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey disclosed today that New York City is faced with a murderous gang warfare growing out of reprisals against former associates of the notorious racket captains, Louis (Lepke) Buchalter and Jacob (Gurrah) Shapiro. The situation created "a most extraordinary police problem," he said.

"It is apparent that the Lepke mob is waging a war of extermination against its former, and some of its present members," Dewey said in a prepared statement. "It is equally apparent that extraordinary steps must be taken in this situation.

"For 15 years Lepke and Gurrah have, in my opinion, been the most dangeroous industrial racketeers in the United States."

Dewey said in his judgment "the community is faced with an organized effort to eliminate all former gangster associates of Lepke and Gurrah."

FAMED MEDICO PASSES AWAY

Medical Pioneering Recalled In Death Of Dr. "Will" Mayo.

ROCHESTER, Minn., July 28—A perpetuating medical foundation that was the dream of a country doctor 70 years ago became a monument tonight to the healing genius of the famed Mayo Brothers as persons from all walks of life paid tribute to the last of the renowned pair.

As the body of Dr. William M. Mayo, better known as "Dr. Will," was made ready to lie in state, the board of governors established 10 years ago when the brothers put down their surgical instruments continued to administer the Foundation and Clinic.

Dr. Will died in his sleep early today of a sub-acute perforating ulcer, an abdominal ailment he had specialized in treating. He was 78, and had grieved constantly since the death of his partner-brother, Dr. Charles H. Mayo, in Chicago, May 26.

Stricken shortly after he returned from a winter vacation in the southwest, Dr. Will underwent a stomach operation at the clinic last April, and never fully recovered.

There is but one Mayo left to carry the family name. He is Dr. Charlie's son, Dr. Charles W. Mayo, a surgeon on the clinic staff whose 41st birthday today was saddened by his uncle's death. Dr. Charlie's other son, Dr. Joseph G. Mayo was killed in an automobile accident in 1936. Their other children were girls.

But the Mayo tradition is being carried on. Dr. Will's two daughters married surgeons connected with the clinic.

Dr. Waltman Waters, Phoebe's husband, is a director of the clinic. Dr. David C. Balfour, Carrie's husband, is the director of the Mayo Foundation.

Funeral services for the elder of the famed brothers will be held at 4 p. m. Sunday. Mourning Rochester citizens, who knew the brothers simply as "Dr. Will and Dr. Charlie," will view the body when it lies in state Sunday.

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., July 28—(CP)—Thomas O'Brien, 19, of Westville, N.S., died today of injuries received when he fell from a hay-loft in Fred Haynes' barn west of here early today. O'Brien, a transient had spent the night in the barn with a companion.

Roosevelt Suffers Reverse In Senate

WASHINGTON, July 28—In a sudden reversal, the United States Senate voted today to slash $500,000,000 from highway improvements from President Roosevelt's $2,490,000 lending program.

The vote was taken only minutes after Representative Galagan of New York announced he would ask a caucus of House of Representative Democrats tonight to express their "loyalty and devotion" to the President at the same time they consider pledging support of the administration's two remaining pieces of major legislation.

The Senate's vote against retaining the highway fund was 42 to 38.

This blow to the administration was forced by a coalition of Democrats and Republicans on the motion of Senator Byrd (Dem-Virginia). The action reversed a 40 to 38 Senate vote yesterday against the reduction.

STORMS END HEAT WAVE

Severe Electrical Storms In Quebec And Ontario.

TORONTO, July 28—(CP)—Severe electric storms in parts of Ontario and Quebec accompanied a forecast of cooler weather in most parts of the Dominion for Saturday. But the weatherman offered slight respite for thousands of citizens of most parts of Canada with the note that Sunday would again be fair and warm.

From Ontario westward high temperatures were marked up Friday but storms ended the heat wave in Quebec and the Maritimes enjoyed comparatively cool weather. A new record temperature of 99.2 degrees was chalked up at Lethbridge. Particularly high marks were also shown in the interior of British Columbia.

TWO STRUCK

OTTAWA, July 28—(CP)—Lightning struck two persons but failed to inflict serious injury during a severe electrical storm here today. Other bolts knocked chimneys off two vacant nouses and farm buildings and livestock in surrounding villages suffered some loss.

Torrential rains accompanying the storm caused sewers to back up and flooded cellars in about 300 homes in various districts of the city, it was estimated.

Wilbur Warnock, 20, of Suburban Eastview was struck by lightning while swimming in the Ottawa River. Dazed and slightly burned, he made shore in safety and was able to go home after medical attention.

Joseph McKenna, 30, was struck on the arm while working in a

On Jan. 3, first trading day this year, the Canadian unit was quoted at a discount of 31/32 per cent, almost a cent off the United States unit. The climb to parity started about two months ago when the Canadian dollar was available at 3-8 per cent discount.

Federation Of Mayors To Call Unemployment Parley

(By The Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, July 28—The Federation of Canadian Mayors and Municipalities will call a national conference on unemployment here "within a few weeks", President Stanley Lewis, Mayor of Ottawa, announced here tonight after a delegation of mayors had conferred with Hon. J. L. Ilsley, acting finance minister.

Mayor Lewis said George Mooney, the Federation's executive director in Montreal, would issue the call to Canadian mayors and also to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Canadian Manufacturers Association, the Canadian Construction Association and other national groups. Government representatives will also participate.

When the mayors talked to Mr. Ilsley today, he told them the government preferred that the mayors take the initiative in calling the conference but that the government would be glad to co-operate in such a study of unemployment, particularly urban unemployment.

Actual date of the conference will depend on the dispatch with which the invited associations reply, Mayor Lewis said. His own association "and its membership from coast to coast are determined to do their part in co-operation with other bodies in helping to solve the pressing problem of unemployment," he said. "No other single problem so deserves the attention of the general public today."

Mayor Lewis said possibly there would be sectional conferences as an outcome of the national meeting.

Important Changes Loom In Soviet Diplomatic Service

MOSCOW, July 28—Sweeping changes in Foreign Office personnel since Premier Vyacheslaff Molotoff took direct charge of Soviet foreign affairs and the fact that numerous Soviet ambassadors are absent from their posts caused foreign observers to conjecture today on the possibility of important shifts in the Soviet diplomatic service.

Molotoff added the foreign commissariat to his duties May 3 when he displaced the veteran diplomat, Maxim Litvinoff.

In connection with this speculation a bulletin listing recent government orders and decrees was recalled.

It mentioned decrees signed by the premier appointing new Soviet trade representatives to Great Britain, Italy, Turkey, Belgium, Denmark and Greece and new vice representatives to Turkey, Italy, Japan and Iran (Persia).

In the Moscow Foreign Office three new vice commissars have been appointed since Litvinoff's displacement and new chiefs are heading all departments, including those responsible for Balkan, Scandinavian and Japanese affairs.

The Soviet Ambassador to Berlin, Alexei Merekaloff, is still in Moscow, and none of the following are at their posts: the Ambassador to Washington, Constantin Oumansky; the Ambassador to Rome, Boris Stein; the Ambassador to Tokyo, Mikhail Slavutsky, and the Tokyo Charge D'Affaires, Constantin Smetanin.

Reports that changes were pending in the Soviet representation in Paris and London have circulated abroad though they were without confirmation here.
