

Olmedo Makes Quarter-Finals; Indian Is Defeated in Four Sets

By JOHN FARRIS
WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Aley Olmedo, the hawk-faced favorite from Peru, Thursday defeated highly-rated Ramanathan Krishnan of India in the match of the week and moved into the last 16 of the men's singles of the Wimbledon tennis championships. Top-seeded Olmedo knocked out 22-year-old Krishnan 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5 in a match that had the center court crowd of 15,000 tense and excited for 90 minutes. Krishnan had beaten Olmedo last week in the semifinals of the queen's club tournament but Thursday his position play and his soft but accurate cross court lobs couldn't match the Peruvian's power.

Miss Hard defeated Mrs. Rosemary DeLor of Britain 6-0, 6-2. Miss Moore defeated Paula Courteux of France 6-4, 6-4. In the second round, Mimi Arnold of Redwood City, Calif., rallied from a slow start and beat youthful Deirdre Catt of Britain 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. Karol Fageros, the statuesque Miami model, trounced Mrs. A. H. Thomas of Britain 6-2, 6-1. It was Italy's blonde Lea Pericoli whose costume attracted attention. She displayed eye-catching filmy white panties on the court as she met fifth-seeded Sandra Reynolds of South Africa. But the 19-year-old Miss Reynolds had the stronger game and won 3-6, 7-5, 6-3. Christine Truman of England, top-seeded, was the fourth seeded woman player to reach the round of 16 and all eight still are in contention. She had to beat down to beat Pat Ward of Britain 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Kane's Homer Sinks Rollaway

Barry's Lions splurged for four runs in the fourth inning to hand league-leading Rollaway Aces a 7-3 setback in a City League Softball game played last night at Victoria Park. Third baseman Jack Kane's tremendous home run with two mates aboard was the big blow of the inning and broke up a two-way deadlock between the Lions and BYC Juniors for second place. The loss was only the third of the season for the pace-setting Aces who have racked up 10 victories and hold a four-point bulge on the second place Lions. Barry's nine has won eight while losing four. Kane's big blow came after the Aces had closed in scoring two runs in the top of the fourth to narrow the Lions early lead to 3-2. The Lions scored one run as Tiger Bradley single and came in later on an error. Vince Bradley and Sammy Gregory were riddling the sacks when Kane connected to put the tilt away. FANNED SEVEN Lions' hurler Vinoo Bradley fanned seven Aces in gaining the victory. He allowed six hits while walking three. However, pitching performance. The slim righthander drove in his team's first two runs with a double in the second frame, scored after reaching first on an error the second time around and slugged a long triple in his third trip. Will Shepherd went the route for the Aces in taking his second defeat of the season. He walked two and gave up seven hits. Buck Whitlock aided the Lions' cause with two singles. Jack MacDonald was top hitter for the Aces with a triple and single, while Lester Taylor had a pair of bingles. All teams are idle tonight and Saturday but two games are slated Sunday afternoon with the Aces meeting the winless Dodgers and BIS Shamrocks tangling with the Juniors. Don MacLean handled last night's game while Ivan Connors and Moe Goodwin were on the bases. STANDING GP W L Pts. ## HUNTERS CORNER

