

Free-Traders From Prairies Opposed By Mr. Sharp

By DENNIS ORCHARD
OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberal free-traders of the West have had little good news since they carried the day last month at the party's policy convention.

Finance Minister Sharp in several speeches has turned his back squarely on their call for bilateral free trade with the U.S. and he doubts that a free-trade area of Atlantic communities has any promise in the foreseeable future.

Mr. Sharp and the Liberal government champion commodity agreements to reduce or eliminate tariffs among many metals and chemicals.

He says this will maintain the world's momentum toward free trade after the current Kennedy round of tariff negotiations. It will lay groundwork for a major assault on tariffs when Japan and the countries of the European Common Market decide to soften their protectionism.

Mr. Sharp says he still holds hope for good results from the Kennedy round, being conducted among members of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

But it is the consensus among observers that the world can hope at best for a general 25-per-cent level of reductions in tariffs.

BRITISH STEEL FIRMS DECIDE TO AMALGAMATE

LONDON (Reuters)—Three major British steel companies announced Monday they will amalgamate to form Britain's biggest steel group and one of the largest in the world.

GETS SECOND TERM

MONTREAL (CP)—B. T. Twigg of The Netherlands has been appointed to a second three-year term as secretary general of the International Civil Aviation Organization, it was announced Tuesday.

FEAR STAGNATION

Many prominent Canadian economists are concerned that big traders will retreat, after the GATT negotiations. They see the U.S. Congress, which is unwilling to authorize new initiatives. They expect Britain to be preoccupied with entry to the Common Market. And they look to Canada to pick up the pieces and do something.

RECRUITMENT ENCOURAGING

HALIFAX (CP)—Air Marshal E.M. Reyno, chief of personnel for the armed forces, said here there has been an encouraging trend in armed forces recruitment since a pay increase announced last month by Defence Minister Hellyer.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER

understandably went on to five diamonds, doubled by East.

West led a heart, taken by the king, and East returned a spade ruffed by declarer in dummy with the five, a farsighted play which eventually paid-off.

Declarer led the queen of diamonds, covered by the king and ace, West contributing the eight. A club lead to the jack brought forth the ace and another spade return by East.

South won with the ace, discarding a heart from dummy, crossed to the queen of clubs, and led the nine of trumps from dummy. East covered with the ten. When South won with the jack, West showed out—exposing the entire trump situation. By now South had the 7-4 left, while East had the 6-2.

South now played a heart to the ace, sparing the heart to the ace, which would have been an unnecessary risk. He next led the three of diamonds and finessed the four which East followed with the deuce. The seven then took care of East's six, and South was now able to win the last three tricks with dummy's clubs. The only trick South lost was a heart and a club.

It is interesting to note that the contract would have gone down one if East had had the four instead of the deuce of trumps.
