Strong Russian Team

There are 45,000 athletes in the Soviet Union capable of making the Russian Olympic team, world record-holding high jumper Valery Brumel said in New York yesterday, where he was to receive the American Broadcasting Company's 'Athlete of the Year' award.

"They all hold medals at masters of sport, the highest honor our country can give to a sportsman." Brumel said. "Every one of them is good enough in his specialty to qualify. So you can see how hard it is to make the Olympic team. There are 45,000,000 men and women registered with the various sports association."

"Even I am not sure of making the team," the Russian physical education student who has soared to seven feet, 5½ inches for the world's best high jump said. "We have many men who are approaching seven feet. There are two school boys who have already gone over seven feet and I do not know how good they may be when our final trials are held in August."

Brumel said he believed a mark of seven feet, two inches might be good enough to win the gold medal at Tokyo, and the man to do it might well be the flop of the 1960 Games at Rome, John Thomas.

The 22-year-old Soviet star said he disagreed with his coach Gabriel Korobkov, that the Russians would be so powerful at Tokyo that they would win "under any conditions."

"I do not agree. I do not believe that coach Korobkov made that statement attributed to him by Tass, the Russian news agency. The Americans will be very strong, although I'm afraid they may be reaching their peak too soon with these winter indoor meets. The combined German team will be strong, and so will the Japanese, at home."

Pro Tourneys Still Go

Now that curling's professionalism problem has been pushed aside for another year, the nation's tobacco, beer and soft drink companies are hot on the heels of the games' top performers to get them to compete in money-laden tournaments.

Two days following the conclusion of the Macdonald Brier at the Charlottetown Forum, Masters Sports Ltd. of Calgary announced that the first annual Masters World series of Curling would be held in Saskatoon March 26, 27 and 28.

Norm Austman, general manager of Masters Sports, said that the inaugural of the event would feature eight top rinks in a round-robin series. Invitations are going out to the eight top rinks of the Masters tournament held in Calgary in January.

Rinks expected to compete for $3,500 in prize money include Hec Gervais of Edmonton, the 1964 Masters' champion; Lyall Dagg of Vancouver, newly crowned Canadian champion; Ernie Richardson of Regina, four-time Canadian and world champion; Hersh Lerner of Winnipeg, Ron Northcott and Berni Sparks of Calgary, Merv Mann of Saskatoon and Harold Worth of Delisle, Sask.

Souris Leads Murray Harbor In King's County Finals

The King's County intermediate "B" finals now stands three games for Souris and two games for Murray Harbor. Two games were played last week, with each team winning one. There's no big rush to get this series over with, as the winner draws a bye into the Island finals. And the semi-finals haven't started yet. In that round the Queen's County winner goes against the winner from Prince.

After two successive lopsided defeats we figured that the Bruins were out of it. And the attitude of the MacLean's Crossbones for the fourth game pointed in that direction also. In the first period they came out merely to go through the motions. But, the Bruins came to play hockey. In that period, the Bruins skated like fiends, and when the teams went for their between periods rest the boys from Murray Harbor had a two goal edge. The second period was a different story.

The Crossbones, led by the fast skating, and quick shooting of Jim "Ike" Cheverie, who scored three goals came roaring back, while the Bruins gradually wilted. Jim had just returned to action after a week's layoff due to an injury received in an earlier game. He had received a bad cut to his left eye, and in this latter game his eye was still half-closed, and very bloodshot. Eugene "Dugas" injured in the first game, also returned to the lineup and played a steady game on defense.

The fifth game of the series was played in Murray Harbor on Saturday night, with the Bruins winning six to four. The defeat could be a costly one for Souris. Fan MacIntyre, one of the hardest working players on the team received a jaw injury, and it could be broken. In any event, he will be out of action for the balance of the season. Over the past few years, Fan has been, to a great extent, the heart of the tram. He's not a smooth hockey player, but he works hard and is determined, and his example often inspired his team-mates.

While Souris is not deliberately losing games away from home, we do feel that they are not putting forth their best efforts. Many of the players are not fussy about playing away from home, and some of them have the attitude that "what odds, if we lose, we'll get another home game out of it, and besides we can win this round any time we want to". We are not suggesting that they deliberately lost Saturday night's game, but, some of the team didn't feel compelled to make the trip.

In all honesty, we didn't feel that this series would go past five games. The first game, played in the Harbor, was won by the Bruins, but, reports had it that Souris controlled the game, but, the puck wasn't going their way. That can happen to any team at any time. The next two games were easy victories. Their third win was easy after the first period, and only outstanding stopping by Floyd MacLean in the Bruin nets stopped it from being a runaway.

No matter how good they played, we feel quite strongly that the Harbor boys should have lost the fifth game, and the series. Who knows, they might come back and win the round now. We recall quite vividly a few years ago, in a County final, that Souris won the first game something like twelve to nothing, with the next two games away from home. The second game, regarded as a cinch, saw Souris leave a lot of players stay home. Souris lost the game. At full strength for the final game, Souris had every break in the book go against them, and the others won, when they shouldn't have.