Columnist Claims Poachers Are In For Much Trouble

Last Saturday, June 20th, was a pretty rugged day—cold with a high wind. The afternoon was quite gusty and on the verge of rain. It wasn't trout fishing weather by a long shot but two city anglers tried their luck in the North River Causeway. Using an outboard motor they moved up to a point a few yards above the mouth of Coles' Creek and anchored. This creek flows through Milton and enters the causeway, or what was once known as North River, a few hundred yards below what is known as "the railway dump". From the dump on it opens up into a sort of estuary and always was a favourite hang-out for ducks, especially in rough weather. At 5.15 p.m. the anglers observed four cranes (Great Blue Herons) flying down from the upper reaches of the causeway. When they spotted the boat they veered off over the woods on the anglers right and alighted in Coles' Creek about midway between the railway dump and the causeway. The shore of the creek is heavily wooded. A minute or so later five black ducks old birds of last year, came down and followed the course set by the cranes and alighted in the same area. It looked as if the ducks dropped into the same spot as did the cranes. In less than a minute after their landing four gunshots roared out not over 150 yards from the boat. Four cranes and five ducks came in and four cranes and one black duck left. It doesn't require much imagination to guess to what detained the four ducks.
CAME IN PAIRS
On questioning, my informant stated the shots came in pairs. They were close together like bang with about two seconds interval before the next two. I gathered from that two men with doubled barrelled shotguns were involved. I asked why they didn't investigate and was told they were afraid they'd put their outboard motor out of Commission as they were not familiar with the depth of the creek. No attempt was made to cover the fact that they didn't want to become involved in a court case. Our farmers have reached the point where definite action to slow down the current wave of game law violations is under consideration and in several instances has already been implemented. In May of this year a farmer in the East River area told me about the actions of a party of rabbit hunters. According to his story rabbits were incidental to the hunt and more attention was given geese, ducks, pheasants, and "natives" (Ruffed grouse). He stated: "It's not going to happen next year". I inquired: "Are you going to report them to the game warden?" "No," was his reply "I'll handle them in my own way". There was a slight pause before he added this rather significant remark: "They'll not have hounds as an excuse next time". This week I have had personal visits from two Prince County farmers who lived in the general Bedeque-Fernwood area. Both were un-related neither was aware of the other's visit and both made a call at my home to discuss the current wave of poaching lawlessness. As one remarked: "I wouldn't mind if a hunter shot one goose and let it go at that but they shoot all they can and keep coming back for more". He admitted an incident that occurred near the head of the Dunk River below the iron bridge the spring of 1958 browned him off completely. Close to fifteen hun-ded geese made the Dunk their headquarters that spring. At night they'd move up to where the river was narrow and the wooded shores afforded poachers the opportunity they waited for. One morning at daybreak a regular volley of shots rang out. Later that morning 17 wildgeese were observed floating down river and passing under the bridge on the Trans Canada on their way out to the Strait. All were dead with the exception of three or four that were sick they couldn't fly. (Continued on Page 11)

Charlottetown Driving Park

SPORTS FRONT

By PIUS CALLAGHAN

THE RETURNS at the pari-mutuel windows have indeed been handsome these past few race nights and those folks lucky enough to collect were able to do so in rather impressive fashion. Wednesday night the favorites were taking a bad licking and the bettors who liked the "dark" horses were rewarded in fine style. It is probably a sample of what bettors can expect the rest of the season at Charlottetown Driving Park. BETTORS are funny people and often it is indeed hard to explain why certain horses pay the returns they do. We had a few cases of that on Wednesday night. Betty French has looked mighty good in her previous trips this season yet she faced the starter the other night highly regarded by the bettors. She won the dash and paid $13.20 to her win backers. It seemed a mighty big pay for the Moncton mare but that's the way the mutual customers bet their money. To our mind the greatest surprise was the amount of money handed over to persons holding win tickets on Pixie Abbe. Here was a mare that had been second in 2.14:1 to Mr. Rock the early part of this month. That night there was a stiff wind and a cold drizzle and the experts were claiming that, had weather conditions been favourable, the mile would have been in 2.11. However, all but six persons had completely forgotten about that last Wednesday night and when Pixie romped home in front, those six persons got $45.40 for their $2 win ticket.

THEN THERE was Taurida Bay. Just a few nights ago the seven-year-old mare showed plenty of steam in the race which was won by the great speedster, Jean Clegg. Taurida was fifth in the opening dash of the C Pace and just about all the folks figured it wasn't her night. But Joe Hennessey had her going all out the second mile which she won in 2.12:1. Those who remained loyal got $40.10 for their win ticket. Of course, it's the bettor's privilege to place his money where he likes. That's what makes horse racing such an interesting sport and makes rank outsiders out of horses that often others think should be favourites. It's figuring such as this that makes these bang-up pays at the mutual windows and leaves those who passed up a big chance scratching their heads.

