

MR. AND MRS. JOHN DESMOND BURGE
Married In Quincy, Mass.
Will Reside In This City

A pretty summer wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Church West, Quincy, Mass., on Saturday, June 1 when Suzanne Ann, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Lord and the late Matthew Lord was united in marriage to John Desmond, son of Mrs. George Stewart and the late James A. Burge.

The double ring ceremony was performed and Nuptial Mass sung by Rev. Albert Mason. The altar and sanctuary were beautifully decorated with colored gladioli lights.

The bride looked charming in a ballerina length gown of white nylon eyelet. Her finger tip veil of white illusion was held in place by seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses and maiden hair fern.

Mrs. Wilfred Doucette, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of mauve crystalatite with matching accessories and carried an assorted pastel bouquet.

The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Gerard Burge. Mr. John S. Donahue ushered.

The mother of the bride wore rose crepe with matching accessories and with a corsage of orchid. The groom's mother wore blue lace over taffeta with pink accessories and with an orchid corsage. The organist was Mrs. John Campbell.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at Winfield for the immediate friends and relations of the bride and groom. The bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake flanked on either side with lighted candelabra and flowers.

Following the reception the bride and groom left on a honeymoon trip through the White Mountains and Quebec.

On their return a reception was held at the Queen Hotel. Dr. J. F. L. Burge was master of ceremonies with the toast to the bride being proposed by the groomsmen Gerard Burge and being responded to by the groom. Rev. Kenneth MacPherson and Rev. Preston Hammill also expressed their good wishes. The reception was followed by a sing song and dance with Al Blanchard at the piano.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Donahue, Mr. and Mrs. John Donahue and son Mark of New York; Mrs. P. C. Keating, Buffalo, Mrs. George Stewart and Gerard Burge, Misses Tena and Joan Murnaghan, Charlottetown and Mrs. Martin Hynes, Summersville.

YORK AUXILIARY

The monthly meeting of the York Evening Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Stuart Vessey on Tuesday evening June 11th. The meeting opened with the devotional period led by Mrs. Dewar Swan, the theme being "Think on These Things."

Scripture was taken from John 7: 15-17, read by Mrs. Ira Lewis, followed by prayer by Mrs. Howard Watts. A very interesting story was read by Mrs. Peter Proud, taken from the theme "Think on These Things," dealing with the work of the W.M.S. and auxiliaries are doing.

Roll call was answered by thirteen members with verse of scripture. There were two visitors present. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Supply secretary reported $3.50 more to be paid on parcel sent to Korea. It was moved and seconded that this bill be paid.

It was decided to make plans with W.S. to have a joint supper in hall in July. Collection amounted to $2.30. Literature Secretary reported 17 books had been read. Friendship secretary report 9 hospital calls and 22 home calls had been made.

The next place of meeting was undecided. Following this a very suitable address was read to Mrs. J. M. Sproule, by Mrs. Dewar Swan, and a gift presented by Mrs. Louisa Vessey, to which Mrs. Sproule thanked the members.

Meeting closed by singing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds." Lunch was served by hostess, assisted by committee.

MORE CROSSINGS

OTTAWA (CP) — Volume of highway traffic crossing the Canada-United States border in May and the first five months of the year showed moderate increases over the corresponding periods last year. The bureau of statistics said Friday that May crossings rose nearly seven per cent to 1,513,000 from 1,418,000 in 1956. This increased the five-month total by eight per cent to 5,774,000 from 5,352,000.

Paints Family Tree In Detail

EDMONTON (CP)—What began as a hobby as she worked among the Indians now is a full-time career for Miss Kathleen Potter. She paints portraits of the people she knows so well.

Miss Potter worked among Indians on Vancouver Island, at the Blood reserve in southern Alberta and at Good Fish Lake nursing station in the north.

With each painting, she recalls incidents involving the subject of her brush. She doesn't paint these people in ceremonial regalia, but in every-day dress.

"I don't think of Indians as Indians but rather as interesting individuals," says the former department of Indian affairs worker.