While it's nice to have a strong team in your area, and a probable Island championship in the bag, it's still not the most sportsman like thing to do, both in regards to your opposition and to the fans. Under the present circumstances, we wouldn't object at all to the Bruins coming on strong and winning the round. It might smarten some of the players up.

Morell and Mount Stewart are both battling it out for the right to advance to the Island semi-finals. They were involved in a round-robin playoff, and it all boiled down to the last game, which was to have been played in Morell on Saturday night past. When we wrote this, we hadn't heard the outcome of the contest. However, knowing Morell teams of the past, we feel that they probably won.

TWO'S TOO MUCH

It's two knockdowns later and the fight is over for Kent Conover who gets some consolation as well as a count out by referee Church Murphy at the John Innes Recreation Centre in Toronto. Kent lost his bout in the 45-pound class. (CP Wirephoto)

Windsor Topples Halifax To Take 3-0 Series Lead

WINDSOR, N.S. (CP) — Serge Aubry recorded his second shutout in three games as Windsor Maple Leafs scored another easy victory — this time 6-0— over Halifax Schooners in the Nova Scotia Senior Hockey League finals here Tuesday night.

The Leafs now lead the best-of-seven final and could wrap it up with a victory at Dartmouth, N.S. Thursday night. Schooners are playing their home games at Dartmouth because an ice show has taken over the Halifax forum.

The Leafs have scored 18 goals in the three games, Schooners have managed only one. Windsod won 7-0 Saturday and 5-1 Tuesday.

It was the seventh straight playoff victory for Leafs, who disposed of New Glasgow Rangers in four straight games in the semi-finals.

Six players shared the scoring here Wednesday night before a crowd of less than 1,000. Jim Beckman, Jean Marc Dufour and Simon Nolet scored in the first. Cliff McKay and Jacques Allard scored in the second with Bob Brooks scoring after just 30 seconds of the third. From then on Leafs appeared mainly concerned with protecting Aubry's shutout.

The Windsor netminder made 24 saves. Jim Helki had 38 for Halifax.

First period: 1. Windsor, Beckman (McKay, Guilbault) 9:42; 2. Windsor, Dufour (Roy) 14:06; 3. Windsor, Nolet (Roy) 18-56. Penalties: Roy 6.23, Dufour 14:59.

Second period: 4. Windsor, McKay (Roy, Allard) 8;26; 5. Windsor, Allard (Cossette) 10.53. Penalties: Levesque, McLeod 7:07, Hayden 10:15, Levesque 10:53, Matheson 18.30.

Third period: 6. Windsor, Brooks (Nolet, Levesque) .30. Penalties: Cossette 6:00.

Sydney Defeats Minors

SYDNEY (CP) — Dugga McNeil fired a goal at 7.24 of a sudden-death overtime period here Tuesday night to give Sydney Millionaires a comeback 2-1 decision over Glace Bay Miners and a 5-4 victory in games in the Cape Breton Senior Hockey league's best-of-nine final round.

Glace Bay's Tom McDougall opened the scoring with 45 seconds gone in the second period after a scoreless opening session, but Bobby Mills deadlocked the score less than two minutes later for the Mils.

The clubs fought to a standoff for the rest of regulation time and battled through a 10-minute overtime period without a score.

McNeil's goal gave Sydney the league crown after a see-saw series that was the teams tied with four games apiece going into the final showdown Tuesday night. Sydney travels to Charlottetown tonight to meet an All-Star team from the Prince Edward Island senior circuit.

CURLING DRAW

S'side To Host Firemen's 'Spiel In '65

SUMMERSIDE — Herb Schurman, president of the Maritime Firemen's Association, announced yesterday that the annual Maritime firemen's curling bonspiel will be held in Summerside in 1965. Herb, who just returned from this year's bonspiel in Truro, feels that having the bonspiel here will increase the interest in curling among P.E.I. firemen.

Eight entries participated in the bonspiel in Truro: Liverpool, Lunenburg, Moncton, New Glasgow, Pictou, Summerside, and two rinks from the host club in Truro.

The Summerside rink was runner-up in the second consolation, losing out by two points from qualifying for the finals to be played in British Columbia, March 25. Truro will make the trip to B.C.

The Summerside rink consisted of Thane Baglole, skip; Herb Schurman, mate; Harry Matthews, second stone; Enright Doucette, lead, and Jack Schurman, spare.

Next year the bonspiel will be sponsored by a brewery, and all expenses will be paid for the trip to the finals.

Royals Meet Millionaires At Local Forum Tonight

Sandy's Royals with well known local hockey star Angus "Angie" Carrol at the helm will be icing their strongest lineup tonight in an effort to defeat Sydney Millionaires, who defeated Glace Bay in the Maritime Senior Hockey semi-final played in Sydney last night. The winner of this series will then advance against the winner of the Halifax and Windsor series which is currently in progress to decide the Maritime representative in the Allan Cup playoffs.