BALTIMORE ORIOLES continue to amaze the baseball world. Once again the men of Paul Richards are in the thick of the American league battle and are refusing to be treated as mere upstarts. When we sent this column to bed, they were a mere half game out of first place and had caused Joe Gordon's Cleveland Indians no end of grief. Usually it's the pitching that carries the Orioles to their triumphs but Wednesday they used the home run ball and the bunt to wallop the Tribe. They got to Herb Score for four home runs (Triandos, Dropp, Gardiner and Nieman) before they started their bunting game in the ninth when they tallied three times. When are the Orioles going to have their wings clipped? That clipping process is long overdue and the birds are still flying high. Everybody has found them tough opponents and undoubtedly by now the Baltimore outfit has world series ambitions. If they could go all the way, it would certainly be one of baseball's greatest upsets and baseball could stand such an occurrence.

LOS ANGELES have stayed close to the top of the National league heap and their recent displays have the Coliseum patrons really excited. By now, the one time Bums seem accustomed to everything about Los Angeles and Flatbush is a forgotten place. A former pitcher ace for the Dodgers, Roger Craig, is back from the minors and after two appearances for the Altonites he is sporting a 2-0 record. This fellow could be a big help in the Dodgers' scheme of things. If he could keep winning ball games, there's no telling what these Dodgers might do. Don Drysdale, Johnny Podres, Danny McDevitt, Sandy Koufax and Stan Williams are five pretty fair hurlers. Williams lacks experience but the young man has shown signs of greatness. The other four have been able to come through with some really big wins. If Craig can put his shoulder to the wheel, then the world series could yet come to the big Coliseum on the west. Of course for such a thing to happen, the Dodgers would need the full co-operation of the Milwaukee Braves, San Francisco Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates. And most of the time, these three outfits can be anything but co-operative.

THE JUNIOR LEGIONAIRES are going to be busy lads this weekend. Saturday afternoon they journey to Mount Stewart where they take on Hamilton Douglas' team in an exhibition affair. The Mount Stewart nine is out in front in the King's County league and have shown the opposition in that loop that they can elout the ball. This 'ellow Art Coffin is compiling quite a pitching record and it's more than likely that he will be his manager's choice to toe the slab against the Juniors. This game has all the earmarks of a real tough battle and neither outfit is regarding it as a mere exhibition tussle. Sunday at Memorial Field, the Juniors will play their first game of the season before the home fans. Coach Brian Lewis has arranged to have Trenton Steel Kings appear here at Memorial Field. Game time has been set for 1.15 so as to enable the Nova Scotians to get a boat back the same afternoon at Wood Islands. The Steel Kings are performing in the Pictou County Senior loop and they can be expected to trot out a strong team against the Legionaires. Local fans should support the Legion in their effort to keep ball going in these parts. It is the Legion's intention to bring in several mainland teams this summer. However, that will depend on the support the boys receive from the fans. Guarantees are necessary to get these mainlanders here and these guarantees must be met by contributions from the baseball public. Let's start the season on the right foot Sunday. Let's pack them in Memorial Field.

Cape Squad Is Trounced By Legion 9-4

SUMMERSIDE — The Summerside Legionaires defeated Cape Traverse softball team in a regular Prince County Softball League game at Queen Elizabeth Park last evening. Both pitchers, Harold Leard for Cape Traverse and Ed Harrison for Legion, were wild, Leard giving up six walks and Harrison seven. Leard struck out three, Harrison two. Each team collected six hits.

Umpires: Plate, Mark Delaney; bases, Hector Leard.

PRACTICE
A practice is called this evening for Memorial Field at 5.30 for the Intermediate Abbies. This is the last call as far as the intermediates are concerned. Unless a sufficient number of interested players show up this evening, the whole idea of an intermediate baseball team will be dropped.

PRACTICE
The Junior Abbies will hold a workout at Memorial Field this evening in preparation for the tentative baseball game against St. Peter's Rovers at the field Saturday afternoon. The session will be held at 5.30.
