Upright in Everything—Always Keeping Faith With the People, and, Above all, Curing them of their Ills—Why Wouldn't Success Follow?

Mrs. Le Claire, St. Johns, Quebec, Canada, says: "I was quite a sufferer from dyspepsia and liver trouble. I had pains in my side and back and could not eat meat or take a meal. There was a constant burning in the stomach, sourness, flatulence, shortness of breath and palpitation. One month's use of Munyon's Liver and Dyspepsia Cure made me feel better than ever I was. I now have no trouble of any kind, and can eat anything without any bad effects."

ADDRESSES

THE DISTINGUISHED SPECIALIST
Rev. E. O. Taylor, M.A.
OF CHICAGO.

Will deliver a course of Lectures in P. E. Island, beginning at Malpeque Aug. 29th. He is to lecture in Kensington, Summer side, Alberton, Charlottetown, Souris and Victoria. His subjects are:—

- "Alcohol and the Later Science."
- "Christian Citizenship."
- "That Boy of Yours," and
- "A Glass of Beer Analyzed."

Mr. Taylor is a scientific expert on the alcohol question. His lectures are of University Extension Grade, and therefore are not story telling talks.

His tour over the Dominion is under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., and is endorsed by pastors, physicians and educators.

Mr. Taylor ranks among the leading platform speakers of this continent.—London Free Press.

The P. E. Island public will have a rare intellectual treat in hearing this brilliant orator.

For further particulars see flyers.

NEWS NOTES.

Thirty-seven thousand Spanish troops are said to be suffering from disease in Cuba.

The Upper Swat tribes have paid a fine of 20,000 rupees for revolting against the Indian Government.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times declares that a definite treaty of alliance has actually been signed by France and Russia.

Mr. E. E. Sheppard has made his report on Canadian trade in Mexico. It appears that every canteen in Mexico offers for sale the whiskey of some Canadian firm.

The French Government is considering floating a loan of £60,000,000 in 21 per cent. bonds, partly for the redemption of the floating debt and partly for the reconstruction of the French navy.

England's Cinque ports, now nearly all high and dry, may become harbours again. The sea, which for centuries had been receding from Rye and Winchelsea, is returning, and is fast eating into the land.

The Santa Fe railroad has selected a full blooded Indian as station agent at Wilmore, Kan. He is C. H. Bookout who once worked as a section hand on the road, but learned telegraphy and educated himself in English.

The Duke of Westminster has issued an appeal to the British public for funds to be used for the relief of the distress which prevails in Athens among the refugees from Thessaly and Crete. He says there are 50,000 fugitives depending upon charity in Athens.

Great numbers of red oak trees in the vicinity of Long Beach, Miss., have been mysteriously withering in a day and apparently dying. The only guess made as to the cause is that in this stage of the sap flow the trees are unable to withstand the drought which has marked the season there.

An accomplished French Newfoundland dog named Sultan, wearer of a collar of honour awarded by the French S. P. C. A., has been poisoned at Cecebel by tramps. He had stopped a robber, caught a murderer, saved a girl from drowning in the Merne, and a man from the Seine after he had jumped off the Port Neuf.

The Joseph Ladue Gold Mining and Development Company of Yukon has been organized under the law of the state of New Jersey, with a capital stock of $5,000,000. Ladue is the founder of Dawson City. The directory of the company contains such well known names as Eli A. Gage, son of the Secretary of the Treasury, Chauncey M. Depew and ex-Postmaster General Thomas J. James. Mr. Ladue will be manager, and the sum of $1,000,000, it is said, will be spent developing his large holding.

A story illustrating the beauties of lynching comes from New Orleans. Two years ago an old Spaniard was murdered there, and the respectable parishioners seized and hanged, without trial, a couple of Italians. Thus justice was vindicated, the slow and uncertain methods of the law rebuked, the old Spaniard avenged, the good name of St. Charles parish freed from reproach, the officials saved the trouble of an investigation, the taxpayer saved the expense of a trial, and the real murderer relieved from anxiety. Incidentally Uncle Sam was called upon by the Italian government to pay a considerable indemnity, and paid it. And now comes one Antonio Richards, a negro, to confess and prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that it was he, and not the Italians, who killed the old Spaniard.

And so we plead with you managers that there may be a change in the Opera House,—that the low songs and jokes may be forbidden, never introduced with the drama that the rough and rude of the city may not be allowed full sway of the Opera House. If such a change does not take place there are those who will cease to frequent the Opera House, and do all in their power to prevent their friends from going where they will hear such trash. And also an effort will be made to build another theatre. But I am sure such will not continue. I know that there will be a change, and we shall become a decent and orderly people and true lovers of the beautiful expression of truth and nobility, and in time develop a better appreciation of art in each and every man.