THOUGHTFUL SUBJECT

At Good Fish Lake, Miss Potter met Peter Shirt, the subject of one of her portraits. She recalls he was called Peter the Rock for his dependability. He was lay leader and caretaker at the mission. Evenings he spent studying English and reading the Bible.

"Sometimes when I'd ask Peter's advice, he'd walk past as if he hadn't heard," Miss Potter recalls as she shows his portrait.

"In a couple of hours, after he'd thought things over, he'd be back and we'd discuss the problem," Eagle Speaker, or Princess Wampiti, a former Miss Calgary Stampede. Miss Potter remembers her as a little girl.

"In many ways, I think it's time for a change," Miss Potter says, speaking generally of the Indian and their way of life. "The Indians need to help themselves. They can go ahead if they make up their minds. I think they've been given too much. They must develop a feeling of responsibility and be considered as individuals."

Shorter Dinner Dresses Worn

LONDON (CP) — Cocktail-length dresses outnumbered more formal gowns Monday night at the fifth annual Dominion Day dinner of the Canadian Women's Club in London.

More than 300 club members and guests attended the dinner held in the swank Savoy Hotel. It is regarded as one of London's top non-male society events. The all-male Canada Club held fourth in an adjoining banqueting room.

In a departure from previous years, more than half the guests chose short evening dresses for the function. Flowered prints and lace and brocades were most popular. Head table guests, however, conformed to tradition with full-length gowns.

Mrs. Olive Dieffenbaker, wife of Canada's new prime minister and guest of honor, wore a stylish champagne-colored chiffon gown, trimmed with a matching satin bow and bustle. A touch of contrasting color was provided by a corsage of red and white carnations.

Brief speeches were given by Miss Charlotte Whitton, former mayor of Ottawa; Lady Violet Bonham Carter, daughter of British statesman the Earl of Ashgill; and Lady Nye, wife of Sir Archibald Nye, former United Kingdom high commissioner in Canada.

New Improved Chamois Valuable Household Aid

Almost everything is undergoing for weeks. Rub gently so that the millions of tiny sanded fibres in each piece of chamois can do their work. This continuous rubbing will bring up the grain in your furniture but will not harm the finish, since chamois is entirely free of abrasive chemicals or other substances.

When washing windows or mirrors, dip the chamois into soapy water, then wring about two-thirds dry. A single wiping should clear off all the grime, unless the glass is unusually dirty.

For the second window, re-dip the chamois and wring out completely. You will have to do this only once per window, since chamois is unusually moisture-absorbent, and will soak up the excess water without leaving streaks or trails of drops.

The above procedure should also be followed in washing down the family car. It is a relatively painless way of getting both finish and windows to gleam. You'll also find that, most times, a dry rub-down with a new chamois will be sufficient unless the car has picked up a lot of road grime.

The rock-and-roll kid and the hi-fi fan have one thing in common. They both like records to be as dust-free as possible, a piece of newly-improved chamois leather is a welcome addition to the care of records. Its soft fibres will not scratch the discs, yet will wipe them free of dust that settles in, and ultimately harms, record grooves.

When it comes to costume jewelry, the chamois is also prepared to do a good job, cleaning and polishing pretty pieces with nary the chance of a scratch.

After you have applied wax or oil polish to your furniture, a gentle polishing with chamois, as you dust, will keep the wood surfaces

Can Streamline Figure After The Pregnancy

By IDA JEAN KAIN

The most important time in a woman's life for exercising is after the baby arrives. At first the new mother feels delightfully flat. However, overly stretched abdominal muscles must be strengthened and restored to tone, else the spread and the need for a larger size dress will surely follow.

While excess weight adds to the problem, a thickening through the middle can occur even in the normal weight. Here is a common complaint: "Four months ago I had a baby, and while I weigh only 102 pounds, I now have a 'puffy stomach.' How can I flatten the middle and get back my young figure?"

Exercise is the answer. For convincing proof of the rewards of exercise, here is a triumphant report from another young mother FOUND OUT DIFFERENTLY.

