Eligibility Test For Old-Age And Blind Pensions Discussed

OTTAWA, July 16 — (CP) — An eligibility test for old-age and blind pensions was discussed today at a meeting of federal and provincial representatives.

The delegates, meeting privately in the Senate's railway committee room, considered conditions which needy persons in the 65-69 age group and blind persons 21 and over will have to meet to qualify for pensions.

The Federal Government has offered to share on a 50-50 basis with the provinces the cost of $40-a-month pensions to needy persons in the 65-69 group.

It also has offered to continue under more liberal terms, similar pensions to needy blind persons 21 and over. The Federal Government pays 75 per cent of the cost of pensions to the blind and the provinces pay the remainder.

It is not yet known how many provinces will accept the Federal Government's offer. The delegates will report to their respective governments before any final decision is reached.

Pensions to the 65-69 group and to the blind are separate from the Federal program under which pensions of $40 a month will be paid to all of 70 and over regardless of means, provided they have lived in Canada for at least 20 years. The scheme begins Jan. 1 next in provinces reaching agreement with the Federal Government.

The meetings, held morning, afternoon and night, will continue tomorrow.

While the delegates studied a lengthy list of regulations, one of the most important dealt with the eligibility or means test.

New Federal legislation provides that a person between 65-69 must

Meeting May Be Held In Late September

OTTAWA, July 16 — (CP) — Ottawa may be the site of a late September meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council to study how far the alliance has gone towards making Western Europe strong and how much father the 12 nations have to go.

Greater contributions from them all may arise out of current studies on what is known as the problem of "closing the gap" — bridging the difference between what is being done to arm free Europe and what more the experts feel must be done.

There seems to be a broad opinion that what is being done isn't enough to accomplish the treaty organization's main objective — to make Europe so strong Russia won't want to start a war.

The name of Ottawa as the site of a late September meeting of the pact powers' foreign and financial ministers cropped up in a news story from London today.

The External Affairs Department, commenting on the story, said Ottawa "undoubtedly is one of a number of places that have been under consideration." But the report was premature and it might be wrong. "No final decision has been made, a spokesman said, either on the date or the locale of the meeting.

September, however, looked like a good guess. Ottawa might or might not be a good guess.

It is possible that External Affairs Minister Pearson, now in Germany, has been discussing a meeting of the Pact Council in his European travels. He is due in Brussels shortly, then goes back to London and finally returns to Canada about July 25.

If the meeting is held here it would be the first Pact conference in the Canadian capital. Earlier meetings have been held in Washington, Brussels and elsewhere.

There were 17 directors present at the emergency meeting and a committee of five was appointed to engage carpenters to clean up the wreckage of the present building and to arrange for plans for the new one. Members of the committee are, Erskine Campbell, Herbert Matthews, Chester Hayes, McLean Horne and J. P. Wallace.

After considerable discussion regarding the layout and size of the new building the meeting closed.

Exhibition Bldg. To Be Replaced

At a special directors meeting of the Prince County Exhibition Association held in the remaining section of the exhibition building in Alberton last night, it was decided to construct a new building to replace the one destroyed during an electrical storm of Sunday.

Premier de Gasperi and his cabinet ministers had been debating whether to resign together or merely to strengthen the cabinet by changes in certain key posts.

Boy Begins 1,200 Mile Trip To Find Mother

MONTREAL, July 16 — (CP) — A 12-year-old boy is no barrier to a 11-year-old boy when he's lonely for his mother.

Police said today that road-weary Bobby MacDonald had slept four nights in open fields before he was picked up here while en route to Halifax from Petawawa, Ont.

Bobby told police his father, Cpl. R. F. MacDonald is in Korea with the second battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment. His parents are divorced.

The boy and his nine-year-old sister, Valerie, had been living with Cpl. and Mrs. J. E. Crookford at the Petawawa military camp.

He started his journey east last Wednesday and for four days and nights he was on the highway. He was wearing only a sweater and light summer clothes. He admitted that it was cold and wet sleeping in the fields, "but I wasn't scared."

On his arrival here he had hoped to locate the grandmother of one of his Petawawa playmates, but he couldn't remember her name or address.

An unidentified member of the Royal Canadian Airforce found the boy wandering aimlessly through the streets and took him to a restaurant for a meal. Bobby told his story and the airman called in the police.

He told police he hoped to continue his trip to Halifax, but didn't protest too much when told he would have to return to Petawawa. His guardian, Cpl. Crookford, is en route to Montreal to take the little traveller home.

Big Communist Roundup Ordered In Tehran

TEHRAN, July 16 — (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government proclaimed martial law in Tehran today and ordered the biggest Communist roundup in two years. Police said more than 200 were arrested.

