

RAILWAYMEN PREPARE BRIEF

A group of railway union representatives last night completed a three-day conference held in Charlottetown to prepare their annual brief for presentations later to the Provincial Government. Five P. E. I. representatives were assisted by four union officials from Ottawa. The brief is scheduled to be presented probably late in November. Other years the brief has dealt with workmen's compensation, mother's allowance and other matters. The meetings were held at the Charlottetown Hotel. Front Row (left)—J. G. Burge, J. C. Carroll, E. P. Lynds. Back Row—P. E. Doyle, A. H.

Balach, Ottawa, A. Hutcherson, Ottawa, A. E. Murphy, H. Campbell, Ottawa, and J. G. MacLean, Ottawa. The Island delegates were all from Charlottetown. (Barter's Studio)

Two Cancer Films Shown

MONTAGUE — Two films, "You Time And Cancer", and "Canadian Crusade", were shown to a number of interested citizens Monday evening in the Presbyterian Hall, Montague. In addition, an enjoyable travelogue, "Highland Legend", was presented.

Rev. D. A. Campbell, president of the local unit of the Cancer Society, addressed the group and explained the purpose of the newly formed unit. Mr. I. G. Phillips and Rev. J. M. Fraser also spoke briefly on the work of the society, urging support of the public in the forthcoming campaign.

PISQUID EAST

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jay were in Charlottetown during Old Home Week. They were guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joannie MacDonald.

Mr. George Jay was a visitor in Lorne Valley Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Earle MacDonald and Mr. MacDonald, and Mrs. Wallace Woolridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. MacNevin, Charlottetown, were weekend guests at the home of Mrs. MacNevin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Jay.

Miss Flora Woolridge arrived from Toronto, Ontario, to spend her holidays with her parents, Mr.

Vital Topics Discussed At Monticello Field Day

MONTICELLO — An illustration station field day — the second in a series — was held yesterday on the Illustration Station operated by Mr. Hugh J. MacDonald of this King's County community. Some 125 farmers and their wives attended.

The Provincial Department of Agriculture co-operated with the Dominion Department in the program.

Speakers included Mrs. Harry Cadmore of Charlottetown who is director of Red Cross First Aid and Water Safety Services for the Province; S. C. Wright, deputy minister of agriculture; R. C. Parent, superintendent of the Experimental Farm, Charlottetown; H. W. Clay, senior livestock fieldman for Dominion Department of Agriculture; R. B. MacLaren, Charlottetown Experimental Farm staff and W. N. Black, supervisor of Illustration Stations.

Following the program, the Monticello - Selkirk unit of the Catholic Women's League served a ham and salad supper.

FARM SAFETY
Mrs. Cadmore, speaking on safety in the home and on the farm, pointed out that already this year five children, all under five years of age, have lost their lives in this Province through accidents.

She said the prevention of accidents should be the concern of everyone in the family.

A survey carried out by the red cross showed that in 1957 a total of 1,201 persons received treatment in Charlottetown hospitals for accidents. Almost 500 were injured in their own homes and more than 800 were men or boys. A group of 16 persons participated in a demonstration of artificial respiration. One of the group was Mrs. Hugh J. MacDonald who has been in charge of the Red Cross First Aid Post which was established at this Illustration Station in 1948.

LIVESTOCK
Dealing with livestock production, Mr. Clay said that the farmers with five or six milk cows, 50 to 100 hens, one sow and 10 or 15 sheep "is on the way out. His income is too small to meet present day standard of living."

He suggested the minimum hog unit "should be five sows and a boar."

CHANGING CONDITIONS
Mr. Parent, dealing with agricultural research said that conditions are changing very rapidly and that if farmers are to make a success of their occupation they must keep abreast of all recent developments.

Dealing with experiments at the Charlottetown Experimental Farm in the use of potatoes as livestock feed, he said it was found that one and three-quarter pounds of potatoes were equivalent in feed value to four pounds of turnips. Potatoes were equivalent to from 20 to 25 per cent of the feed value of an average grain mixture. At present grain prices they are worth from 35 to 40 cents per bushel as feed.

