Taste of Turnips in Milk.

There are several remedies to prevent the taste of turnips in milk, but we believe no one of them can be strictly relied upon as effectual; we will, however, give them in order:—
1. The objectionable taste comes from the crown of the turnip. If this is cut off and thrown away entire, the remainder will not affect the milk. 2. Dissolve a teaspoonful of carbonate of soda in a teacupful of warm water, and add this to six gallons of milk when first set in the pans. For a single gallon, of course one-sixth of the above would be sufficient, and for two or three gallons in due proportion. The turnips ought to be given to the cow immediately after milking. 3. Pulp or crush the turnips so fine as to make them quickly and easily digested after eating, and when fed mix with cut hay or straw. 4. Scald the milk as soon as drawn from the cows. The best way to do this is to insert the milk into a large pan or kettle about three quarters full of boiling water, and stir the milk until it reaches eighty to ninety degrees of heat, and then set it away to gradually cool off. The cream then rises thick, comes off in a lump, and is churned quickly. All the above remedies are so simple as to be easily tried, and if they do no good, cannot effect harm. Thus, it is safe to experiment with them.—American Agriculturist for May.

Legs and Feet of Horses.

The feet and legs of horses require particular attention. It is an old saying with horsemen, "Keep the feet and legs in order, and the body will take care of itself." The legs are the first to fail. The horse, when brought in from severe, protracted exertions, should be rubbed down dry. His legs, from the knees and hocks down, should be well hand rubbed so that friction will create insensible perspiration; that will tend to prevent swelled legs, stiff joints, and sprung knees. When the legs are fevered from overdriving, they should be bandaged with wet cloths to take away the heat and prevent wind-galls that prove eyecores; and which, without diminishing his capacity for labor, materially affect the market value of the horse.—Live Stock Journal.

MARRIAGE EXTRAORDINARY.—The New York Tribune expects to be asked to publish some such extraordinary marriage notice as this:—

MARRIED.
On the 24th of May, 1883, by the Rev. Richard S. Storrs, D. D., assisted by Civil Magistrates Franklin Edson and Seth Lov, Brooklyana, daughter of Longa Insula, of King's County, to Gotham Manhattan, of New York County. No cards.

It adds:—
It is scarcely too much to affirm that this marriage is to be regarded as the most brilliant and consequential of social events since the day that Sebastiano Ziani, the Doge of Venice, wedded the Adriatic. The wealth and position—especially the position—of Gotham and his Brooklyana; the complex and interesting circumstances attending their courtship, hindered as it was for years by what seemed to be a barrier that was destined never to be conveniently passed, united in stimulating the public interest in the rough running course of their true love as it has rarely been stimulated since Lender, in the absence of bridge, ferry or telephone, nightly swam the torrent that separated him from his lovely Heroine.

It says further that, in 1883, a popular song may have for its refrain:—
With weeping and with laughter
Long shall the tale be told,
How well bold Robbling built the Bridge
In the brave days of old.

A new kingdom somewhat of the operabouffie order is about to be created in Europe, King Humbert, of Italy, being anxious to dispose of a small island on the Sardinian coast, along with the regal title accompanying its ownership. A would-be purchaser is announced in the person of the Duke of Campofelice, a wealthy parenu with a taste for art, said to have been acquired in the brie-a-brac store where he began his career. Little further is known of him except that he is of Dutch origin, and with his wife and a couple of stylish daughters has recently made a social sensation in Paris. The Duchess, however, has a history of her own, being one of the widows of Singer, the numerously married American sewing machine man. She came off victorious in the lawsuit that followed his death, being declared the legal widow and entitled to the fortune. The couple can, therefore, afford to buy the kingdom, which at the figure of $150,000 must be regarded as very reasonable, as kingdoms go. Now-a-days, however, royalty is a very uncertain business, and of late enforced retirements have been a good deal more numerous than the new ventures.

In consequence of a scandalous story, involving the Mayor and Chief of Police of Stratford, Ont., the latter charging the former with being a frequenter of a house of ill-fame, with the City Clerk of that city, and with similar immoralities, a few days the Mayor was arraigned before the Magistrate, and a lengthy evidence taken with closed doors. At the close of the case the Magistrate convicted the Mayor and fined him $50 and costs, or in default to suffer a term of imprisonment. The town has been in a ferment all along and a climax was reached on Monday night when the Council discharged the City Clerk who had accompanied the Mayor to the disreputable house, and requested the Mayor to resign, amidst great excitement. The Mayor refused and the council left the chamber in a body, declaring they would appeal to law to remove him. It is stated that the Mayor will fight it out to the end and will have the Chief of Police indicted for conspiring to ruin him by putting up a job on him, and enticing him into a disreputable house under false representations, through a third party.

