

MODEL MOPPETS

Fashion models are getting younger every year, it appears. Heather Burhoe and Keith Kickham were two of the 21 pre-schoolers who participated in a Women's Institute project at Mt. Herbert last week. Children were scored on personality, general appearance, and suitability of outfit worn. Judges Mrs. Julian Herring, Mrs. Donald Stewart and Mrs. Earle Ings selected as winners in the various age groups.

The New Mown Grass Gives A Sweet Fragrance

The sweet aroma of cured grass, the breeze carries in, on the breath of air which now stirs gently the curtain in a forest of the summer's having ahead. The children mowed the lawns and yards today, pleased to share in proving the worth of the new machine recently come to the farm. While it is not ultra-modern, it has a stronger "cycle" than our former mowers had.

"The old one got to be a trial, didn't it?" one of the youngsters remembered.

"But it wasn't when it was like this, all bright and new," we said.

Each one, from Peter on up to his sister, had a turn at proving it, including Alex, who insisted he could operate it comfortably, though of course only briefly with one arm in a sling. He has not returned to school since his fall. It is planned however that he may attend with Peter who is to find his way thither for a few days, "just to get the feel of it" in the dying term so to be better acquainted with its ways when past the holidays, he will be among the beginners there. There will be a decided sigh in the wind that morning! And in his absence more than Scamp will at times scan the hill-top and beyond, to catch a sign of his homing.

Today the robin we see sitting lovingly and expectantly on the nest high up in the crotch of the gateway, smiled down at the mowers, we are sure, the sound of their chatter and laughter helping to break up the monotony of her hours. The light breeze stirred the leaves about her - leaves not so long ago no bigger than a squirrel's ear.

"We must watch for the arrival of the baby robins," Alex said this morning. "They should soon be here, if there are to be two hatches there this year."

"How will we know?" Peter questioned.

"We'll know!" Alex smiled.

"Aren't we doing this well?" Peter called once across the yard to his grandfather, when the machine rested a moment.

"Believe you missed a swatch back there," James nodded. "Better go back over that. Remember always that 'if a thing's worth doing, it's worth doing well!'"

So nice the day was, and so choice a June this is for mowings. Never before was there such a profusion of blossoms on the wildings of trees. James gathered up sweet bites of the mown grass to carry to the sows, that because of family affairs are still confined to the piggeries. Doors and windows however remain open when the weather is favorable. And it is interesting to come there on quiet steps to catch, in a picture of much content, both piglets and mothers relaxed in sleep.

"Is there kindling in for the morning, Ellen?" James queries a bit sleepily at the moment.

"There is kindling in for the morning," we reply, somewhat absently.

"That's good" he says. "Then, how about bed?" he queries.

Until tomorrow . . . . . Diary . . . . . Good-night . . . . .

Dishes Put To The Text By Famous Food Author

In almost every country, chicken is rated a delicacy, a gourmet food. In the United States, it has reached a paradox. It is at a high peak of popularity while at the same time it maintains a low price.

Henriette Holthausen, Holland's distinguished cookery expert and food writer, became impressed on her world travels with the international popularity of chicken. As she visited country after country, she investigated food customs and tasted hundreds of chicken dishes and other exotic foods.

On her return, the recipes were put to the test in her own kitchen in Rotterdam, Holland. From them, she has produced a new book, "Chicken Cookery Around the World", which includes not only chicken dishes but an assortment of other delightful foods, together with Henriette's whimsical remarks, and helpful cooking suggestions.

Next Sunday is Father's Day, and, as chicken is the national entrée today we are compiling for Sunday's dinner two unusual recipes from Mrs. Holthausen's new book. Tomorrow we follow with more of her exotic dishes from Mexico and North Africa.

Measurements level; recipes for 4.

WITH A NEW TASTE

"A Cumingly - Flavoured Salad" Around the World" by Henriette Holthausen)

- 1 large firm cucumber
- 2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 c. wine vinegar
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 crushed peeled section garlic
- 1 tsp. paprika
- 1/4 tsp. fresh-ground pepper
- 1 1/2 tsp. cumin seeds, crushed
- 2 tsp. minced parsley
- Peel big, firm cucumber and slice it thin or shred it. Put it in glass bowl; sprinkle with salt. Allow it to stand 1 hr. Then strain and squeeze cucumber to remove salt and liquid. Put drained cucumber back in bowl. Stir in wine vinegar mixed with sugar, garlic, paprika and fresh-ground pepper. Top with crushed cumin seeds and minced parsley.