The two biggest problems in oat production in this Province are Septoria (black stem) and lodging, Mr. MacLaren said. The two are in a sense related since much of the stem breakage caused by Septoria is confused with lodging.

Among the best varieties of oats are Fundy, Garry, Simcoe, Scotian and Abegweit.

In barley, Charlottetown No. 80 continues to be the recommended variety.

CROP ACREAGE
Mr. Wright in his talk said figures indicated that in field crops acreage of wheat, oats, potatoes and hay were up, while barley, mixed grains and field roots showed declines this year, compared with 1957.

He gave these acreage figures for this year, with the 1957 figures in brackets: wheat 3,300 (2,800); oats, 97,000 (93,000); barley, 800 (1,000); mixed grains, 50,000 (52,000); potatoes, 40,400 (46,300); field roots, 5,900 (6,000); hay, 212,000 (210,000).

Mr. Black dealt with fertilization and management of permanent pastures.

on the Experimental Station and complimented Mr. MacDonald on the excellent quality of herbage produced.

For control of ragwort by chemicals, Mr. Black said the use of 2,4-D at 16 ounces acid equivalent per acre was showing the most promise. Ragwort in the Station's pasture was a considerable problem.

Our Family Camps Its Cares Away...

In Our Weekend Magazine...

says a young Western Canadian mother. The Ted Bishops of Edmonton have found that hiking and camping in the Rockies is the best way to spend their weekends. Photographer Harry Rowed shows Weekend readers why the family believes:

"There is much comfort in high hills,
And a great easing of the heart..."

COSTLY CAMP FOR CANADA

$100 million has built impressive Canadian army camp — Gagetown. 1500 visiting militiamen from regiments in Quebec and the Atlantic provinces found why ball diamonds, football fields, 10 tennis courts, 12 bowling alleys, a vast gym and an Olympic size swimming pool paid off in hard work from the trainees, in this New Brunswick camp. Read about Canada's new "chrome-and-tile jungle," in our Weekend Magazine.

Clothes Horses Have a Trading Party

A group of style conscious Quebec women had an opportunity recently to satisfy a craving to try on their friends' dresses. At a "horse trading party" fashion experts and professional models sold to each other the clothes they were tired of wearing themselves, or that were extras in their wardrobes. Though the "fashion review" was for clothes horses, a monkey cape stole the show!

SATOKO Answers An Old and Honorable Calling

Geisha girls achieve fame and fortune much the same way as a Canadian girl would if she were to become a theatrical star or join a well known ballet company. In our Weekend Magazine photostory, Robt. McKeown and Francis Haar describe what it's like to train for a life of pleasure. Learn how Satoko, a graceful 10 year old Japanese girl, will carry on family tradition by becoming a geisha.

Pickles a Plenty

You won't be "in a pickle" if you start now by using our Weekend Food Editor's favorites. Spiced crabapples, Old English Chutney and Chili sauce are but a few of the many pickle and relish recipes, available.

Boxing and Brigitte Bardot

Boxing, football, cricket, soccer, horse racing, hunting, bird watching, golfing, weightlifting and Brigitte Bardot. They are all included in Weekend Sports Editor Andy O'Brien's "blue plate special" of humorous British sports stories. In our Weekend Magazine section.

Party Parade for Quebec

North America's most popular tourist city is celebrating its 350th anniversary. The parade to mark this gala occasion had twenty floats dramatizing Quebec's industries and customs. Caricaturist Normand Hudon, with his searching eye and talented brush has good humoredly depicted a city enjoying itself.

What Will She Remember?

Now it's Princess Margaret's turn to sort out the memories from a successful goodwill tour. Will she remember the traditional shower of ticker tape on Bay street in Toronto, the surprise presentation in Fredericton, and the evening at the Stratford festival? These moments were captured in color by our Weekend photo team.