The drastic action was the result of Nationalist-Communist riots Sunday in which official and unofficial reports said from four to 16 persons were killed and 276 injured.

Avrill Harriman, President Truman's personal envoy, whose arrival touched off the bloody clash, had stepped into the middle of an explosive mixture of headstrong nationalism and Red agitation seeking to grab the oil nationalization for its own purposes.

In such circumstances, observers said, it would be a miracle if Harriman induced Mossadegh to bend in the slightest toward compromise with Britain.

Harriman spent more than an hour with Mossadegh today, and contrary to his own plans, discussed the dispute over the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company at the very first meeting.

(Reuters News Agency) quoted American and Iranian sources as reporting that Harriman promised backing for Iran's bogged-down reconstruction program in return for a "satisfactory settlement" of the oil dispute.

(Reuters said it was not known how much U. S. backing Harriman was prepared to offer towards the plan that originally envisaged spending of $450,000,000 by the end of 1953.)

At Abadan, site of the world's biggest refinery, British officials feared a fresh outbreak of violence. British officials charged a member of the British staff had been beaten by Tudeh Communist

Haymakers From Cape Breton Here

THIRTY-one Cape Breton haymakers arrived in Charlottetown late yesterday afternoon by way of the Wood Islands car ferry. Nine continued on to Summerside for distribution by the National Employment Office there. The remaining twenty-two were allotted to farmers at the Charlottetown Employment Office.

Some farmers drove in from points 30 miles distant to secure the much needed help. A proportion of the haymakers were quite youthful ranging in age from 17 to 40. About half the group had some previous farm experience.

The Charlottetown office is endeavoring to obtain 50 more farm helpers from the same source and has orders on hand for approximately that number.

Three local men were also placed on farms during the day, by the local office.

It is understood that because of the great demand for pulp wood, many former farm laborers are working in the woods all over the Island. They are being paid fairly high wages, and this is aggravating the farm labor problem. Local employment officials claimed.

Hopes Treaty Will Remove Poaching

OTTAWA, July 16 — (CP) — Canada hopes that the proposed Japanese peace treaty will remove any danger of Japanese poaching in British Columbia's deep-sea fisheries.

The treaty, announced last week and due to be signed in September, contains no specific guarantees against illegal fishing operations in west coast waters, but it does require Japan to negotiate with any signatory wanting an agreement on fisheries regulation, limitation and conservation.

Officials here say that boats from Japan never have fished illegally off Canada's west coast, but they did trespass United States waters off Alaska in 1950 and British Columbia fishermen long have feared that they might invade the three-mile limit and enter B. C.'s territorial waters.

Employees Head Back To Work

HAMILTON, Ont., July 16 — (CP) — Some 30 employees of Hobbs Glass Limited returned to work today although no contract was signed between the firm and the worker's bargaining agent.

The men, members of local 219, National Union of Victrol and Ceramic Workers (C. I. O. - C. L.), voted Saturday 15 to 7 to return to work. They walked off the job and at the Pilkington Glass Company plant to back demands for a collective bargaining agreement. Pilkington workers returned to work last week.

Leopold Through As Belgian King

By ALFRED CHEVAL
BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 16 — (AP) — Leopold III abdicated as king of the Belgians today, still contending his surrender to the Germans in 1940 was only after the army had "fought valiantly to the extreme limit of its resistance."

Deeply moved, he cast aside the iron mask he had worn until the last moment, and embraced his 20-year-old son who will be formally proclaimed king Baudouin I tomorrow.

Outside the royal palace, a crowd of about 1,000 pro-Leopoldists shouted for Leopold, ignoring the new king. Socialist ministers, instrumental in Leopold's downfall, were booed as they left the palace.

The rest of Belgium hurried about its usual noon-day business at the ending of one reign and the beginning of another.

Key To High Pressure Found In Brain Chemical

CLEVELAND, O., July 16 — (AP) — Discovery of a key to high blood pressure, a chemical manufactured in your brain, was announced today by the Cleveland Clinic Foundation. A graduate of McGill University, Montreal, helped in experiments with the chemical involved.

This brain chemical is only partially identified. It goes from brain directly into the blood stream, and there helps raise pressure. It joins other chemicals made in the kidneys which also raise pressure. It may be a key discovery.

All experiments were done on dogs. But human confirmation came from patients suffering high blood pressure. They were given hydralazine-phthalazine, a drug known to counteract this brain

Hints Talks May Be Taking Smoother Course

MUNSAN, Korea, July 17 — (Tuesday) — (AP) — Cautious optimism was displayed by some Allied officers today as the Kaesong cease-fire conference progressed toward agreement on an agenda — the talking points that may end the 56-week old Korean war.

The United Nations and Communist delegations were to meet again at 11 A.M. today (9 P.M. EDT Monday).