CURRENT NOTES.

There is snow in the hills in South Carolina.

Before mounting the scaffold, Fagan told the priest he hoped Irishmen would avoid secret societies.

A hundred members of the British House of Commons have signed the letter to the Prime Minister in favor of extending the county franchise to women who possess the necessary qualifications.

Sir Leonard Tilley leaves for England on June 16th on financial business. Sir Charles Tupper will probably go by the same steamship. Hon. Mr. Pope will act as Minister of Railways during Sir Charles' absence.

Now that there are 60 or 70 square-rigged vessels in the Miramichi, loading with deals, men are so scarce that the stevedores have seen the Workingmen's Benevolent Association scale and gone better. They are paying from $2.50 to $3 per day for inside work, though the club rate is but $2.—World.

Great discontent has been created in North Schleswig owing to military enrollment. Several hundred young men have been drafted into the Prussian military service who have always been taught that they were free-born Danes, and owed no allegiance whatever to Germany. There will be many desertions, and there is a possibility of an outbreak.

The Emperor of Germany has issued a decree ordering the 10th and 11th November to be observed as the 400th anniversary of the birth of Martin Luther. The Emperor says: "I pray that God may listen to the supplications in which I and all evangelists will unite in that celebration, that they may be productive of lasting benefit to our Evangelical church."

Advices have been received from Mozambique that Portugal has declared war against Makalolo and other chiefs on the Schiere Rivers. The Portuguese gunboat and troops have been despatched from Mozambique to the scene of hostilities. The report that Portugal has declared war against Makalolo, is incorrect. Later information shows that Makalolo has declared war against Portugal.

At a session of the Presbyterian General Assembly, on the 25th, a letter was read from the Rev. Mr. McLane, asking leave to withdraw his appeal from the order of suspension decreed against him for heresy, and stating that he would at once notify the church at Stubenville, Ohio, of which he had been pastor, of his withdrawal from the Ministry of the Presbyterian Church. Leave to withdraw was granted.

An extraordinary race occurred on the 25th, from Birmingham, Connecticut, to Milford Harbor, 1,000 people were present. The course was the Housatonic river and the road overland. Shell boats were used on the river and by cycle and pedestrian contested on land. The distance by water is 14 and by land 12 miles. The race was won by Terrence Allis in 1h. 38m.; Robert Swift sailed by the river in 1h. 53m.; and Chas. Nettleton ran the distance in 1h. 57m.

Information has been received that very heavy winds and rain storms swept through Howell County, Missouri, last Friday and Saturday, doing great damage. Part of Howell valley was flooded, and bridges and embankments swept away delaying several trains. The town of Moody was destroyed, every house being blown down and several persons were badly hurt. Information also comes from Marquis County, that a tornado swept entirely across it, making a path one hundred yards wide, levelling forests and sweeping the ground of everything in its way.

Mrs Lydia Pinkham, the originator of Lydia Pinkham's compound, died at her home in Lynn on Thursday evening from paralysis, with which she was stricken in January last. She has been invalid for the greater portion of the intervening time. She commenced the manufacture of patent medicines, about sixteen years ago, from a receipt left with her by a lady; her business grew until it aggregated more than $300,000 per year. Her newspaper advertising alone is claimed to have amounted to $180,000 per year. She possessed remarkable business tact, and was a believer in spiritualism.

It was a remarkable fact that during the great famine in Ireland, while people were dying by hundreds, there were fish all along the coast to be had for the trouble of catching them. But this immense source of food supply was absolutely neglected. This ignorance exists still, not only in Ireland, but also in England, and Baroness Burdett Coutts has recognised this, and devised a plan to check it. At the International Fisheries Exposition at London, she has established a free school where people can learn how to cook properly. The best of instructions are provided at her expense, and the cooked fish is served at an adjoining restaurant, where a good dinner can be had for ten cents, the proceeds being applied to charity.

Mr. Blake must realize more and more every day that he made a fatal mistake when he refused to sit upon the committee proposed by Sir John Macdonald to draft a bill regulating the liquor licenses. The measure, in which the Opposition refrained from having part or lot, is meeting with general approval from both the temperance community and the press of Canada. The sentiment of the Montreal Witness "that the sub-committee on the license question did its work well" is meeting with a general response, and Mr. Blake and his following, who have ostentatiously posed for years as the champions of temperance, must feel small when they find that the work in which they were invited to co-operate has been performed so efficiently without their assistance.