The Carrol coached squad will have such celebrated hockey names as Bill MacMillan, St. Dunstan's Varsity scoring leader and ex-Junior 'A' performer; John Kane, Island Senior League star in former years, and coach of the St. Dunstan's Varsity in the past two seasons. Don Frizzell, who performed with the Windsor Maple Leafs of the Nova Scotia Senior League earlier this season will be between the pipes.

Fiery defenceman, Vince Mulligan, will be added to the defence corps along with regulars Eustace Reeves, 'Stu' McLure, and Junior MacLeod. Just as rough a defensive unit as you would want to run into anywhere.

The Royals are really interested in pulling out this series, for the purpose of giving the local fans a chance to view the best senior clubs in the Maritime provinces and the eventual Maritime representative in the Allan Cup playoffs.

The Royals lineup as given to us just before press time by playing coach Angus Carrol shapes up as follows: Forwards, "Apps" Arsenault, Angus Carrol, Buddy MacIntyre, Bill MacMillan, John Kane, Jim MacLeod, Gord Whitlock, Dick Carrol and Stan Peardon. Defence: Eustace Reeves, 'Stu' MacLure, Junior MacLeod and Vince Mulligan.

Local hockey enthusiasts should make plans to find their way to the Forum tonight and support these boys in their bid to revive Senior Hockey here and one never knows these boys may have the nucleus of a potential Allan Cup team within their grasp.

Action commences at 8:15 sharp.

Ice 3 — D. Hill, W. Boyles, B. Beer, B. Burden, E. Baker, R. Hiltz.

Ice 4 — Dr. Moreside, H. Simpson, D. McCormack, A. MacRae vs. D. Sauders, A. Wilson, Joe Molloy, W. LePage.

Due to postponement of Patriot Ladies Competition to Thursday, Men's draw will be played tonight. Skips please get in touch with your team members.

Combines, Hawks Game Postponed

The hockey game scheduled to be played last night between Jonnie's 'Flying' Hawks and the Texaco Combines was postponed because the Summerside team was unable to make the trip due to road conditions caused by the storm.

The game will be played Thursday night with action commencing at 8.15.

Hoop Action Goes Tonight

Island Senior "C" basketball league action resumes tonight at the PWC gym when at 7.00 the Pirates take on the Capitals and at 8.30 the Welshmen are hosting the RCAF team.

EXPORTS CARS

The Soviet Union exports cars to 60 countries, with a substantial portion purchased by Scandinavian countries.

Legionaires Hosting North River Tonight

North River Juniors face elimination tonight when they travel to Summerside to tangle with the Junior Legionaires in the third game of the best-of-five Island Junior finals.

The Summerside Legionaires, coached by Grant Crady and captained on the ice by David Gaudet, have a commanding 2-0 lead in games by virtue of their 4-2 overtime win in Summerside Friday night and their 7-3 victory at the Forum Monday night.

The Norm Larter coached North River squad, which played in the Charlottetown Junior Hockey League this season, is expected to ice a determined squad for tonight's game which begins at 8.15 o'clock. They will be at full strength but for left winger Jim Cullen, who is employed in Charlottetown.

Summerside manager Joe Clark and other Legionaire officials have had their hopes set on a crack at the Maritime Junior title won by Bucko Trainor's Old Spain Penguins last year and will be all-out to wrap up the P.E.I. series in straight games.

The winner of the Island series will probably meet the Moncton Juniors for N.B. — P.E.I. honors, and the winner of that series will likely go against either Sydney Juniors or the winner of the Halifax-Dartmouth Twin-Cities Junior Hockey League.

Patriot Spiel Is Postponed

The Ladies curling scheduled to be held today in connection with the Bonspiel for The Patriot Trophy, has been postponed until Thursday. The reason for the postponment has been attributed to the travelling conditions due to the recent storm.

Minor Action At S'side

Semi-final games were played in the Bantam, Midget, and Juvenile brackets of Summerside's minor hockey at Civic Stadium last night. In the bantam division, the Canadians beat the Leafs 7-4. "Turk" Muttart scored a "hat trick" for the winners, and Buddy Cameron picked up two. Don Cameron fired a pair for the Leafs.

In the Midget division the Jets beat the Rockets 9-5. Dave Johnson and Clair Gallant each scored two for the Jets. In Juvenile play, the Comets beat the Monarchs 3-0. Marksmen were Warren Grant, Paul Gallant, and Wilbert MacKinnon. All these series are best-of-three affairs.

LIZ AND DICK IN CANADA!

...the shocking, untold story What really happened when the most celebrated lovers of this century stayed in Toronto? Here are the facts you didn't know! □ In this week's Star Weekly, Canadian writer June Callwood tells of the leering Canadians who pushed close to Liz and Dick to shout obscenities...of Toronto patricians who withheld their hospitality, at least until the bravest went first. Writing with complete candor, June Callwood tells why she believes Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton may never attain real happiness, and why, even today, they do not go unpunished.
