ON THE RICH SIDE.

SIR,—In speaking of education, the Patriot reports Premier Peters as saying, "Its proper maintenance means the placing of the poor man's boy on a level with the rich man's." Does he mean rich in politics? I understand there have been several students received their license who failed to make the required number of marks, and I also learn that they are all on the rich side of politics.

THE OPERA HOUSE.—The wet weather of last evening did not prevent a goodly number of people from assembling at the Opera House to witness the "Sea of Ice." The play was cleverly presented, the acting of Miss Tucker and Mr. Meldos being especially good. The scenic effects were excellent, and the costumes rich and appropriate. The specialties by Baby Vavine and Miss Vavine were several times encored, and the motion pictures were greatly appreciated. This afternoon a matinee is in progress, the bill being "If You Must Lie Tell a Good One." Miss Tucker presents the children with candy at the close of the performance. To-night "Escaped from Sing Sing" will be the bill. This is said to be the best American melo-drama ever written. Mr. Meldos will be seen at his best in this piece and he will be supported by the full strength of the company. To-night's performance closes the company's engagement in this city and they should have a full house.