"Before I married I took it for granted that having children meant losing one's figure—mainly because all the girls I knew had lost their figures after childbirth. This thought worried me because I did not want to lose the nice figure I had on my wedding day."

"I read in your column that it is possible for a woman to have a better figure after childbirth than she had before the children arrived. I want to add my testimonial to that very true statement."

"When I married I weighed 130 pounds, with these measurements: Bust 37, waist 25½, hips 35. After my first child was born I weighed 122 pounds, with these measurements: Bust 36, waist 25, hips 35. And here are my measurements after my second child arrived: Bust 35, waist 24, and hips 34. I know my streamlined figure is due to the fact that I look my exercises so faithfully after my children were born."

The new mother should begin exercise as soon as her doctor permits. Many doctors now recommend simple contraction movements to begin the second week. Special exercise during this period graduates from passive movements to active exercise and finally, after six weeks, to resistive exercise.

What about the young mother who neglected to exercise immediately after the baby arrived? Is it too late? It's never too late for exercise, but on the other hand, the sooner begun the better.

Warning: No calisthenics should be taken during pregnancy unless advised by your own doctor. The general rule is "No new exercises."

Canfield-Robblee Wedding Is Solemnized In Tryon

Tryon United Baptist Church was recently the scene of a very pretty wedding when Rev. R. L. Graves performed the double-ring ceremony which united in marriage Burdina Mae Robblee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Robblee, of Tryon and Gordon Alfred Canfield, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Heber Canfield of Westmoreland. The church was gaily decorated with baskets of cedar and flowers and pretty potted plants. The guests were marked with white crepe ribbon. The wedding music was supplied by Miss Ellen Graham of Moncton, N.B. while Mr. Norman MacDonald of Crapaud, was soloist and sang "I'll walk Beside You."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length gown of white French embroidered lace over tulle and satin. The bolero featured long slim tapering sleeves with small Peter Pan collar trimmed with simulated pearls and cup sequins. Her nylon tulle finger-tip veil was held in place by a taura of net. She carried a white Bible with bouquet of fuchsia roses. She wore Pearl earrings.

Mrs. Norma Robblee of Tryon, was her sister-in-law matron of honor wearing aqua blue taffeta with net overskirt trimmed with bows. She wore matching stole and mitts. Her headdress was a matching band of flowers. She carried a nosegay of yellow carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Robblee, cousin of the bride, and Miss Sylvia Poulter, cousin of the groom and wore dresses of taffeta and net with net stoles and matching mitts and bands of flowers. They wore Orchid and yellow dresses respectively and carried nosegays of white and pink carnations.

The flower girls Eleanor Boulter, cousin of the groom and Kathy MacWilliams wore short nylon dresses of blue and yellow. They wore bands of pink and yellow flowers and carried nosegays of yellow and rust carnations.

The best man was Erwin MacDonald, cousin of the groom, while Wesley Robblee, brother of the bride and Robert Sherren ushered. The bridal reception was held in the Tryon Baptist Hall where Buffet lunch was served to 80 guests, the bride's table was set with China cups and silver and decorated with cut flowers and lighted candles.

Miss Imogene Howatt was in charge of the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother chose a teal blue serge suit with pink accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother wore a black and white flecked taffeta dress with pink accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

GLEN VALLEY W.I.

The Glen Valley W.I. met at the home of Mrs. John Nicholson on May 11. Meeting opened with Ode followed by the Creed in unison. Eight members answered the roll call. There were two visitors present.

Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Committees gave their reports and new ones appointed. Sick Mrs. Norman MacDonald, Mrs. Sterling MacLean; Programme, Mrs. Cyrus Martin, Mrs. Norman MacDonald.

Mrs. Sterling MacLean and Mrs. John Nicholson were appointed as delegates to attend the provincial convention. It was moved and seconded to buy a treat for the children for school closing. Miss Audrey Cameron invited the members to her home for next meeting. Roll call, program by each member. Lunch was served by hostess and a social hour enjoyed by all.
