

Eskimos Swamp Alouettes 50-27 In Grey Cup Final

By WILF GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Don Getty, a 22-year-old Canadian quarterback with the poise of a veteran, teamed with high-scoring Jackie Parker to spark Edmonton Eskimos to a 50-27 win Saturday for their third straight Grey Cup victory over Montreal Alouettes.

As Parker scored a record 19 points, Eskimos overwhelmed Alouettes once more with their bone-shattering ground attack and a defence that contained the mighty Montreal passing even more effectively than in the last two East-West finals.

A colorful crowd of 27,425, a record for a Toronto Grey Cup but 12,000 less than saw last year's game in Vancouver, watched the fledgling Getty justify the confidence of Frank (Pop) Ivy in selecting him to go all the way in the quarterback spot.

He overshadowed Sam Etcheverry, the famous rifle-armed Montreal quarterback who has made the Alouettes' aerial offense the most feared in the East.

RUSHING RECORD
Once again the Big Four champions were unable to solve the riddle of the Eskimos' deceptive split-ground attack. Getty operated so successfully that Eskimos set a record 448 yards rushing, beating their own mark of 440 set last year.

Parker, the speedster from Mississippi State who spearheaded Edmonton to its cup victories last year and in 1954, was again tremendous. He and Getty scored five minutes later but with three seconds to go before the end of the half moved in front for the second time on a converted touchdown that made it 19-14.

SURGE AHEAD
Less than two minutes after the start of the second half the Big Four champions took a 20-19. The Eskimos came back to tie the score on Parker's single and then went ahead to stay. A converted touchdown put the Eskis in the lead 27-20 and before the third quarter ended they added a field goal and a converted touchdown to make it 37-20.

They increased the margin to 44-20 at the 2:49 mark of the final quarter with a converted touchdown and then wrapped up their scoring on Parker's third touchdown in the final minute, counting it after Montreal got their last points at 12:07 to cut the Eskis' lead to 44-27.

The Eskimos never got a chance to convert their last touchdown, leaving the final score 50-27. The ball disappeared among the fans who swarmed on the field after Parker went around the end to score and the officials couldn't dig up another ball.

The scoreboard keeper added to the confusion by making the score 51-27 when Eskis made their touchdown. An official termed it a straight error in addition.

B.C. HIGHLIGHTS PARADE
An estimated 250,000 persons lined a three-mile route to watch the Saturday morning parade, described by many as the best Grey Cup parade Toronto has seen.

A three-block-long British Columbia section of float and marchers, entered as a special effort to say thanks to Torontonians who last year had a big part in the success of the cup parade in Vancouver, highlighted the procession along with the Ottawa section that poked fun at Parliament and the capital.

The game itself climaxed a week-long series of celebrations that make up Grey Cup festival, where East and West have met in informal friendliness since 1948 when Calgarians rocked conservative Toronto with a wild West party that won't soon be forgotten.

PRaise FOR IVY
At a civic reception following the game Eskimo president M. I. Lieberman congratulated his coach, Frank (Pop) Ivy and perhaps predicted something when he said he hoped the Oklahoman, who has another year to go on his present contract, would be around "for many years to come."

Leo Dandurand of Montreal Als also offered his congratulations to Ivy.

"It is not a matter of luck," said Dandurand. "Coach Ivy has built a team that is outstanding in Canadian football history."

Ivy, a soft-spoken man who seldom has much to say publicly, paid tribute to the Als and coach Peabody Walker. "We were very happy over the victory, of course," he said. "But we had to fight for every inch and every yard we made. The Alouettes are a great football team."

Coach Walker didn't attend the reception.

Shearwater Flyers Retain Purdy Cup Defeating Bombers

HALIFAX (CP)—Paced by veteran halfback Roy Hayes, who scored three touchdowns, Shearwater Flyers Saturday retained the Purdy Cup and the Nova Scotia senior football championship by defeating Greenwood RCAF Bombers 30-13.

Hayes also registered some of his team's major ground gains as the navy team took charge in a second-half runaway.

Bombers led 6-0 at half time on the strength of Denny Carroll's second-quarter touchdown.

Shearwater then came to life with Hayes scoring three consecutive touchdowns, the first on a five-yard charge through the line, the second on a 54-yard jaunt through centre and the third on a 35-yard skirt around left end.

The Bombers rallied in the fourth quarter with a touchdown by Wilf Bordon. But the Flyers came right back with a drive from their own two-yard line, culminating in a touchdown by Buck Taylor. An intercepted pass led to Shearwater's final score, with Bruce Walker crossing the line.

GIFT IN THE GRAND MANNER for Christmas

Victory Thrill For Don Getty

By BRUCE LEVETT

TORONTO (CP)—A skinny kid with blood on his gloves went almost unnoticed in the dressing room Saturday after quarterbacking Edmonton Eskimos all the way to a 50-27 Grey Cup victory over Montreal Alouettes.

"It's wonderful, terrific," said Don Getty, 22-year-old graduate of the University of Western Ontario in London. He was the first Canadian to start at quarterback in a Grey Cup game in nine years.

"The line was tremendous. Did you see that Mike Knecht? Only a year up from the juniors. He played the whole second half."

