NEWS BY THE ENGLISH MAIL.
DEFEAT OF THE RUSSIANS AT KARS.
THE DETAILS.

BERZEMEN Oct. 5.—Yesterday evening there arrived here an express with letters of the 30th of September from Kars. The letters were written in the evening, and contained the intelligence that on the morning of that day, the Russians invested Kars on all sides in full force. Their batteries at Kars opened a murderous fire on the besiegers. Three times did the Russians gain a footing in the Turkish intrenchments—and three times were they driven out by the Turks at the point of the bayonet. Colonel Lake distinguished himself in the contest, not only by his courage, but by his skill. It was he who drove the enemy from the Inglis Tabia. Eight hundred Russians were slain before a redoubt defended by four hundred Turks. The firing lasted seven hours and a half, when the Russians took to flight. The Turks performed prodigies of valour, and the European officers—Colonel Lake and Captains Teasdale and Thompson—distinguished themselves. Mr. Churchill, formerly attaché of our Embassy from Persia, and now secretary to General Williams, commanded at one of the redoubts, and showed himself a thorough Englishman. A postscript of a letter of the 1st instant adds, that the loss of the Russians is estimated at about eight or nine thousand killed or wounded. About four thousand corpses lie under the walls of Kars. The Turks are busied now in burying them. The enemy lost besides this a great quantity of stores, and about three hundred prisoners were taken, amongst whom were many officers. Four guns are said to have been taken. The loss of the Turks is reckoned at about seven hundred and fifty killed and wounded.

This great battle, which had so fortunate a termination—thanks to the skill of the commander, General Williams—shows clearly enough, that the Turkish soldier, when well led, is not only brave, but able to distinguish like the soldier of any other nation. At the same time, it must convince Europe in general and the Turkish government in particular, that the latter has no good native officers, since, from the commencement of hostilities in Asia until the present moment, this is the only victory the Turks have gained, and this is owing to General Williams. When the Turks were under native commanders, they experienced nothing but defeats.

This evening I saw a letter written by a Bey of Livana (Turkish Georgia). He says that Omar Pacha having concentrated his troops in Churaksu, had marched on Urzughet, and that he had made himself master of the place without much difficulty. He received there a deputation from a Georgian nobility who made their submission to the Porte in the name of the inhabitants of the district. According to this letter Omar Pacha was marching toward Akalkziel, for the purpose of making a diversion in favour of Kars, and of ultimately coming to the assistance of that city. This last news tallies with that contained in letters received the day before yesterday, which say, that Omar Pacha has communicated with the Mayor in Kars, telling him to maintain his position for twenty days, at the expiration of which he would be at Kars with his army. He must be near there by this time; and it would be most fortunate, if he should arrive in time to cut off the retreat of General Mouravieff, and be able to invest Alexander Drouoff.

P. S. Not one of the European officers at Kars was killed or wounded.

(LETTER FROM AN ENGLISH OFFICER.)
Kars, Oct. 1.—Here I am on the Caradagh again, none the worse for my late illness. Last night the Russians attacked us in force, and (between you and me and the post) very nearly took Kars. The fight was a most bloody one, and lasted seven hours and a half, without one second's intermission. The Russians left upwards of 2000 men dead on the field; and their loss in killed, wounded, and prisoners must have exceeded 6000 men. What do you think us Kars chaps after that? I was not actively engaged, as they knew better than to attack my almost impregnable battery a second time; but I did great service with my heavy guns, and twice drove them out of a battery they had taken, and turned upon us. It was a nasty sight—the field afterwards, it was completely covered with dead bodies, mostly Russians, as our man did not lose more than five or six hundred altogether. The defence was commanded by dear old General Kuersti, and when our general thanked him in the name of Queen Victoria, for his gallant repulse of the enemy,—I thought the brave old boy would have burst his heart open—he was so proud. The Turks fought—not like lions, but like bands. I never saw such desperate recklessness of life. You can form some idea of what a desperate business it was, when I tell you that the Russians had their whole force concentrated upon General Kuersti's division, which, with the reinforcements he afterwards received, did not amount to 8,000 men. The reports have just come in, and there are more than 3,000 killed on the side of the enemy.

Dr. Sutherland, the chief sanitary commissioner in the Crimea, will leave London for the seat of war in the course of the present week.

General Sir George Brown has gone on a continental tour, accompanied by Lady Brown. The gallant general purposes to pass the winter at Nice.

It is now stated, as if upon authority, that Cardinal Wiseman has been formally appointed successor to Cardinal Mai, in the Librarianship of the Vatican.

Mr. James Wilson, editor and proprietor of the Economist, has just been made chairman of the inland revenue board. The office has a salary attached of £3500 a year.

Sir Hamilton Seymour, late Ambassador at St. Petersburg, is named as likely to succeed Lord Westmoreland as Ambassador in Vienna. The name of Earl Granville is also mentioned.

It is rumoured at Manchester that before the re-assembling of parliament, Mr. Bright, M. P., intends to meet his constituents in public, when doubtless the war question will be hotly debated.

NAVY.—There has been an unusual mortality amongst the higher class of naval officers lately, upwards of twenty admirals having died this year.

Numbers of military officers on sick leave in Ireland have received orders to proceed instantly to the Crimea. Several of the gentlemen had to leave without their luggage.