50 Years of Cures.

began to make new men, just as the new pictures of men began to be made. Thousands of people fronted the camera with skins made clean from blotch and blemish, because they had purified the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is as powerful now as then. Its record proves it. Others imitate the remedy; they can't imitate the record:

50 Years of Cures.

A PLEA FOR BETTER ORDER AND APPRECIATION IN THE OPERA HOUSE.

SIR,—The songs which were sung in the Opera House on Monday evening were vulgar, lowering and even blasphemous, and yet the appreciation and applause were so great that it would seem that the people of Charlottetown had heard something grand and sublime, something which touched their inmost hearts. The applause was so spontaneous it would seem that we had witnessed the highest expression of art, the noblest and the highest thoughts; or, if not that, that which was truly laughable and excited our keen appreciation of true comedy.

But it was not so. The songs were lowering and basing. They were those which appeal to the lower instincts of man. But remember, they were demanded by the public. Now that which we applaud is that which pleases us. We love it and it shows what is in us. If we applaud vulgar things and laugh at true art—at the expression of true and noble ideas—it shows our nature is yet vulgar and we have no appreciation of art.

In one instance one of the songs was even blasphemous. The song in which the name of our God ("our Maker") was taken in vain and the highest thoughts were woven into a song which ridiculed and made light of them. And yet we all sat in our seats and some fairly screamed their applause, and no one said them nay. And yet I'll venture to say those who did so, and those who allowed and countenanced it because they thought they might lose money if they did not, all called themselves Christians.

But it is nevertheless not so bad as it might seem. Is it not because those who are the managers of the Opera House and those who have authority are anxious about money matters and have not thought wisely or seriously on the subject? We plead with you managers and you who have authority in public affairs, to exercise it for the welfare and honor of our little town and forbid such songs and jokes; and if they are tried that the rabble (all who applaud such are rabble) shall not be allowed to make such a noise of applause. And that some one may show that there are others who scorn such and do appreciate art to some extent. And we plead that in the most thrilling and touching parts, into which the actor has thrown his whole soul and mind, that he may not be interrupted by rude coarse laughs and jokes from careless foolish listeners, who if they are not such are much worse.

The true drama has been, from time immemorial, one of the noblest and the highest things in the world,—the most elevating for man. Where should we be without Shakespeare? It develops art and a love of the beautiful. It is meant to be a picture of human life. There the noblest and the highest thoughts are so pictured and brought home to our hearts that we are awakened to that which is high and noble.

In the indulgence of this low class of songs and jokes, very small part of the blame falls upon the poor actor. If he is a true actor, his mind and heart loathe his low forms of the drama. Indeed it hurts him sorely. He has devoted himself to art. He throws his whole heart into the part he is playing; his whole body quivers with the expression of every emotion of sorrow or despair, or whatever it may be. And what is it all for? For the appreciation and the elevating of the public. And if, in response, he receives a stony silence, or what is more likely a rude laugh, his heart sickens and is in response to a low and trashy song he receives a wild applause, his anger is roused and he says to himself he will give them what they demand. Indeed what else can he do? No, we must not shift the blame upon the actor.

If some of us could only tell the actor that there are a few who do appreciate him, who long to see true acting and thank him for his noble efforts against such a rough and rude audience, we should like to thank our noble "Pythias" of Monday evening.

And so we plead with you managers that there may be a change in the Opera House,—that the low songs and jokes may be forbidden, never introduced with the drama that the rough and rude of the city may not be allowed full sway of the Opera House. If such a change does not take place there are those who will cease to frequent the Opera House, and do all in their power to prevent their friends from going where they will hear such trash. And also an effort will be made to build another theatre. But I am sure such will not continue. I know that there will be a change, and we shall become a decent and orderly people and true lovers of the beautiful expression of truth and nobility, and in time develop a better appreciation of art in each and every man.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

FROM HALIFAX.—The Fastnet will be due tomorrow.

THE WEATHER.—Moderate southwesterly winds, fair and moderately warm.

MILITIA ORDERS.—The engineers will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the drill shed in uniform.

LABOR DAY.—It is to be hoped that the merchants will close their stores at 12 o'clock and give their employes a chance to see the sports.