Across the room a quartet of sweaty Eskis harmonized on a ditty which went: "Farewell you Alouettes... you'll win the championship another time."

VICTORY FORMULA
Frank Pop Ivy, speaking into microphones, spelled out the victory formula: "Getty and Rolfe Miles and Jackie Parker around the ends; A little something new."

Alouettes Blame Grey Cup Defeat On Own Poor Play

TORONTO (CP)—Montreal Alouettes sat glumly in their dressing room Saturday and blamed their own poor play for their third straight Grey Cup defeat at the hands of the Edmonton Eskimos.

Coach Douglas (Peabody) Walker summed it up for his players as they trudged in off the field, stripped off their uniforms and filed silently into showers.

"We played a terrible game—that's all," said Walker. "We played one of our worst games of the year."

He said he felt Edmonton got the breaks and took advantage of every one in running up a 50-27 score.

"Our fumbles really hurt us," he said. "You can't fumble against a team like Edmonton and get away with it. But there can't be any alibis. We were outplayed and that's all there is to it."

The Montreal coach, who has a three Big Four championships to his credit but is still looking for his first Grey Cup in five years with the Alouettes, said he didn't think this year's Edmonton team was any stronger than last year's Eskimos, who beat Montreal 34-19 for the cup in Vancouver.

"They may be just about as strong but they're certainly no stronger," he said. "Our poor play helped them run up a score."

Grey Cup Parties, Parades Are Over For Another Year

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The Grey Cup festival, with its parties and parades, its victory celebrations and wakes, is over for another year and Toronto is returning quickly to normal.

Few signs remained on the surface Sunday of the wild and woolly demonstrations that preceded and followed Saturday's Canadian football final, won for a third consecutive time by Edmonton Eskimos, who whipped Montreal Alouettes 50-27 at Varsity Stadium.

With the departure early Sunday of the last of the special trains carrying the majority of Eastern and Western football fans who came for the game, the upsurge ebbed in Toronto.

On the one special train for Edmonton the celebrations carried on. The homeward-bound Montrealers continued their wake.

RETURNS TO NORMAL
But in Toronto, which since 1948 when the cup festival really took hold has had seven years' experience at Grey Cup recovery, evidence of the events of the last several days began disappearing quickly.

By dawn Sunday, the furnishings had been returned to the lobbies

Cup days taken down. A return to normal, sober life was settling over staid old Hogtown.

Saturday night, standing room was at a premium in lobbies at the Royal York Hotel, focal point for Grey Cup festivities, as thousands of persons jammed in to celebrate, drown their sorrows or just watch others doing it.

SLEEP IMPOSSIBLE
Official functions were crowded. People shouted and cheered in the streets, sang boisterously in hotel corridors. Sleep was almost impossible in most sections of the hotel until 2 a.m. as revellers with cymbals, horns and drums prowled from party to party, visiting old friends and meeting new ones.

The atmosphere, with few exceptions was one of friendliness, and police said they believe the festivities were untroubled. In 1954, the last time the classic Grey Cup final was played here, no major incidents were reported.

The Grey Cup frolic reached its peak Saturday after special trains poured hundreds of persons into the city in the pre-dawn darkness. About 7,000 Montrealers, decked in the red and white colors of the Alouettes, outnumbered Edmonton supporters, in the green and gold of hotels, the decorations of Grey of the Eskimos, about 5 to 1.

him finished 45-6 in the final.

A brisk headwind cancelled any chance of wiping out the long-standing Olympic record of 10.3 seconds. Bobby Morrow had been the latest of many to equal the mark in the semi-final, but his winning time in the final was a fifth of a second slower.

Finishing behind him were teammate Thane Baker and Hector Hogan of Australia.

CLIP HURDLES MARK
But records aptly fell in the other events. In the 400-metre hurdles Silas Southern of the U.S. clipped 7-10ths of a second off the old Olympic mark by winning his semi-final in 50.1 seconds. Teammate Glen Davis matched his time in the final while Southern, finishing second, equalled the old record.

No fewer than six finalists broke the record of 197 feet, 11½ inches in the hammer-throw set by Hungary's Josef Csermak in the 1952 Games. Csermak himself improved on it by more than a foot and finished fifth, well short of Connolly's winning heave of 207 feet, 3½ inches.

The girls' 100-metre record fell before they got out of the heats. Australia's Betty Cuthbert knocked a tenth of a second off it with an 11.4 clocking. Teammate Marlene Matthews and Heather Armitage of Britain equalled the old figure.

CANUCKS OVERMATCHED
Canada's three entries were overmatched, although Eleanor Haslam of Saskatoon stayed with the leaders until the final 25 yards before she dropped back to fourth place. Maureen Rever of Regina also faded in the stretch to finish fifth in her heat. Diane Matheson of Montreal and Moncton, N.B., was a well-beaten sixth.

Even though unfavorable winds slowed the semi-finals, Miss Matthews and Miss Armitage turned in times of 11.6.

Short of record but good for had survived two rounds of preliminary heats in the 100-metre dash Friday, found the going too tough in Saturday's semi-finals, finishing fifth in the slower of the two divisions. Later in the day, the three men who qualified ahead of
