DEATHS FROM HEAT.—Since the 10th, 145 deaths have occurred in St. Louis from the effects of the heat.

A CORRESPONDENT asks: Can the Queen of England now be properly styled "The Cyprian Queen"?

THE Moncton Times, containing the very latest evidence on the McCarthy Murder mystery, is on sale of the "Diamond Bookstore."

MR. D. MORRISON, of Grand River, informs us that, on Friday evening last, he killed a snake on his own farm, which measured seven feet four inches long. When first seen by Mr. M., there were two rabbits lying dead alongside of it.

At the north side of Queen Square, on Saturday, a horse took fright and ran away. He was attached to a heavy truck; one of the wheels came in contact with a rotten post in Queen Square fence, tearing out the post and destroying two panels. He was stopped before any further damage was done.

JOHN F. MUNCEY, Esq., and lady celebrated last week for the fiftieth time the anniversary of their wedding. They have been for some years residents of Halifax. Previously they spent some time in Charlottetown. In both places they have hosts of friends who will congratulate them heartily.—Wesleyan.

REPORTED KILLING OF A CONSTABLE.—A report comes from St. Peter's G. B., of the death there, from injuries received, of a Sheriff's constable named Ross. It is said that he went to L'Ardoise to levy on the goods of a Frenchman who was indebted to a St. Peter's merchant; that the Frenchman resisted the officer, and struck him on the head with a club, fracturing his skull. Ross was taken home, and is reported to have died two days afterwards, his death occurring on Monday last.—Herald.

A CASE of trespass was tried before Theoph. DesBrisay, Esq., on Saturday. It was between Jas. Conway and Patrick Bolger, both of Lot 30. Bolger is, it appears, the unfortunate possessor of a farm which is completely hemmed in by neighboring farms, and without a lawful right-of-way to any main road. For the last fifteen years, the plaintiff permitted him to open a road through his farm; but a dispute arose between them a few days ago, and the road was closed. Bolger re-opened the road without the plaintiff's permission—here the action. He was nominally fined fifty cents and costs.

It appears that the blame does not altogether lie with the officer in charge of our Signal Station, in regard to the bungling and negligence which has been manifest since the service was resumed. The Keeper in charge of the Block House Light is supposed to hoist the Signal as the steamers or any vessel is in sight. It appears he does not do so; but, in order to make the public feel that he, in some way attends to his duty, displays the signal when the boat is nearing the mouth of the harbor. Friday night the steamer was not signalled at the Block House until after 6 o'clock, and arrived at 7; whereas in past years, all shipping was reported at the harbor's mouth about two hours before arriving in port. We call the attention of the proper authorities to this apparent neglect of duty on the part of their subordinates.

CRICKET.

An eleven Blue-Stockings of the "Phoenix Cricket Club" went up to Summerside in the early train Friday morning, to play a friendly game with the Summerside Eleven. Although cloudy in the morning and threatening rain, the "blue ethereal" showed at times and eventually it turned out a lovely cool day—just the kind of a day cricketers like. At eleven o'clock Summerside, having won the toss, sent the "Blue-Stockings" to the wicket, and disposed of them very quickly for fifty. The "Blue-Stockings" now looked "bluer" than before. Rather "summary ejection," they thought. However, they managed to bowl out their opponents for the same number. Owing to the great unevenness of the ground, the long stop took a little time to accustom himself to its eccentricities, and the byes were piled faster than usual.

After partaking of a hearty lunch, provided by their hospitable opponents, the "Blue-Stockings" sent in Messrs. Lepage and Fitzgerald, who parted company after rolling up 20—Mr. Lepage retiring on a well-gotten 10. Mr. Longworth now joined Mr. Fitzgerald, and they added another 20, when a bailer took the stump behind Mr. Fitzgerald, and he left on a well played 16. Mr. B. Davies now appeared at the wicket and some lively batting took place.

The "field were all over the field." Mr. Longworth gave place to Mr. Weeks after making 16 by good steady batting. Weeks left early after making a pretty hit taken by the Ball from Mr. McEwen's end. Mr. Yeo took up the bat and added 10 more to the score. Mr. Yeo is a promising bat and a fine field, a good man on any team. A. McLean, another promising player, helped the score 8 more. Mr. R. Haviland unfortunately run himself out on getting 2. Mr. Newbery, from whom more was expected, did not get any, but played well on the first innings and showed his good fielding on both. Cathrae, out of luck with the bat, amply compensated himself when he took the ball, greatly enjoying the gravitation of the earth as displayed by the rapidly falling bales of his opponents. Mr. Fitzgerald also assisted him in this agreeable demonstration of natural laws. Had the batting of the Summerside Eleven been equal to their bowling (especially that of Mr. Connors,) they would have given the Blue-stockings a hard shake for it, and an unprecedented feat in the annals of Island cricket was chronicled. Eleven wickets for 14 runs, the Charlottetonians winning by 90 runs. There is plenty of good cricket in Summerside if they would practice. They are all a nice lot of fellows any way.—

Mr. Edison is, doubtless, the greatest inventor of the day, but there are other inventors beside who challenge the world's attention. Professor Hughes, of London brings the microphone question up to an interesting point in a long letter to the New York Tribune, in which he claims the instrument, both in principle and in detail, for himself. He appears to make out a very strong case; but probably we shall not have long to wait for a reply from what our delighted cousins call "the almost magic precincts of Menlo Park;" the little New Jersey town in which Mr. Edison's wonderful workshop is situated.

The Shah of Persia left twenty-five of his thirty-six caskets of gold at Paris where he spent $600,000. His expenses at the Grand Hotel were $680 a day. Extracts from his disputed bill at Fontainebleau are published. He was charged $300 for flowers, $12 for a melon, $1 for a cigar, $160 for three carriage drives, and $4 each for twenty chickens; his rooms were set down at $10 a day each, two boxes of cigarettes cost $10, $300 were charged for flowers, $2 apiece for a dozen peaches. He received during his stay at Paris 3,400 begging letters, asking amounts varying from 50 francs to 3,000,000 francs, the aggregate amount sought being nearly 50,000,000 francs.