ORDINATION.—The ordination of Rev. Donald J. McKinnon, of St. Georges, will take place in the church at that place on Saturday, 18th inst., instead of on Sunday, 19th as announced.

PUBLIC HOLIDAY.—His Worship Mayor Dawson will proclaim Labor Day (Monday next) a civic holiday. His Worship was this morning waited upon by a deputation representing the C. A. A. C. with that object in view.

KING'S COUNTY EXHIBITION.—The prize list for the King's County Exhibition, to be held at Georgetown on Sept. 29th, is at hand. It is very interesting to intending exhibitors, and the letter-press reflects credit on THE EXAMINER office.

ELECTION ECHOES.—At a late hour yesterday afternoon the Liberals filed a protest against the return of John Kickham, in the Fourth District of King's County. The time for filing protests in Prince County will expire tomorrow.

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.—Mr. Andrew Woods, watchman in the employ of the Steam Navigation Company, was attacked by paralysis a day or two ago, and at latest accounts was not expected to recover. Mr. Woods is about sixty years of age and has a wife and family.

LABOR DAY SPORTS.—There will be a good field of sports on the new athletic grounds on the afternoon of Labor Day. Every person should see those championships decided. It may be years before you will get a chance to see the fastest men in the provinces compete again. Only five minutes walk from the Post Office, and a small investment of 25 cents will admit you to the sports.

OPERA HOUSE.—The Miles Ideal Stock Company last evening played the comedy drama "All a Mistake," to a good house. The play was cleverly acted throughout, and the audience was well pleased with the work of Mr. Miles, Mr. Butler and others in the cast. This afternoon a matinee is taking place, the bill being "The Blacksmith's Daughter." The company give their farewell performance tonight when "New Mexico, or the Boy Hero" will be presented.

SPECTACULAR ENTERTAINMENT.—Don't forget the grand stereopticon representation to be given in St. Dunstan's Cathedral on Monday evening. The best of its kind ever given in Charlottetown. The Montreal Gazette says of Prof. Buell's stereopticon illustrations: "The European views could not be surpassed, and brought one back to the very localities illustrated." To be represented in St. Dunstan's Cathedral on Monday evening, Sept. 6th.

PERSONAL.

Hon. J. W. Richards is in town. Rev. J. C. McLean, of St. George's, is in the city.

Mr. J. C. McKay, of Halifax, is here on one of his regular business trips.

Mr. H. H. Acorn, manager of Prowse Bros. Souvenir store, is in the city.

Mr. A. A. Bartlett, of Charlottetown, P. E. Island, is at the Windsor.—Montreal Gazette.

Miss Maggie Mickle left this morning for Pictou, N. S., where she will be stationed as Cadet in the Salvation Army.

Mrs. O'Neil and Miss Queenie O'Neil arrived here from Chicago last night and are the guests of His Honor the Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Howland.

The Rev. E. A. Harris, M. A., Rector of Mahone, Nova Scotia, and Mrs. Harris, arrived last evening on a visit to their relatives in this city.

We learn, with great pleasure, that Mr. Fred E. Morris, has consented, in response to the requests of many friends to give a piano recital in Charlottetown during the course of next week.

The Sackville Post says that Mr. A. D. Taylor has been appointed General Manager for Prince Edward Island of the Home Life Insurance Company, and will discontinue his boot and shoe business at Amherst.

Mr. A. E. Massie, the well-known traveller, has accepted a position as Maritime representative of Ames Holden & Co., Montreal.

Rev. C. W. Corey and Mrs. Corey, returned last evening from Nova Scotia.

Professor Lea has begun the waterworks survey in Summerside.

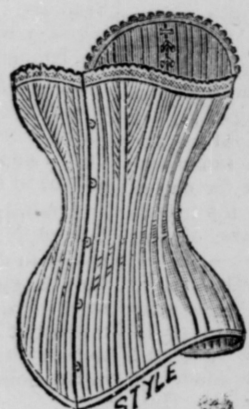

We are indebted to THE EXAMINER's old friend, the Rev. George Steel, now of Portland, N. B., for a copy of the minutes of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Conference of the Methodist Church of which he is Secretary.

Mr. Geo. D. Pope, of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, arrived here Saturday evening, and will spend his vacation with friends at Charlottetown and Summerside.—S'ide Journal.

Rev. Dr. McDonald, of Antigonish College, was visiting in the Province last week. The Dr. made Premier Fielding dance jigs when he overhauled that gentleman in the Casket last year. He is an able, logical and polished writer. He has returned to Nova Scotia.