U.N. officials declined to speculate how long it might take to agree on an agenda. They left the impression, however, that it might be only a short time.

The conservatively-worded official U.N. communique reported Monday night that "some progress was made toward the formation of a mutually agreed upon agenda" during two 55-minute sessions Monday.

Negotiators spent the day discussing only agenda items. All procedural matters have been ironed out. There were hints the talks were taking a smoother course. The atmosphere was described as more relaxed.

Associated Press correspondent Robert B. Tuckman reported that "peace in Korea appeared closer but it is still far from a certainty."

He warned, however, that "some observers believe the armistice talks still are in a delicate stage and conceivably could be upset at any time."

Members of the five-man Red delegation posed earlier, during a two-hour mid-day recess.

A number of observers at the Allied advance base felt the talks finally were "on tracks."

No one knew for sure just what items would be on the agenda when it was framed.

The U.N. delegates have ruled out anything that does not pertain to military matters in Korea. This would eliminate all political issues. It apparently ruled out the question of withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea, since this might be construed as a political question.

The Allies probably will demand discussion of neutral cease-fire reconnaissance teams to roam behind opposing lines to see what is going on.

Also there will be talk of what positions each side will hold once a cease-fire is arranged.

Allies Patrol North of Line

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 17 — (Tuesday) — (AP) — Allied troops patrolled for miles north of their lines in Korea Monday without any major fights with the Communists.

A pooled dispatch from the Allied "peace" camp at Munsan quoted unidentified officers as warning that the Reds were prepared to launch a massive attack if the cease-fire negotiations should fail.

These officers were quoted as saying the Reds could throw 12 divisions at the Allies. At the usual estimate of 8,000 to 10,000 men in a Red division, this would be from 500,000 to 750,000 men.

However, an Eighth Army briefing officer, questioned on similar anonymous reports Saturday, said enemy units at or near the front would total only about 200,000 if at full strength. Eighth Army officers also have estimated Red strength throughout North Korea and within reach in Manchuria at about 45 divisions.

The briefing officer said that contact all along the Korean front Monday was "light."

Agricultural Minister Opens Huge Irrigation Reservoir In Alberta

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., July 16 — (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner today turned irrigation waters from the $7,000,000 St. Mary River reservoir onto dry but fertile southern Alberta land.

He said he viewed inauguration of the irrigation project as "only the beginning of a development which will multiply Canadian homes in the west."

The Federal minister opened valves at the world's largest earth-fill dam to allow crop-nourishing water to flow from the reservoir behind, a man-made lake 18 miles long and six miles wide.

The water poured into a long tunnel, then into the project's main canal and out into the farming country south of Lethbridge through a maze of canals and ditches.

The St. Mary River dam and reservoir are key features of a plan-long-term scheme to tap four international rivers and provide irrigation waters for more than 500,000 fertile acres lying from the southwest of Lethbridge to a few miles beyond Medicine Hat.

Mr. Gardiner, who was made an honorary chief of the Blood Indians before the ceremony, said the project will "change the face of agriculture and industry" in the region.

"The growth of food-processing plants has been a natural accompaniment of irrigation," the minister said. "... large acreages, endowed with uniform soil and climatic conditions, are well adapted to the production of a large volume of bulky agricultural products, such as vegetables, which are expensive to transport.

"With sufficient moisture, volume can be maintained as yield does not tend to fluctuate."

But the Federal minister said the chief benefit is the general stability it gives to agriculture and the insurance against drought that it provides the livestock industry.

N. B. Universities Send Invitation To Royal Couple

SACKVILLE, N. B., July 16 — (CP) — Two New Brunswick universities, one Acadian and the other English, today joined in an invitation to Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

St. Joseph's and Mount Allison Universities asked the royal pair to visit them to "increase the growing feeling of unity between the two great cultures represented in this province."

The invitation, addressed to the Canadian Undersecretary of State, suggested the visit be arranged when the couple travels through Canada in October.

A telegram from Rev. Clement Cormier, president of St. Joseph's, and W. R. Ross Flemington, Mount Allison, said:

Key To High Pressure Found In Brain Chemical

CLEVELAND, O., July 16 — (AP) — Discovery of a key to high blood pressure, a chemical manufactured in your brain, was announced today by the Cleveland Clinic Foundation. A graduate of McGill University, Montreal, helped in experiments with the chemical involved.

This brain chemical is only partially identified. It goes from brain directly into the blood stream, and there helps raise pressure. It joins other chemicals made in the kidneys which also raise pressure. It may be a key discovery.

All experiments were done on dogs. But human confirmation came from patients suffering high blood pressure. They were given hydralazine-phthalazine, a drug known to counteract this brain
