Monthly Meeting Last Night Of Ch'town Branch of Legion

The regular monthly meeting of the Charlottetown branch of the Canadian Legion was held last night in the Clover Club. The president, V.J. Bowlan, presided. The names of five prospective members were read by Comrade A.J. Gallant, chairman of the membership committee. They were, F. Bryon Pickles, Roy L. Molyneux, Frank W. MacKinnon, Joseph M. Gallant and John A. Hopkinson. Their acceptance to branch membership was approved.

In connection with the report of the employment committee, given by Comrade Joe Hughes, a rumor was discussed concerning a reduction in railway mail clerks on the Charlottetown-Sackville run.

Comrade F.P. Smith, as a postal worker, was asked to enlighten the meeting and said that while the regular staff had not been told anything definite he believed that some such move was in process.

Mr. Smith said it was his understanding that his organization, the Postal Clerks Association, had written their general secretary to get the facts of the case.

He said the postal clerks association would welcome any support which would aid in presenting a change of service which would be detrimental to the Charlottetown office, and serve only to boost the Moncton office.

He believed it was "sitting members at Ottawa and local authorities to extend every endeavour on our behalf to guard against any encroachment on our rights."

The house committee chairman Comrade Vern Larter explained improvements made in the home since the last meeting. He outlined other improvements contemplated. Comrade C.M. Sinclair suggested a memorial plaque for the home in memory of fallen comrades of all wars. It was left with the executive to study and report at the next meeting.

The president urged support for the Memorial Day parade and the blood donors clinic.

Following the business meeting, Miss Sue Hollett, teacher in the day training class for retarded children, was introduced by Comrade Jack Leightner, chairman of the Board of Governors of the School for Retarded Children.

In her address she told of some of her experiences in this vital work. She told of receiving a letter from Mrs. Stewart Pierce, then president of the Parents-Retarded Children Association, asking for some guidance in finding a suitable teacher for a proposed school here.

Miss Hollett said "After a couple of days consideration I wired that I would go myself. I guess it was because I had spent five days here about two years ago and fell in love with your island, or perhaps it was due to the alluring memories that still stuck in my mind from the stories I used to hear my father tell when he ran the vessels between our island (Newfoundland) and yours."

Mr. Burt, who is attending the Canadian Labor Congress founding convention here, said the union notified the company it intended to apply for conciliation as soon as the 35-day waiting period prescribed by law was completed. He added:

"It stated that because of delays in the built-in past and the general worthlessness of Ontario's conciliation procedure, the UAW considered conciliation as a matter of form only, incapable of influencing the final settlement one way or the other."

During negotiations with General Motors of Canada late last year the union boycotted some conciliation hearings.

Present negotiations, with Mr. Burt and John D. King, Ford's industrial relations director leading the bargaining teams, opened April 10.

The contract, signed Jan. 27, 1955 after a 109-day strike, covers 10,700 workers—4,150 of the Oakville assembly plant, 6,500 at Windsor and 81 at a parts depot in Etobicoke, a Toronto suburb.

A Ford spokesman said the company has concurred in the union's request for early conciliation. Meanwhile, he said, negotiations will continue and the company is hopeful a settlement may be reached without the necessity of

LADY EDEN GETS SABLE

LONDON (AP) — Soviet leaders Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev Thursday gave Lady Eden a sable stole similar to the one they presented Sunday to the Queen. In an exchange of gifts the British government also gave Bulganin and Khrushchev a silver and gold casket containing a picture of the interior of the House of Commons.

It is not known how the woodman existed for several days through rain, sleet and sometimes sub-freezing temperatures.

Woodsman Charged With Italy Cross Murder After Grilling

BRIDGEWATER, N.S. (CP)—Woodsman Leroy James Llewellyn, 44, picked up by RCMP after a week-long search, was taken into court here Thursday and charged with murder.

The charge came after police questioned the Mill Village, N.S., man for several hours about the killing of farmer William Cross, 73, of nearby Italy Cross, beaten to death in his home April 17.

Llewellyn was found in the woods near Mill Village Wednesday. He had been the subject of an intense hunt since the battered body of Cross was found in his Italy Cross farmhouse. Mrs. Cross, 73, was also beaten but is recovering in hospital.

Llewellyn was not asked to plead Thursday. He heard the charge and was remanded to Lunenburg county jail until May 2, when a preliminary hearing will be held. INQUEST TODAY

An inquest into the death of Cross is scheduled for today but was postponed until Mrs. Cross can appear.

Police said laboratory tests may determine the weapon that killed Cross. One possibility is a blood-stained piece of firewood found at the scene.

Llewellyn appeared in police court and was told that corporal Kenneth Murray of the RCMP "has reasonable and probable grounds to believe and does believe that Leroy James Llewellyn of Mill Village . . . did unlawfully murder William Nicholas Cross."

His arrest brought an end to one of the most widespread manhunts in this district's history. Search parties covering a 130-mile area failed to find the woodman, until two RCMP constables spotted him Wednesday.

He was sitting under a tree chewing on a piece of bread when the Mounties closed in on him. He offered no resistance.

Angel Street Thrills Packed House At Q.C.H.S. Last Night

Spurred on with the knowledge of possible national distinction at the forthcoming finals in the Canadian Drama Festival at Sherbrooke, Que., and thrilled with the acclaim accorded them by hundreds of fans and well-wishers, the players in "Angel Street" put on a stellar performance in the crowded auditorium of Queen Charlotte High School last evening.

Showing every indication of having taken to heart even the minutest criticism of Pamela Sterling, the adjudicator who pronounced "Angel Street" the best performance submitted throughout the Atlantic Provinces in competition for the Calvert trophy, the cast swung into their stride like seasoned trouper with the rising curtains and maintained the same tempo throughout.

Presented by The Little Theatre Guild and directed by Rebe Scantlebury, "Angel Street" is packed with dramatic situations which enabled Miss Mary Moran as the leading lady and H. Barry Bugden, both of whom are award winners, to give full rein to their talents. The proper interpretation of their parts and the adequate support given throughout by other members of the cast, contributed in no small measure to the overall success of "Angel Street". Jean Giddings, Tom Hunter and Jennie Bomhower were particularly effective in this respect.

The completely new stage set which will be taken to Sherbrooke with the cast, is replete with furniture, drapes and other essentials, in keeping with the period dramatized in "Angel Street."

Regret was expressed by the Guild president Mrs. Ranahan, that several requests to present "Angel Street" elsewhere in the Province could not be complied with owing to special stage lighting and other effects not being available.

The show will be repeated tonight. Curtain at sharp 8:30.