PAPRIKA CHICKEN HUNGARIAN WITH NOODLES

- 1/2 c. lard
- 1 lb. onions, peeled and sliced

- 3 large tomatoes, peeled and cut in small chunks

BeDeque United UCW Meet

BEDEQUE UNITED UCW MEET The UCW of BeDeque United Church held their June meeting in the Church hall, with Mrs. Edison Wright presiding. The meeting opened by singing the hymn "This Is My Father's World" followed by prayer and a scripture reading from the 14th chapter of Acts by Mildred Callbeck. A reading, "The March 3 Days" was given by Mrs. Flossie Lowther, and a letter was read from Dr. Florence Murray, missionary in Seoul, Korea, telling of her work in the mission fields. The study, on Brazil, was conducted by Mildred Callbeck. The meeting closed with a hymn and the Lord's Prayer.

- 1-16th tsp. cayenne pepper
- 2 broiler-fryer chickens, sectioned
- 2 tsp. corn flour (cornstarch)
- 1/2 c. sour cream
- 3/4 lb. noodles (narrow) cooked

Let lard get hot at full heat, add sliced onions and fry golden brown. Reduce heat to simmering-point and add paprika, garlic, tomato puree, and salt. Let simmer, but do not cover pan. When liquid has partly evaporated, add peeled, cut-up tomatoes, cayenne pepper and sectioned chickens. Cover pan, reduce heat, and simmer 30 to 40 min. or until chicken is very tender.

Mix corn flour (cornstarch) with sour cream. When chicken is tender, remove from pan. Now, stirring all the time, add sour cream-cornstarch mixture to sauce in pan. Return chicken to pan. Turn pieces over in thickened creamy sauce to coat well, and re-heat. Serve with noodles.

Clinton WI Make Plans For Camp

It was decided to send $10.00 to the Red Cross Water Safety Program, and Mrs. Robert Heaney was appointed chairman of the Kensington Day Camp to be held at Clinton with classes from July 18 to 29. These plans were made at the June meeting of the Clinton Women's Institute held on Tuesday-evening at the school house.

The president, Mrs. Thomas Sullivan opened the meeting with the thought for the month, "We can finish nothing in this life, but we can make a beginning and bequeath a noble example."

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the treasurer, Mrs. Keith Woodside who also gave the financial report. Six members responded to roll call with a favorite salad recipe.

A letter was read from the teacher, Mrs. Wigmore and pupils, thanking the WI members for the donation of one copy of "Old Tales of P. E. I."

One member expressed her thanks for cards received while sick.

Mrs. Thomas Sullivan and Mrs. Robert Heaney were appointed delegates to the provincial convention to be held in Charlottetown in July.

Money collected by several members was passed in for the Salvation Army appeal.

It was decided not to hold meetings in July and August.

MR. AND MRS. ALEXANDER MCKINNEY

June Wedding At Trinity, Will Reside In Brampton

The wedding of Roberta Jean Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Smith to Alexander Hugh McKinney, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McKinney of Brampton, Ontario took place on Saturday, June 4th at 2 p.m. in Trinity United Church, Charlottetown. Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums were used in the church and the guest pews were marked with bows of white satin and ivory.

Dr. M. H. Manuel of Woodstock, N. B., Grandfather of the bride performed the double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. Clayton C. Lewis.

The bride, on the arm of her father, entered the church to the strains of the Trumpet Voluntary, by Purcell played by J. B. Herdman. At the beginning of the ceremony, O Perfect Love was sung by Susie Swinamer, and during the signing of the register, David Hall sang The Marriage Hymn from Ptolemy by Handel.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe with lace bodice on empire lines - and a lace chapel train falling from her shoulders. Her veil of tulle was held by a band of beaded pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids, Sharon Smith, sister of the bride, and Mary MacLeod were dressed in matching empire line gowns of white crepe and lace. Miss B. Butler, in the evening a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory have taken up residence on Byrne Road.

When you've just got engaged, and you want to make plans, Eastern & Chartered Trust will help.

Even if you don't have an account with us.

Making plans together is half the fun of getting engaged isn't it? That's why it's a pity so many engaged couples are still trying to do their financial planning separately.

It isn't that they want to be apart. It's just that they're still operating with separate savings accounts.

That's where we can help. If you're engaged, we can show you how to set up joint accounts to handle all your needs. Now, and for the future.

Example: We'll show you how a joint savings account with its 4% interest and free checking privileges can help you with your immediate needs. Like saving for the wedding. Or for all those things you'll need for the house. Or for your first rent payment.

Then we can show you how you can jointly plan for the future with our Accumulating Savings Certificates that pay 42% profit if held to maturity.
